SIX FLYERS DIE AS FOUR ARMY PLANES CRASH

Bomber with Ten on Board Missing.

Six army flyers were killed, 10 are missing and one escaped by a parachute leap in a series of air accidents yesterday. The accidents included a collision between two planes, a plunge into the ocean by a bomber, and a crash of a training plane, while another bomber was reported missing since Wednesday. Details follow:

Bomber Falls Into Sea.

TACOMA.—An army bomber from McChord field fell into Puget sound and sank with its crew of three, the army air corps reported. The following were reported aboard the plane:

Lieut. Col. Perry O. Huff, 41, of Silver Spring, Md.

Capt. E. C. Alexander, 45, Seattle.

Capt. Angus C. B. MacPhee, 26, Tacoma.

The plane fell about a half mile from the mainland near Ketron Island in Puget sound, about 20 miles south of Tacoma. Witnesses said the plane fell from considerable altitude and disappeared almost immediately. The water is deep near Ketron Island.

It was the second bomber tragedy in this vicinity and the fourth in the Pacific northwest within a week.

Planes Collide Above City.

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—A collision of two airplanes 5,000 feet above a residential district in the southeast section of Phoenix killed an army air corps pilot and a flyer for the air force ferrying command. A second air corps pilot parachuted to safety.

At Luke field the dead were identified as Second Lieut. John K. Austin of Chicago and Wray B. Smith of Atlanta, Ga.

Second Lieut. Jack O. Scott of Phoenix was saved by his parachute. He was injured when his head hit a concrete sidewalk.

Austin Instructor Student.

Austin was a student in the instructors' school at Luke field. He was engaged in instrument flying with Scott as a safety observer.

Scott reported they did not see Smith's plane as it approached from beneath until just before the collision.

Austin was a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Austin, 7631 Cregier avenue. He was 21 years old and was educated at Hirsch High school and the University of Illinois. He entered the army air force last October and was commissioned on April 24. On the same day he married Miss Ruth Deswarte of Chicago. He topped his cadet training class of 400 and was assigned as a pilot instructor.

Ten Missing on Bomber.

TAMPA, FLA. — A MacDill field heavy bombing plane with 10 army men aboard was listed as missing by MacDill field officials. The plane left MacDill field Wednesday morning on a training flight and was due back Wednesday night.

The crew was identified as Second Lieut. Hugh W. Millis, 23 years old, the pilot, Houston, Tex.; Second Lieut. Charles E. Thomas III., 23, co-pilot, Macon, Ga.; Staff Sergt. Wilbert M. George, 21, Tampa; Pvt. Robert R. Pigman, 22, Berea, Ky.; Pvt. Raymond S. Lynch, 20, Lumpkin, Ga.; Pvt. Nelton L. Teal, 21, Bunkie, La.; Pvt. Elmer E. Mathauser, 23, Burwell, Neb., and Pvt. Charles R. Phillips of Waukesha, Wis.

Chicagoan Is Passenger.

Two passengers were identified as Pvt. Gordon J. Howard, 29, son of Bert Howard, 720 Dety street, Green Bay, Wis., and Sergt. Eugene L. Kasmer, 23, son of Frank Kasmer, 4411 South Troy street, Chicago.

Phillips, 19 years old, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Phillips of Waukesha. He enlisted in the air corps on Nov. 26, 1941. Phillips completed his training at Scott field 19 days ago. He became engaged last summer to Bette Chapman, Waukesha. He was a youth leader at the Baptist church there.

Hawaiian Veteran Killed.

SANTA MARIA, CAL.—Gordon M. Short, aviation cadet in the army air force from Taunton, Mass., was killed in the crash of his primary training plane. A private in the army air force in Hawaii when the Japanese attacked last December, Short was sent to Hancock College of Aeronautics here last March 7.

ROUNDUP OF WAR NEWS FROM MAIN FRONTS OF WORLD

Latest war developments:

American and South African troops were reported in London to be pouring into Diego Suarez, captured French naval base on the tip of Madagascar. Vichy said French troops still were fighting on the strategic Indian ocean island.

Eight of 12 German ships in convoy off Holland were plastered with bomb hits by the Canadian "Demon" squadron and Dutch pilots in continuation of the British air offensive, a British communique said. The Germans reported a new raid by the RAF on the Baltic port of Rostock.

Rush Aid to Ceylon.

New British reënforcements were rushed to Ceylon, off India's southeast tip, it was announced. There were reports that Japanese invasion forces were aboard ships off Rangoon ready to attack India. United States bombers raided Rangoon for the third time in four days. The Chinese said two Japanese columns driving along the Burma road into China were wiped out by counterattacking forces.

Defeat of the Japanese in the biggest naval battle of the war off Australia was announced by Gen. Douglas MacArthur. The navy department earlier said that 11 enemy ships had been sunk and six damaged by United States warships and planes in the Coral sea. American losses, it said, "are not fully known at present."

Reds Stop Nazi Drive.

Russian war dispatches said that the Red army and air force had wrecked a three way German offensive aimed at soviet Karelia from Finland. They also reported that German air forces had been driven out of forward bases in the Arctic area.

YANKS IN BRITAIN SEND MOTHER'S DAY NOTE TO U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 8.—American army forces in the British isles, thru their commander, Maj. Gen. James E. Chaney, have sent a Mothers' day message to the United States.

"Members of the United States army forces in the British isles have only one message for Mothers' day," it said. "They want their mothers and relatives at home to know they will be ready to play whatever part is alloted to them in this great joint fight we are waging to see that American mothers of the future have a free, happy world in which to bring up their children."

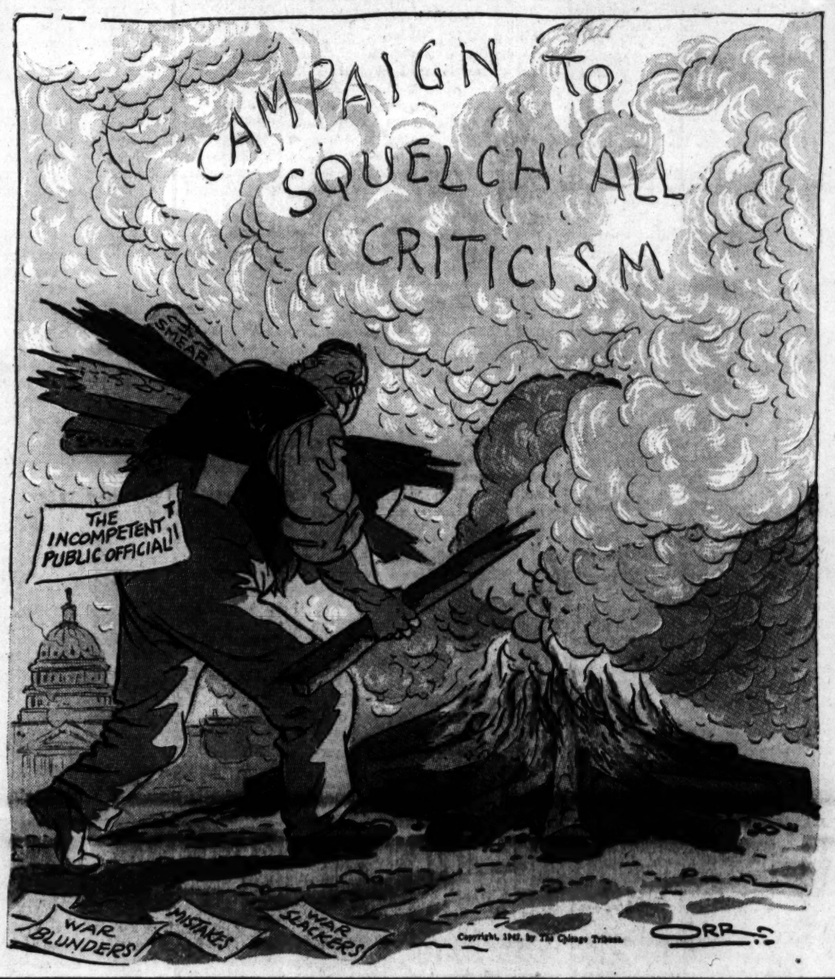
THE PUBLIC ENEMY AND HIS SMOKE SCREEN



Female Army Approved by Senate Group

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 8.—The senate military affairs committee today approved legislation creating a women's army auxiliary corps to assume behind the lines duties and release approximately 150,000 soldiers for fighting service. A similar bill which would establish a women's auxiliary corps for the navy is also pending before the senate. Both have been passed by the house.

Under the women's army bill, scheduled for senate action next week, volunteers will serve in a separate unit under supervision of the war department rather than as an integral part of the army. Women between the ages of 21 and 45 are eligible and they will receive the same pay as soldiers of comparable rank.

Excitement Promised.

Sen. Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], military affairs committee chairman, said that those who enlist in search of excitement will not be disappointed. They can expect service "right up to the front lines," he said, and will be expected to do everything except shoulder arms.

The senator said the army plans to use some of the volunteers for such tasks as servicing fighter planes on foreign battlefields. Others will be assigned to jobs as telephone operators or to do confidential clerical and filing work now being done by men physically fit to fight. The secret nature of this work precludes the employment of civilians.

Members of the corps would live in special barracks on military posts or immediately adjacent to the posts, chaperoned by officers of their sex. In addition to their salaries, they will receive subsistence and uniforms just as do members of the regular army.

Married Women Eligible.

Married women as well as single would be eligible for enlistment and would be expected to serve abroad, if so assigned. They would be eligible for hospitalization and sick benefits but not for war risk insurance. Nor would they be subject to regular court martial, it was explained, but under the terms of the legislation it would be possible for the war department to mete out dishonorable discharges for infraction of regulations.

The war department has estimated that it would cost 10 million dollars to get the program under way. This money, which includes salary expenses and the cost of construction of housing facilities, would have to come from funds already appropriated or be asked in a separate bill as the pending measure merely authorizes creation of the corps.

The bill was approved by the committee in its present form several weeks ago but was recommitted when the war department made a last minute attempt to secure passage of a substitute measure providing that the women would not serve merely in an auxiliary corps "with" the army but actually "in" the army proper. The senate committee turned thumbs down on the "in" bill.

PANDA MEI-MEI REPORTED DYING AT BROOKFIELD

Mei-mei, the panda that took Su-lin's place in the hearts of Brookfield zoo goers, is dying.

Veterinarians and zoological scientists, the best known experts in the country, have despaired of her life, it was learned last night. They gave up nearly two weeks ago. Only the care and desperate efforts of Edward H. Bean, the director, his son Robert, and Keeper Sam Parrett have kept her alive since.

Whether Mei-mei is dying of the same malady that took Su-lin even the experts can't tell. They disagreed on what killed Su-lin. Su-lin was in Chicago only a little more than a year. Mei-mei has been here more than four.

Mei-mei's death will leave Mei-lan, brought here to be the mate of the older panda, the only one of his species here, if Mei-lan actually turns out a he. Everybody thought Su-lin was a female until the postmortem proved otherwise. All the experts believe Mei-mei is a female, but only the postmortem when Mei-mei dies will prove them right or wrong.

U. S. Envoy to India Told to Recover from Strain

NEW DELHI, India, May 8 (AP).—Louis Johnson, President Roosevelt's envoy to India, has been advised to rest for two or three days to recover from strain resulting from overwork.

Mother Slain, Child Missing; Hunt Son, 16

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 8 [Special].—A 16 year old boy was being widely hunted tonight following the discovery that his mother had been shot to death in their fashionable Ocean drive home and his 3 year old sister apparently had been kidnaped.

The boy is George Clude Hengy Jr., son of an electrical superintendent at the naval air station here. The boy was said to have undergone a period of hospital treatment last summer for "serious fevers" but was believed to have recovered.

Young George had not been reported seen since his mother's slaying last night. Also missing were a 20 gauge shotgun, a .22 caliber rifle, 500 rounds of ammunition, and the family sedan.

Left alone in the family home was the slain woman's baby, 10 weeks old, who lay in her crib in a room adjoining that where the mother was killed. Apparently the infant had been without care for about 12 hours before she was found.

The slaying was discovered by the elder Hengy today after arriving by plane from Austin where he had been on business. He said he telephoned home but did not receive an answer.

Hurrying home, he questioned an elderly Mexican woman servant about the whereabouts of the family. The woman said she had arrived at the house only shortly before Hengy and that she believed Mrs. Hengy had gone shopping.

Discovers the Body.

On a divan in the living room Henry found the body of his wife. She had been shot above the right eye with a shotgun charge and in the heart with a .22 bullet.

A search of the house revealed that young George and his 3 year old sister, Zina, were missing and that the baby, Julia Ann, apparently was unharmed from her lack of care.

The Mexican woman said she had left the home about 6 o'clock last night, at which time young George was tinkering with fishing tackle. Authorities said Mrs. Hengy, who was 39, was shot about 10 p. m. last night.

"It was a coolly executed killing," said Police Capt. Earl C. Dunn. "Mrs. Hengy apparently was shot as she slept, the killer standing only about 5 feet away. She looked as tho she had been taking a nap at the time."

GREATEST AIR AND SEA BATTLE 'CEASES TEMPORARILY,' MACARTHUR DECLARES

Allies Vow to Continue Attack After Blasting 17 Enemy Ships; U. S. Losses Undisclosed.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 9 (Saturday)—(AP).—Allied naval and air forces fighting with "marked skill, courage, and tenacity" have repulsed a Japanese invasion fleet off northeastern Australia in one of history's most fateful struggles, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

With 11 or more of its warships sunk and 6 or more damaged—and presumably thousands of its finest warriors at the bottom of the Coral sea—the battered Japanese enemy was reported limping northward with United States and British imperial units in hot pursuit on the sixth day of the epic engagement.

"Our attacks will continue," the allied communique said in reporting that the battle had ceased "temporarily."

The repulse of the Japanese occurred after allied air units discovered the enemy fleet streaming southward six or more days ago, and the communique concluded with these words:

"Our naval forces then attacked in interceptions. They were handled with marked skill, fought with admirable courage and tenacity, and the enemy has been repulsed."

Too Early to Predict.

The attitude at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters was that it was too early to say whether the result of the huge naval-air engagement was conclusive, and it was not yet clear whether the Japanese could reform and reenforce their units for another southward thrust.

Because of the lack of news on the exact losses on either side and their original strength, observers were unable to assess the total battle results.

But the tone at the allied high command headquarters appeared to be that the allies had won the first grim round and at least had temporarily thwarted Japanese aims.

It also was pointed out that the general practice with the United States navy department when American ships are sunk is to make the announcement officially from Washington.

Await Complete Story.

The latest communique made no claims of additional casualties other than those already reported yesterday both here and in Washington. Presumably a complete summary of the battle losses on both sides will be forthcoming shortly.

The headquarters communique said the action represented a "continued effort of the Japanese to extend their aggressive conquests toward the south and southeast."

It was pointed out that the Japanese had been building up their forces, with emphasis on naval transport elements, for a coordinated attack of the combined forces. This attack, the communique said, was "initiated several days ago."

Here Is Communique.

The text of the communique:

"The great naval and air battle off the northeast coast of Australia has temporarily ceased. This action represents the continued effort of the Japanese to extend their aggressive conquests toward the south and southeast. First efforts were aimed at expanding his air bases, but our air force has consistently and effectively attacked his fields during

Tell How Japs Dived Off Two Fiery Carriers

ADMIRAL TO TALK ON W-G-N.

Rear Adm. Edward A. Evers, veteran of both the Spanish-American and World wars, will be interviewed on W-G-N at noon today on the strategy of a modern naval battle such as was fought in the Coral sea north of Australia.

AN ADVANCED ALLIED BASE, Australia, May 9 [Saturday]—(AP).—Desperate efforts by Japanese destroyers failed to save the two aircraft carriers blasted by United States air and naval attack off New Guinea, and the crews had to dive overboard amid smoke and flames from the ships, authorities disclosed today. One carrier was reported sunk; the other damaged.

Japanese personnel losses in the battle may run into the thousands, they asserted.

Carriers Feel Brunt of Blow.

The large Japanese naval concentration was sighted several days ago heading in a southward direction. The United States forces fought them with bombers which pressed home the attack in the face of terrific anti-aircraft fire and the defense of Japanese Zero [naval] fighters.

The carriers were the main object of the initial assault.

The two carriers were attacked by American dive bombers and one was reported ripped asunder when two planes dived directly onto the flight deck with full bomb loads.

Tell of Australia's "Escape."

The second carrier was reported to have sunk after being set afire from stem to stern by torpedo hits.

After the sinking of the two carriers it was reported that the Japanese fleet scattered.

An American naval spokesman, talking of the great sea battle, said "there was a good chance that we might have been blasted out of our beds last night, if this had not happened, but we got in there and did the job."

One Japanese aircraft carrier was seen sinking, he said, and another was hit "from stem to stern."

In Australia Papers Call It Naval Victory

SYDNEY, Australia, May 9 [Saturday]. — (AP). — Australia's morning papers wrote confidently of the outcome of the Coral sea naval battle today, the Sydney Daily Telegraph declaring that "All the news smacks strongly of a big victory."

"Even if we were to lose ship for ship and plane for plane, it would still be worth it," the Telegraph said. "We must hit first and hit often, taking big risks to gain big ends. Gen. Douglas MacArthur is just the man for this policy of hit instead of sit."

Sees Momentous Consequences.

The Sydney Morning Herald said that "For good or ill, the outcome of this great naval engagement in the southwest Pacific will have momentous consequences for Australia."

"It isn't a chance encounter between minor forces or it wouldn't have lasted so long," the Melbourne Argus said. "The total American losses haven't been stated and until they are it would be premature to claim victory."

Important to Australia.

LONDON, May 9 [Saturday]—(AP).—Flaring headlines in morning newspapers told Londoners today of allied successes in the great Coral sea naval battle and editorials emphasized that the the action might have an important effect in determining the fate of Australia.

The news that the engagement had ended temporarily with repulse of the Japanese fleet arrived too late to make the last morning editions and therefore the papers had sounded notes of caution.

But the Daily Mail editorially noted that for months the world had been asking, "Where is the American jeet?" Now it knows where at least part of it is, and in preliminary action, the Mail said, the United States ships were "brilliantly successful."

TWO MAYORS O. K. CIVIL AIR PATROL TO HALT U-BOATS

Assert Brooks' Plan Could Control Menace.

Columbia, S. C., May 8 [Special].—The mayors of two southeastern cities today added their approval to the spreading wave of indorsement being given the proposal made in congress by Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] for an armed patrol of coastal waters by light civilian planes.

The officials lamented the loss of ships that could have been saved by such a patrol and urged quick action in establishing a civilian air umbrella because of expectations that submarine activity in coastal waters will greatly increase with the coming of summer.

Sen. Brooks proposed that a corps of licensed civilian pilots be formed to maintain a day and night guard over every mile of the eastern coastline, extending 50 miles to sea. He said 1,000 pilots could do the job and recommended that each plane carry two 250-pound depth charges.

Ships Might Have Been Saved.

"Any movement which has for its purpose elimination of the submarine menace has my cordial approval," declared Mayor Fred D. Marshall of Columbia, "provided it does not hamper the work of the regular defense forces.

"Survivors of torpedoed vessels have been brought into our chief port, Charleston. Had civilian air patrols added their eyes to those of the navy and the coast guard, it is possible these vessels would have escaped destruction.

"We have skilled civilian flyers eager for a chance to send axis subs to the bottom. Why not avail ourselves of this reservoir of pilot power? The summer will see a great increase in sub activity and now is the time to blast these boats from the Atlantic seaboard."

Planes, Pilots Available.

Mayor Charles L. Bowden of Macon, Ga., a captain in the Georgia defense guard, said his city has both the pilots and the planes for its share of such a patrol.

"The pilots would make it very, very interesting for enemy raiders if they get an active civilian patrol on the Atlantic coast," he said. "I believe, moreover, that they could quickly control the situation.

"Naturally, they could accomplish much more than a guard armed with 30 calibre rifles strung along the shore. In Macon we have some 50 pilots who are members of the civilian air patrol. To equip these there are some 35 light planes, 15 of which are privately owned."

BENNETT TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR TO SUCCEED LEHMAN

New York, May 8 [Special].—Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr., today, announced formally his willingness to run for governor of New York on the Democratic ticket. This action followed yesterday's announcement by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman that he would not run for a fifth term, but would devote his entire time to war work of an undisclosed nature.

Bennett praised Gov. Lehman for "his unusual ability" and "the great service he has rendered at such sacrifice to himself during his matchless career." Tho an informal Bennett campaign has been under way for some time, the attorney general said he would not permit his name to be offered as long as there was any prospect that Lehman would run again.

Even before the attorney general's announcement the Nassau county Democratic executive committee voted to support Bennett at the state nominating convention. Other county organizations are expected to take similar action, but New Dealers are opposed to Bennett and are seeking another candidate.

Nicaragua Orders All Scrap Iron Sent to U. S.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 8.—President Anastasio Somoza announced today that all exportable scrap iron and other war commodities must be sent to the United States. There are several thousand tons of scrap iron on the east coast which can be exported if ships can be made available.

BULKELEY AID TELLS HOW HIS TORPEDO BOAT SANK BIG SHIP

Los Angeles, Cal., May 8 (AP).—Ensign Anthony B. Akers, a 27 year old Texas born hero of naval warfare in the Philippines, says he is "just spoiling to get at those Japs again." The 6 foot 2 Akers, who rescued President Manuel Quezon at Manila bay and took him to Mindanao, is a member of Lieut. John Bulkeley's torpedo boat squadron and a veteran of the epic delivery of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from Corregidor.

Akers makes his home here. Modestly he told how he sank a 10,000 ton Jap tanker in Subic bay. He said: "I guess that was my best job. We had information that several enemy ships were proceeding into Subic bay. With another boat, I took up my position off the mouth of the bay. Our reconnaissance was wrong. I learned after waiting three hours without seeing anything. I didn't want the night to be a total loss so I proceeded into the bay, with motors muffled. I saw two ships, one just being docked. Thru my glasses I made out that she was a 10,000 ton tanker. We crept to within 1,000 yards of her, fired one torpedo, waited five minutes, fired again, and saw the tanker go up in flames. Then we headed back to sea, blasting at the shore batteries as we went."

TORPEDO BOATS CAN KNOCK OUT JAPS: BULKELEY

200 Could Sweep Them from Sea, He Says.

New York, May 8 (AP).—Lieut. John D. Bulkeley, whose torpedo boat exploits in the Philippines etched some of the brightest pages in recent naval history, today opined that "with a couple of hundred torpedo boats we could sweep the Japs from the sea."

Waiting for Bulkeley at the airport was his wife, "the happiest woman in the world," and waiting at his home in Long Island City was John Duncan Bulkeley Jr., whom his father had never seen—the child was born April 3—and Joan, 19 months old.

Lieut. Bulkeley said that generally the Americans were outnumbered about 10 to 1 by the Japanese whom he described as "very brave, very courageous, and very pugnacious fighters who will fight until they are wounded or dead."

Can Handle Them at 5-1 Odds.

"But we can still lick them," he added. "Generally speaking, we can handle them at odds of five to one against us and as soon as our manpower is on a one to one basis, it will be a steamrollerup."

Lieut. Bulkeley said he had a 10 day furlough and would spend most of it with his family. He said he expected to go to Washington, D. C., soon and probably would be assigned to the torpedo boat training center at Newport, R. I.

Took MacArthur Off Corregidor.

With Lieut. Bulkeley on the trip from the Pacific coast were Lieut. Robert Kelley of New York City, and Ensign Robert E. Cox, Watertown, N. Y., fellow officers who have shared Bulkeley's adventures in Philippine waters.

Lieut. Bulkeley piloted the torpedo boat on which Gen. Douglas MacArthur left Corregidor for a rendezvous with a bomber which eventually landed the general in Australia.

Col. Britton, V Army Chief, Says Good-By for a While

LONDON, May 8.—Col. V. Britton, leader of the "V armies" in the occupied countries, said farewell for a time to his unseen forces in a broadcast tonight. "I shall not speak again until the moment comes to indicate the particular line of action that is needed," he said. Col. Britton said he could not tell when that time would be because until the moment came he would be working on plans with colleagues and advisers.

RADICALS OPPOSE CONGRESSMEN WHO FOUGHT WAR

An outline of principles and objectives was given last night before a planning conference of the Union for Democratic Action by Tom Amlie, former radical congressman from Wisconsin, now director of the organization's Washington office. The UDA, a radical New Deal organization, was committed by Amlie to support all congressmen—even Republicans—who voted for lend-lease and consistently followed the President's policies before Pearl Harbor.

"We do not question their motives for this," said Amlie. "They may have been machine politicians from the city or Democrats from the solid south, committed to those policies by the people at home. We don't care about that. All we require is that they have been solidly behind the President's policies."

Among several resolutions adopted during the sessions at the Hotel Sherman was one indorsing Raymond S. McKeough for United States senator and Stephen Adamowski for congressman at large.

U. S. May Ration Pork, Cattle Men Are Informed

Boise, Idaho, May 8 (AP).—Rationing of pork in the United States is under consideration by federal authorities, F. E. Mollin of Denver, secretary of the National Livestock association, told the Idaho Cattlemen's association today. He did not mention beef rationing, but remarked: "The demand of allied countries for our meat is increasing instead of decreasing. It's anybody's guess what the future will bring."

CHICAGO PAPERS URGE OWN PLAN OF SAVING TIRES

Seek to Get News to Public Often.

Amplify Protests

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 8.—The American Newspaper Publishers association today was amplifying its protest to the Office of Defense Transportation against an order that, in effect, would permit delivery of only one edition a day. The publishers are asking for an exemption from a tire conservation order that prohibits any person from making more than one local delivery a day to the same person at the same place. Baltimore newspapers were heard this afternoon and the New York papers are to be heard tomorrow by E. M. Brady, chief of the local delivery section of the ODT motor transportation division. There has been no indication whether the ODT director, Joseph B. Eastman, will rule on the newspaper appeal before May 15, the effective date of the delivery order.

Washington, D. C., May 8 [Special].—Four Chicago newspapers today filed with Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense transportation, a brief asking that they be permitted to put into effect their own plan to cut down on the use of trucks in delivering papers in order to conserve tires. They pledged a reduction of 25 per cent in delivery mileage.

The newspapers offered this program as an alternative to a proposed order of the Office of Defense Transportation, effective May 15, that would limit every daily newspaper in the United States to one delivery a day to each of its sales points.

The petitioners are THE TRIBUNE, the Chicago Daily Times, the Chicago Herald-American, and the Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Called Imposition on Public.

It was contended in the brief that the proposed order would be an imposition on the public, hungry for up-to-the-minute war news; would tend to lower public morale; would greatly harm the newspapers and their employés, and would not accomplish any rubber and gasoline saving over the fairer and less disturbing plan of the newspapers.

Further, the brief asserted that the Chicago newspapers at present use up in all their truck operations about 1,700 new and recapped tires a year, and that "we cannot believe the public interest would dictate a violent disturbance of the strongly rooted reading habits of more than 3 million Chicagoans . . . merely to save a part or even all of these 1,700 tires."

Quote British Viewpoint.

Archibald MacLeish, director of the Office of Facts and Figures, was quoted as saying that the newspaper is a "principal American weapon of war." And, to show the attitude that England had taken toward the press as a necessity, an article from the magazine Editor and Publisher of April 25 was included. It was date lined London and read in part as follows:

". . . The British government has done everything in its power to facilitate and encourage the regular delivery of daily newspapers to the public day and night, without interruption. At night during the blackout, or during air raid alarms, when virtually all other vehicles except official cars are off the streets or immobilized, London's newspaper trucks continue on their mission of getting news to the people.

"There are no gasoline or tire limitations on such vehicles, as they are considered part and parcel of the public services. Even during the worst of the blitz attacks on London, newspaper delivery service was maintained with only a few disruptions.

"Bad for Public Morale."

"It is a fixed policy of British officialdom that any prolonged 'blackout' of news is bad for public morale."

The newspapers also asserted that the British publications are granted priorities on tires for delivery trucks.

"This confirms all experience," it was added, "that prompt and frequent newspaper publication is essential [in war] to community mobilization and protection."

Discussing this necessity, the brief said: "News is one of the most perishable of commodities. News fresh at the beginning of an hour may be obsolete before the hour is over. The bitter news that Japanese troops were landing on Corregidor was all too shortly rendered obsolete by the communique that Corregidor had fallen.

Require Flexible Distribution.

"This perishable quality of news necessitates a flexible distribution system capable of distributing newspapers to the public at points at which members of the public are accustomed to receive such newspapers while the news is still fresh."

At another point the brief stated:

"The Chicago public cannot be expected to and will not wait 12 hours for accurate and complete visual information regarding events of national importance, and crises which may arise at any hour of the day in time of war."

A sharp distinction was drawn in the brief between the problems of newspaper distribution in large and small cities. Many smaller city papers, it was said, put out only one or two editions a day and their circulations are principally home delivered; and the order would scarcely hurt them or their readers.

Many Depend on News Stands.

In Chicago, however, and in some other metropolitan centers, news stands handle the bulk of city circulation, and these cannot exist with once a day deliveries. The newspapers held that the long established buying habits of Chicago readers justified the maintenance of the system; that from 6 to 8 or 10 editions issued by all the major local papers are necessary to satisfy the reader. Particularly is this true now, it was argued, when so many men and women are working odd hours in war production.

It was shown that nearly all the petitioning newspapers had had upturns in circulation since Dec. 7, "which shows, we believe, that the Chicago public wants to be better informed upon all aspects of wartime activity, and no one can contend that it is not essential in a wartime democracy that this desire be satisfied."

Effect on Business.

At the same time, it was shown, war conditions and lessened stocks of merchants had caused severe losses in advertising this year, with no immediate prospects of betterment, and lower circulation under the proposed government system would mean an enforced lowering of rates and more losses to the papers.

It was contended that the one delivery order would, to some extent, defeat the conservation plan—that each newspaper would naturally hold its one edition as late as possible, creating greater wear and tear on presses [which, like rubber, are irreplaceable], and the possible overloading of trucks and their speeding up to make the rounds of stands as the speeded up presses turned out their product.

Detailed Plan of Newspapers.

The detailed plans of the petitioning newspapers contemplate:

Restriction of the number of retail outlets from the present 11,000 to about 9,000.

Restrictions in or elimination of "returns."

Some curtailment of the number of editions.

New and more extensive use of public transportation facilities.

Reductions in the number of truck routes within the city limits of Chicago, made possible by reduced outlets and fewer returns.

Combination deliveries thru mutually owned delivery service.

The brief stated that the plans could be carried out only if the Eastman office could get the publishers "clearance" from the justice department to make sure there would be no anti-trust prosecution because of agreements to coöperate solely for the purpose of saving rubber and truck wear. Arrangements for the combined deliveries, it was added, would have to be made with the Newspaper Delivery Drivers union, which has contracts with all the newspapers.

At Consumer Meeting

Pupils dressed in clothing they themselves had revamped from the suits, skirts, and dresses of their fathers and mothers, displayed their creations yesterday before women gathered in the Commonwealth Edison auditorium at a consumer information service meeting sponsored by the Office of Civilian Defense. They were introduced by Miss Frances Swain, director of the Household Arts of Chicago, and showed how they had transformed father's suit into a smart jerkin-skirt combination, mother's old coat into a dirndl or a skirt into a boxy jacket.

Yesterday's meeting was the first held by the service and because price ceilings went into effect during the day, the auditorium was packed with women wishing information on price regulations. Mrs. William H. Stanley, director of the service for the Chicago metropolitan area, presided, and was assisted by Mrs. L. Robert Mellin and Miss Mary Mark. Charles Lane, field representative of the consumer's division, OPA, and Kenneth Dameron, professor of marketing at Ohio university, told the need for complete community understanding of price ceilings.

TRIBUNE TRUCKS HAUL PAPERS AT EFFICIENT RATE

Must Deliver 300 Tons Each Weekday.

Tribune trucks, on the average, deliver nearly one hundred pounds of daily newspapers for each mile that they travel.

These figures are of especial interest now in view of the preliminary announcement in Washington that the daily newspapers of the United States may be compelled, as of next Friday, to limit their deliveries to all sales points to one each day as a method of conserving rubber.

The figures concerning the efficiency of THE TRIBUNE'S distribution of its product—affecting the use of rubber, gasoline, oil, etc.—show that THE TRIBUNE delivers more than three times as many pounds of newspapers per truck mile as does the next most efficient newspaper delivery service in Chicago.

300 Tons Each Week Day.

Tribune trucks deliver an average of more than 300 tons of daily newspapers each week day. To do the job they roll more than 6,000 miles each 24 hours. That is an average of 96 pounds per truck mile. One Chicago newspaper, according to official figures, now on file in the office of defense transportation in Washington, delivers 30 pounds per truck mile. A third is shown to be delivering 24 pounds for each mile its trucks travel.

Putting the figures another way, Tribune trucks run 20.98 miles per ton of deliveries and the trucks of the two other newspapers run 66.67 and approximately 85 miles respectively to deliver each ton of their product. One Chicago morning newspaper [not THE TRIBUNE] refused to file statistics on its deliveries.

Keep Returns at Minimum.

Another phase of newspaper distribution in which THE TRIBUNE has realized a high degree of efficiency is the matter of newspaper "returns." "Returns" are papers which are printed and distributed but are unsold and returned. They are passed back to the newspaper by the news dealers. The newspaper must then haul them away and dispose of them as waste. The larger the returns the greater waste in white paper, transportation, gasoline, and rubber.

THE TRIBUNE'S average returns of daily papers in Chicago delivered in its own trucks is 1½ per cent of its deliveries in this area.

Returns Waste Paper.

Officials of one Chicago morning newspaper [not THE TRIBUNE] have admitted that its returns—papers printed and delivered but neither read nor sold—is 18½ per cent of its circulation in the city of Chicago. Outside of Chicago its returns are even greater than in the city; in some cases they have been known to run as high as 40 per cent. This admission came at a time when the government is enforcing a ceiling on white paper costs and demanding that the citizenry put a stop to paper wastage.

This morning newspaper which admits that approximately one in five of its papers are neither read nor sold is thus wasting 37 per cent of the rubber tires used on its delivery trucks. The rubber is wasted both in the original distribution of the papers and again when the trucks are obliged to return and pick up the useless and wasted 18½ per cent of the paper's output.

ROB WOMAN TAVERN OWNER.

Four armed gunmen yesterday robbed Mrs. Anna Weaver, owner of a tavern at 3227 South Lawndale avenue, of $1,300, which they took from a room in the rear of the tavern. They also took $50 from the cashier in the tavern.

Navy Pleads for Binoculars as 'Eyes' in Pressing Sea War

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 8.—An urgent plea has been made to the American public to provide "eyes" for its sea fighters by loaning to the navy privately owned binoculars meeting service requirements.

Many offers already have been received and a general response is expected when patriotic citizens, desirous of "doing their bit," learn of the great need for this essential equipment in the war effort.

Precedent for the practice was established in the World war, the plan proving highly successful both for the navy and the owners. Of a total of 51,217 glasses received, only one pair was reported by its owner to have been lost. The navy accepted 31,000 pairs for use and after the armistice returned them to their owners, along with the engraved "Eyes of the Navy" certificate expressing the navy's appreciation.

Execute Sales at $1 Each.

Because the navy is not authorized to accept gifts or free loans, the binoculars accepted from the public will be purchased for $1 a pair. If they are still in use at the end of hostilities, they will be returned to their former owners and the $1 fee will constitute rental and depreciation charges.

Inasmuch as it is not practicable to stock repair parts for numerous types of binoculars, or to have available personnel sufficiently expert to keep a large variety of glasses in precise collimation, only Zeiss or Bausch & Lomb instruments will be accepted.

Two main sizes of binoculars—6 by 30 and 7 by 50—meet navy requirements and only these sizes will be accepted. A binocular of less than six power is of small value and toys, lorgnettes, mother of pearl opera glasses and other articles of this nature are useless for naval purposes.

Six power binoculars are used for sighting ships and large objects at intermediate or long distances and for sighting closeby smaller objects. This size is used for most navigational purposes.

7 by 50 for Aircraft Identification.

The 7 by 50 power glasses have been found most suitable for sighting small objects such as aircraft at intermediate to great distances, for distinguishing ships at extreme distances, and for night use when extra light gathering qualities of large objective lenses are necessary.

Binoculars meeting navy requirements should be packed carefully and sent to the Naval Observatory, Washington, D. C. An identification tag bearing the name and address of the sender should be fastened securely to each instrument.

In connection with the use of civilian owners' binoculars during the World war, permanent records accompanied the glasses when they were sent afloat. Also accompanying them were rigid instructions concerning their care.

Upon signing of the armistice, orders were issued for return of the instruments to the naval observatory. Letters of acknowledgment sent to owners at that time were signed by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt.

HAILS PRESS FREEDOM AS AN ESSENTIAL OF GOOD GOVERNMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 8.—Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal and former ambassador to Moscow, told members of the parliamentary press gallery at an "austerity buffet luncheon" today that a free press is essential to the proper functioning of parliament.

"As the quantity of paper diminishes and transport becomes more difficult, so the power and value of the press gallery increase and more and more becomes the sole interpreter of parliament to the country and people, and the quality and quantity of that interpretation becomes more important," he said.

"I have had experience in other countries since the war began on press methods and censorship. [Cripps formerly was ambassador to Russia.] In one of them, which perhaps I needn't name, the degree of censorship control is vastly greater than it is in this country, and one has to live in such a country to appreciate the degree to which we have been able to maintain freedom of expression in Britain."

Cripps, who introduced the "austerity era," explained that austerity is not the same thing as misery, but is an "outward sign of intensity of purpose."

Canada to Act to Amend National Mobilization Act

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8 (AP).—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King notified the house of commons today that the government would introduce a bill, probably Monday, to amend Canada's national resources mobilization act. While the bill's provisions were not immediately disclosed, King's notification followed the recent plebiscite in which the electorate voted to free the government from its commitment not to conscript men for military duty outside Canada.

CLOSE MAILS TO WICHITA PAPER PENDING HEARING

Washington, D. C., May 8 (AP).—In his third move against allegedly seditious publications within a month, Postmaster General Frank C. Walker tonight temporarily banned from the mails "Publicity," a weekly newspaper at Wichita, Kas., pending a hearing May 21.

Elmer J. Garner, described as publisher and editor of the paper, and his son, James F. Garner, editorial assistant, were indicted by a federal grand jury at Kansas City, Kas., a week ago on 11 counts under the so-called sedition section of the 1917 espionage act.

Walker moved against "Publicity" after receiving a letter from Attorney General Francis Biddle advising him that "this publication has engaged for a long time in a sustained and systematic attack upon public morale and activities of the government directly related to the war effort."

YOUNG DOCTORS ADVISED TO ASK FOR ARMY DUTY

All physicians, dentists, and veterinarians who are not serving in vital civilian capacities must expect to serve in the armed forces, Col. Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois director of selective service, asserted yesterday. He advised all medical men of military age to begin applying for army and navy commissions.

Maj. Gen. George Grunert, commanding general of the 6th corps area, announced that the army has mapped plans to coöperate with the United States procurement and assignment service to speed the appointment of 5,000 physicians to the army by July 1.

Local draft boards have been given instructions to consult state divisions of the procurement service before classifying medical men.

JAPANESE FLEET REPULSED BY U. S. IN 6 DAY BATTLE

Smash 17 Enemy Ships; Pursue Remainder.

the last six weeks, dislocating his plans thru the destruction of installations and aircraft.

"Our reconnaissance has revealed the gradual upbuilding of naval transport elements for the coördinated attack of combined forces which was initiated several days ago. Our naval forces then attacked in interceptions.

"They were handled with marked skill, fought with admirable courage and tenacity, and the enemy has been repulsed. Our attacks will continue."

The communique made no mention either of Japanese or American losses in the battle, but earlier communiques and reports told of the sinking of 11 Japanese ships, including one aircraft carrier and one heavy cruiser, and the damaging of another aircraft carrier along with the sinking of destroyers, gunboats, and other vessels.

Report Not Confirmed.

Of the two Japanese aircraft carriers reported hit, one was sunk and the other damaged. A government spokesman said there was no confirmation of a report that the second subsequently had been sunk.

The communique likewise gave no inkling of allied losses.

The battle was fought in the shadow of Australia and involved the safety of the continent and control of much of the southern seas.

A communique of the imperial Japanese command broadcast by the Tokio radio claimed that a United States battleship of the California type and two United States aircraft carriers of the Saratoga and Yorktown types had been sunk and that a British [Australian] cruiser of the Canberra type and a British battleship of the Warspite type had been heavily damaged.

There was no immediate comment here upon these claims but the British admiralty in London at once announced flatly: "There is no truth whatever in the Japanese suggestion that H. M. S. Warspite or any other British battleship had been sunk or damaged in action in the Coral sea."

DISCOUNTS JAP CLAIMS

Washington, D. C., May 8 (AP).—The navy tonight warned against giving credence to Japanese claims on the battle off Australia and announced that the engagement had cost the enemy 11 ships, including 9 warships.

A communique issued on information received up to 6:30 p. m.—before allied headquarters in Australia reported the battle was over—also said that in addition to ships sunk six other Japanese craft, including four warships, had been damaged.

The navy announcement avoided claiming a victory, but indicated that American losses to be inconsiderable in comparison with those of Japan.

Discredit Tokio's Claims.

"Details of losses and damage to our forces are not fully known at present, but no credence should be given to claims that have been, or may be, put out by Tokio," the navy said.

The communique fixed the scene of the running battle as being in the Coral sea southward of the Bismarck archipelago. That would put it somewhere between 500 and 1,000 miles east of the northeast coast of Australia and means that the Japanese force has been within range of shore based aircraft from the continent.

No details of how the Japanese ships were sunk, whether by gunfire or bombs, were contained in the official navy report. However, most authorities here conceived of the action as a furious melee of ships and planes, maneuvering constantly thru the smoke of cannon and smoke screens of their own contriving, pressing home every advantage in a veritable battle to the death.

Six Airplanes Destroyed.

The start of the action Monday was announced by the navy yesterday in a communique that began "very excellent news has been received." Then it reported the sinking of an enemy light cruiser, two destroyers, four gunboats, and one supply vessel, the destruction of six planes and the damaging of a 9,000 ton seaplane tender, a light cruiser, a cargo vessel, and a transport.

Tonight's communique added to this list, for a cumulative total of blows dealt the enemy in five days of fighting, one aircraft carrier, a heavy cruiser, and one transport or cargo vessel sunk, plus one aircraft carrier and one heavy cruiser damaged.

Communique Confirms News.

The communique, based on reports received up to 5 p. m. Chicago wartime today:

"SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:

"1. A naval engagement between our forces and those of the Japanese has been in continuous progress in the general area southward of Bismarck achipelago in the Coral sea since Monday, and there is no indication yet of a cessation.

"Japanese losses are believed to be:

"SUNK—One aircraft carrier, one heavy cruiser, one light cruiser, two destroyers, four gunboats, two transports or cargo vessels.

"DAMAGED—One aircraft carrier, one heavy cruiser, one light cruiser, one seaplane tender, two transports or cargo vessels.

"2. Details of losses and damage to our forces are not fully known at present, but no credence should be given to claims that have been or may be put out by Tokio."

Naval authorities commenting on the communique said it was a "logical inference that we have had some losses" in view of the tremendous blows dealt the enemy. But what they were could not be stated at this time.

Curtin Predicts Other Battles.

CANBERRA, Australia, May 9 [Saturday]—(AP).—Prime Minister John Curtin, commenting on the latest allied communique concerning the Pacific naval fight above Australia, said "this great battle which has temporarily ceased had to be fought as part of the war to save that theater from falling within axis control."

Curtin forecast other battles before the Japanese are finally defeated "or we are conquered."

"What has been done this week has only been done because of the matchless quality, skill, and courage of the allied naval and air forces," Curtin said.

INCREASE CARGO INSURANCE RATES ON COASTAL SHIPS

New York, May 8 (AP).—Marine underwriters tonight increased sharply cargo war risk insurance rates covering voyages within the Gulf of Mexico, and withdrew from their schedules quotations on tanker shipments.

Shipments on cargo and passenger vessels within the gulf come under a rate of $2.50 per $100 in the new listing, compared with 75 cents per $100 charged previously.

Cargoes moving between the United States and the east coast of Mexico below Yucatan and the east coast of Central America were raised to a 5 per cent classification from 3 per cent. Intercoastal voyages between the Pacific coasts of North, Central, and South America and the gulf were raised to 5¼ per cent from 3¼. Some Caribbean rates also were revised upward.

While quotations on tanker shipments were removed from the schedules, underwriters said rates would be quoted on application.

SWEET POTATO PROVIDES NEW WAR BEVERAGE

St. Louis, Mo., May 8 (AP).—A new wartime beverage, made of equal portions of sweet potato and coffee, was tried today by Dr. Francis M. Grogan, city hospital commissioner, who said the brew tasted like coffee and was palatable.

The recipe: Boil a sweet potato, slice it into "shoestrings" and roast them. Put equal weights of the shoestrings and coffee into a coffee pot and brew the mixture.

The War Production board recently issued an order calling for a 25 per cent reduction in coffee consumption. Dr. Grogan said he would check food experts before deciding whether to use the new concoction in city institutions.

U. S. OFFICIALS ELATED BY EARLY SEA FIGHT REPORTS, HULL SAYS

Washington, D. C., May 8 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull said today he and his colleagues in the government were "much elated" over preliminary reports which have come to them on the great naval battle of the Coral sea.

He made this reply to a press conference request for comment:

"Government officials are much elated with the preliminary reports and are eagerly seeking every fact relating to the entire battle, which has been raging between the opposing fleets."

NEW ZEALAND TO LET TROOPS REMAIN ABROAD

WELLINGTON, N. Z., May 8 (AP).—Despite the threat of Japanese invasion, New Zealand has decided not to recall its troops who are fighting in distant parts of the world.

The war cabinet realizes the military and moral advantages of having New Zealand's battle tested troops fighting in defense of their native soil, but it has taken the broad view that the allied nations' immediate problem is to use their limited shipping to transport additional forces to the actual fighting fronts as fast as they can.

Movement of New Zealand forces back home would involve double use of this shipping to carry replacements to fronts now held by New Zealanders and to bring the New Zealanders here.

Therefore, for the present, New Zealand airmen will continue to battle in the skies over England and Africa, and infantry, tank forces, and artillerymen will keep on fighting on the present fronts.

Every available man is being trained for active battle duty in defense of the islands. Every 10th New Zealander is in uniform.

YANK DROWNS PADDLING RAFT IN NO. IRELAND

AEF HEADQUARTERS, Northern Ireland, May 8 (AP).—Pvt. Ralph Raymond Helbling, 22 years old, of Pittsburgh, Pa., drowned Tuesday night when a makeshift raft in which he and four fellow soldiers were paddling capsized on a lake in Northern Ireland. His was the third accidental death among the United States forces since they arrived in Northern Ireland.

ARREST 5 MEN IN 4 JEWELRY HOLDUPS IN LOOP

Five men, rounded up by the police jewelry detail, have confessed four loop robberies in the last two months, in which jewelry valued at more than $20,000 was stolen, Sergt. Thomas Alcock, head of the detail, disclosed yesterday. Also, $20,000 in securities believed taken in the safe blowing of a Michigan avenue coal company, was found in the room of one of the men held.

One of those held was named as William Suchier, identified by police as a real estate man with an office at 139 North Clark street. Alcock said Suchier was the contact man for a receiver thru whom part of the loot was sold. Others held were identified as Earl Willen, 37, of 6447 Yale avenue, against whom two burglary charges already are pending; John Brill, 25, of 1248 North Hoyne avenue; Louis Anzelmo, 27, Triangle hotel, and William Manella, 29, of 7229 North Bell avenue.

The jewelry firms robbed were named as Jan Theyaerts, 58 West Washington street, $9,000 on March 24; Venetian Jewelry company, 35 East Wacker drive, $1,000 March 31; Massover Brothers, 30 West Washington street, $10,000 to $14,000 April 6, and Williams Jewelry company and Martin Jacobs, 10 South Wabash avenue, $2,000 on April 16.

STATE TO OFFER TREATMENT FOR DRAFT REJECTS

Springfield, Ill., May 8 (AP).—Men who have been deferred from military service because of need for venereal disease treatment, essential dental care, or certain types of corrective surgery may obtain treatment at state expense to qualify them for the draft, Dr. Roland R. Cross, state health director, said today.

Dr. Cross said details of Gov. Green's program for rehabilitating rejected draftees would be in the hands of selective service officials in a few days.

Draftees rejected because they are afflicted with syphilis in the early stages may undergo a five day treatment in state hospitals if they are unable to pay for private care. In addition state hospitals are being used for certain types of surgical operations, particularly for hernia, on rejected draftees.

CARDINAL TELLS VATICAN OF NAZI WAR ON CHURCH

Gives 11 Point Indictment of Oppression.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, May 8.—Cardinal Michael von Faulhaber, militant leader of the religious opposition in Germany, has just sent an 11 point indictment of the church situation in Germany to the Holy See. From intimations by Vatican sources received here tonight after perusal of the report, the Vatican secretariat of state is taking a very serious view of the situation.

As outlined in reports trickling thru Italian censorship, Cardinal Faulhaber's statement of the situation is as follows:

1. A "veritable war against Christianity" is now being waged in Germany. This war, he intimates, has contributed largely to present "spiritual unrest" in the reich, which perforce is translated into "manifestations against the régime." These are catalogued by German authorities as "machinations of foreign Judeo-communistic elements." A noticeable "armistice" exists at present between the Catholic and Protestant churches in the reich—to their mutual benefit.

Spy Against Christians.

2. The church continues to be treated with mistrust by the régime, which maintains an elaborate system of "anti-Christian espionage" in all principal religious centers and attempts to prevent the reading of "certain Episcopal documents" from the pulpits by ordering the arrest of bishops, priests, or pastors prior to their issuance. If the document is not read the ecclesiastic is released; if it is read, he sometimes is not.

3. Moral "blackmail" is applied to Catholics thruout the reich with the threat that "less faithful attendance at church means keeping your job." This "blackmail" is also applied to the church itself, which is called on for far greater sacrifices in proportion in money and property than is the "unbelieving individual citizen." Greater contributions to party and war funds are also required from well known Catholics than are demanded from non-Catholics.

4. Intensified propaganda is being developed among lower paid workers to get them to disavow the church. They are also tempted by "cynical inferences as to how to avoid paying the 'blood tribute' of the church [the church tax]."

Must Quit Church.

5. The church is accused of being a "supernational organization," and "loyal Germans" are asked how they can reconcile their duties to the state with those to the church. The inference is that they must quit the church or quit the "future of greater Germany."

6. Violence is often employed in the "catechism" of a "doubtful" German who must "develop a 'conscience of his nationality'" or "suffer the consequences."

7. "Grave measures" have been taken in primary and secondary schools to prevent religious instruction. Students' school cards are no longer permitted to bear the subject "Religious Instruction."

8. Under the pretext of lack of paper, publication or religious textbooks and other church publications has been forbidden. But the number and size of publications attacking the church has "increased beyond measure."

Bar Youths from Festivals.

9. Youths of both sexes have been forbidden to attend church festivals in the evening on the ground that "they last too long and prevent them getting sufficient sleep." "Attendance at party functions, which often last well past midnight, is obligatory."

10. Church organizations have been prevented from acquiring land on which to build religious structures, even in places where no religious facilities exist. In many cases church land has been sequestered without indemnification.

11. Church property, such as bronze bells and even ritual vessels of immense real or intrinsic value, has been sequestered thruout the reich without warning and without indemnification.

Cardinal Faulhaber concludes with a fervent prayer that "the church stand together for the fight of its existence. Today it is a question of life or death for Christianity . . . for in its blind rage against religion the Nazis 'faith' does not or cannot distinguish between Protestantism and Catholicism."

NAZIS EXECUTE FIVE FRENCH HOSTAGES FOR ATTACK ON A SOLDIER

VICHY, France, May 8 (AP).—The German authorities in Paris executed five hostages and tentatively condemned 50 others today for an attack on a German soldier May 2, and published an order forbidding the use of bicycles after dark in almost half of occupied France. The announcement said the 50 others would be shot and 500 more sent to work camps in eastern Germany if the attackers were not discovered.

The ban on bicycles was designed to stem the wave of attacks. The order noted that persons who have attacked Nazi soldiers or committed acts of sabotage usually had bicycles at hand for quick escape.

Six Dutch Sentenced to Die.

LONDON, May 8 (AP).—The Netherlands news agency Aneta reported today that six Netherlanders had been sentenced to death by a German court in Amsterdam on charges of breaking into a food control office.

LIFEBOATS TO GET RADIOS TO OFFSET U-BOAT HAZARDS

Washington, D. C., May 8 [Special].—In an endeavor to reduce loss of life when merchant ships are sunk thru enemy action, all American vessels of more than 1,000 gross tons soon will carry at least one portable radio for installation in lifeboats, it was learned today. These portable radio units will enable survivors in at least one lifeboat to signal for aid after the attacking enemy craft has left the scene.

Officials explained that enemy war vessels shell lifeboats and rafts which send out radio calls for help while the attacking craft still is in the vicinity. For this reason, seamen will be instructed to make no use of their portable units until the attacking craft has left the scene of the sinking.

A regulation requiring merchant vessels to carry at least one such portable radio unit was issued April 16 by Adm. R. R. Waesche, commandant of the United States coast guard. Specifications of the minimum requirements for this type of radio have been worked out and are awaiting approval by the maritime commission.

PILOT BAILS OUT AND LANDS ATOP BLAZING PLANE

Minneapolis, Minn., May 8 (AP).—Vernon Kesler, 28 years old, a grocer who is learning to fly in his spare time, was recovering today from burns after parachuting from his burning plane and landing on top of it.

Kesler, a student at Wold Chamberlain field, was flying at 2,000 feet near here yesterday when his plane burst into flames. He bailed out.

The plane crashed in a plowed field and Kesler's parachute dropped him on top of it. He suffered burns on the feet, arms, and face.

MOTHER RECALLS FIRST AID RULES AND SAVES BABY

Because she remembered what she read in the papers, Mrs. Dorothy Amann, 1656 Mohawk avenue, was able to save the life of her 1 year old son, Andrew Jr., yesterday.

The infant, who had been running a high temperature, suddenly appeared to stop breathing. Quickly Mrs. Amann phoned the fire department for an inhalator squad. Then, recalling newspaper accounts of similar cases, she pressed her lips to the baby's mouth and began to breathe into his lungs.

When firemen under Capt. Conrad Wynne of squad 10 arrived the baby had regained his breath. They applied the oxygen machine for about 10 minutes.

ALLIES MUST BE POSTWAR POLICE FORCE, SAYS EDEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 8.—Britain, the United States, Russia, and China will have to police the world to sustain the peace system after the war, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told an Edinburgh audience tonight.

"The absence of war," he said, "will not mean peace. It is only when the war is over that we shall begin to make peace."

Isolation is dead for all countries, he said. The British empire, he declared, "must assume the burden of leadership" in policing the world, which, however, the other allies will share.

RUSSIANS SMASH 3 NAZI DRIVES TO INVADE KARELIA

Hurl Enemy Bombers Out of Far Northern Bases.

MOSCOW, May 8 (AP).—The Red army and air force were reported officially tonight to have wrecked a three-way German spring offensive aimed from Finland into soviet Karelia and to have driven large numbers of Nazi bombers out of forward bases near Russia's vital Arctic communications.

German troops stabbing across the Karelian frontier at three points were driven from Russian soil with heavy losses, said frontier dispatches to the communist newspaper Pravda.

From the Arctic front, the army newspaper Red Star reported that German bombing fleets, after a futile six weeks' offensive against the northern sea lanes and Russian rail lines over which American and British supplies are moving via Murmansk and Archangel, had been forced to withdraw to more remote stations in Norway and Finland.

Report 30,000 Nazis Felled.

Still other dispatches, dealing with recent weeks of heavy fighting from Leningrad southwest to Staraya Russa, estimated 30,000 Germans had been lost in counterattacks which failed to take the initiative from the Red army.

The Karelian fighting represented the second attempt by Russia's enemies to invade this sector, for at the outbreak of the war a Finnish battalion of 1,200 men, supported by two German companies, was driven back after crossing the frontier.

In the northern air action, the Russians, hammering steadily at five German airports, carried out 14 raids and, in the last two days, destroyed 43 German planes, Red Star said.

Five hundred Germans have been killed in two days' fighting on the northwestern front, a soviet information bureau communique said.

Tonight's Russian communique said 36 German planes were destroyed yesterday, with a loss of 16 soviet craft.

1,400 Reds Slain, Say Germans.

BERLIN, May 8 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Nazi and Finnish troops have annihilated a Russian unit in Lapland after several days of bitter fighting, killing 1,400, the high command said today.

2 CHICAGOANS IN CANADA UNIT TO JOIN U.S. FORCES

LONDON, May 8 (AP).—Nearly a third of the United States troops serving with the Essex Scottish regiment from Windsor, Ont., have applied for transfer to American forces, Canadian sources said today.

The applications were made under a recent United States-Canadian agreement facilitating transfers, some of which already have been made.

Among those seeking transfers to United States forces were Pvts. Noval Brown and W. T. Carey of Chicago, and Corp. B. Brinkworth, Oak Park, Ill.

ROSTOCK BOMBED AGAIN BY BRITISH PLANES: BERLIN

Report Repeat Raid on Norwich.

BERLIN, May 9 [Saturday]—[From German broadcasts]—(AP).—British air raiders attacked the Baltic port of Rostock again last night and also bombed Warnemuende, DNB announced today. The news agency said 12 of the raiders were shot down.

[Rostock, thru which the Germans have been reported supplying their armies on the northern sector of the eastern front, has been the target of four previous devastating night attacks by the RAF.]

Warnemuende is situated at the mouth of the Warnow river, on which Rostock also is located, and about 10 miles northwest of that city.

DNB also reported that German air raiders had attacked the British port of Norwich during the night.

East Anglia Bombed.

LONDON, May 9 [Saturday]—(AP).—British bombers were over Germany again last night after a one night lull in their offensive against the reich, it was announced today.

Nazi night raiders, meanwhile, were active over East Anglia, scattering bombs which a communique said did some damage and caused a small number of casualties.

One of the German raiders was reported shot down over Britain and another was reported destroyed by an RAF fighter as it was returning to its base in Holland.

The royal air force's Canadian "Demon squadron" and Dutch pilots plastered bomb hits on 8 out of 12 ships in a heavily protected convoy off Holland yesterday in a continuation of the British air offensive which Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair declared will lead to a British invasion of the continent.

Seven for "Demons."

The Demons, who in seven days have damaged at least 19 enemy supply ships and a destroyer, reported hitting 7 ships in the convoy and royal Netherlands pilots got the eighth.

By daylight the Nazi air force made a 20 second reprisal attack on a southeast coast town, hitting a school with a bomb and killing several children. Streets were sprayed with cannon and machine gun fire.

Air Minister Sinclair, speaking at Birmingham, promised the Nazi air force "a terrible summer" and said "we must give it no rest; we must hammer it out of shape. When that will be—how long it will take—I cannot tell, but then will come the invasion.

"The time has come when we are beginning to hit back hard, but on a scale which still only foreshadows the force of the Anglo-American bombing effort to come."

In Mass Production

New York, May 8 (AP).—The airplane division of the Curtiss-Wright corporation announced today that a new cargo and troop transport plane, the C-46, was in mass production. The company said 21 C-46's could do the transportation job of 4,500 trucks on the Burma road, in three hops a day.

The C-46, it was said, has doubled the payload of the 21 passenger DC-3 airliner and is powered with two twin-row engines of more than 1,000 horsepower each. It is a military version of the huge transport liner CW-20 which was sold and flown to England recently for transport missions thruout the British empire.

Army men, altho declining to discuss the speed, range and payload of the craft, said it could be flown from continental United States to any point where it might be needed.

MASARYK WARNS: DON'T KID SELVES ABOUT 2D FRONT

New York, May 8 (AP).—Dr. Jan Masaryk, Czecho-Slovakian minister of foreign affairs, said today that talk of a second front in Europe at this time is premature.

"We should not kid ourselves that we can start a second front as easily as snapping our fingers," he told the second world congress of the International Free World association. "The failure of a second front would be a great blow to the cause of the democracies and, therefore, we should not encourage the peoples of occupied countries to expect the impossible at this time."

He said that if a free world is to be realized after the present conflict, "it must be a democratic world. There can be no room for those with feudal or totalitarian trends. Those things are dead."

Masaryk is the son of the founder of the Czecho-Slovak republic.

RECOVER BODY FROM CANAL.

AMERICANS FROM ITALY ON WAY TO U. S. REACH SPAIN

BARCELONA, Spain, May 9 [Saturday]—(AP).—The first Americans to leave Italy under an exchange agreement arrived in Barcelona today en route to Lisbon for passage to the United States aboard the Swedish liner Drottningholm.

United States Consul A. Dana Hodgdon was aboard the first train. Also aboard were 17 United States nationals, 48 Mexicans, 10 Guatemalans, and a number of Cubans.

Hodgdon, who conferred briefly with United States Consul-General Arthur C. Frost here, said three other trains were scheduled to cross the Spanish border at Port Bou Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday nights, but that most of the embassy's high officials would arrive on the last train due here May 14.

JAP EVACUEES GO IN FOR SPORTS AT CALIFORNIA CAMP

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Santa Anita, Cal., May 8.—Americans interned by the Japanese should receive good treatment in return for the consideration being shown Japanese evacuees interned here in California.

Life has been made pleasant for the Japanese moved to the Santa Anita race track from their former homes in combat zones on the Pacific coast. In addition to essential facilities provided, many recreational activities have been organized for the evacuees.

The half mile training track infield has been converted into a huge athletic playground. These are seven softball courts, two regular baseball diamonds, and fields for basketball, volleyball, and football. Leagues are being formed in the various sports, and crowds of 2,000 or more attend intergroup games.

Encouragement is given calisthenics and athletics of all kinds, with groups organized according to age. The camp boasts a fully organized troop of Boy Scouts.

Band Needs Alto "Sax."

It also has a dance band, but its members complain of being short of alto saxophones. The band recently held a welcome sing in honor of new arrivals. More than 1,200 Japanese joined in singing "Hi Neighbor" in honor of the group that arrived that day.

Schools have not opened, but kindergartens are doing well. Youngsters are taught to make everything from paper dolls to airplanes. A well stocked library is in operation, books being passed out the windows of the race track buildings where mutuel tickets once were paid off.

Attending medical men say that health conditions in the camp are better than in the average American town of equal size. There has been one death and one birth since the Japanese came here.

Semi-Weekly Newspaper.

The Japanese have established a newspaper which they call the Santa Anita Pace Maker. It is printed on Tuesdays and Fridays, and has a circulation of over 3,000. Editorial staff members cut stencils and use mimeographing machines for printing.

The camp is divided into seven districts, and each district is subdivided into an equal number of sections. When the 17,000 capacity of the buildings has been filled each section will elect a councilman to a body which will confer for the welfare of the entire population. The camp's capacity is expected to be reached this week.

The camp is under control of an administrative staff of Americans, but close liaison is kept with Japanese leaders. Complete harmony prevails to date. Regular Los Angeles county officers are assisted by Japanese auxiliary police. The latter are used mainly as guides, directors of traffic, and guardians of children.

YANKS 'POUR INTO MADAGASCAR,' LONDON IS TOLD

South Africans Also Join British: Madrid.

LONDON, May 8 (AP).—The British strove today to cleanup remaining Vichy-French resistance on the island of Madagascar where, according to Vichy radio broadcasts, fighting still continued at 7 p. m. tonight [1 p. m. Chicago time].

American troops were reported to be "pouring into Diego Suarez," the captured French naval base on the northeastern tip of the island, according to a dispatch from Madrid, Spain, to the London Daily Mail. The Madrid correspondent quoted Vichy sources as saying that South African troops as well as Americans were arriving in Madagascar, apparently in numbers, altho there was no confirmation of this in London several hours after publication of the report.

Extent of Fighting Unknown.

There was no definite word here on the extent of remaining French resistance on the strategic Indian ocean island.

The Vichy radio said the total defense force on the big island was 7,000 men and that only 1,300 had been engaged in the Diego Suarez fight.

British estimates of the French effectives did not exceed 4,000, and it was reported here that more than half these forces were engaged at Diego Suarez.

It was evident, in any case, that the British were ready to make other landings anywhere on the 1,000 mile long island that they might need to control air bases.

Meanwhile it was declared that the total British losses at Diego Suarez probably were lower than the 1,000 figure first mentioned. An infantry force reported missing in the first attack was later found.

Still Resist in Mountains.

VICHY, France, May 8 (AP).—A small force of French troops still is fighting in the mountains just south of Diego Suarez despite the capitulation of other French forces on the northern tip of Madagascar, an authoritative informant said tonight.

The continuing resistance was said to be by a company of French troops landed by the sloop Entrecasteaux last Wednesday, the day after the British landing at Courrier bay.

But outside a symbolic stand by these forces, there was no indication of any actual contact between French and British elements since Thursday's capitulation of the Diego Suarez naval base.

Official word was still lacking here on terms of the surrender at Diego Suarez. The only official affirmation in Vichy was that the armistice did not mean unconditional capitulation of the entire island or that the original British terms had been accepted.

FIND IRA PLEAS FOR U. S. TROOPS TO HELP REVOLT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 8.—Irish Republican army documents calling on American troops in Northern Ireland to fight for Irish freedom were produced in a Belfast, Northern Ireland, court today. A 21 year old Belfast trayeler, Reginald M. Thompson, and a 21 year old compositor, Harold Smith, were ordered held on charges of conspiring to "levy war against his majesty, promote by force of arms an Irish republic in Northern Ireland, and advance activities of the Irish Republican Army."

The prosecutor said police visited a garage in which Thompson kept his employer's car and found revolvers and ammunition. Police also discovered data on the strength and disposition of British forces in Northern Ireland and a book on street fighting.

In Smith's house, according to the prosecutor, a printing press and duplicating machine were found, as well as seditious literature, including the article addressed to American troops.

WPA TO REMOVE ANY WHO REFUSE WORK ON FARMS

Bloomington, Ill., May 8 [Special].—WPA workers who refuse to accept farm employment to help meet the farm labor shortage will be removed from WPA rolls, under a statement of policy made by Walter J. Geisler, director of training and reëmployment of the Decatur district WPA office.

The ruling resulted from the failure here two weeks ago to get persons on WPA to work on farms, enrollees offering such excuses as not wanting to give up their present activity or being fearful they might not get back on WPA after a short farm job.

Geisler pointed out that WPA cannot consider a shortage of farm help exists in McLean county with 433 men now working on WPA projects. He ruled that WPA workers must accept farm employment, providing the prevailing rate of pay is offered and the location of the work is within a reasonable distance.

NORSE YOUTHS SEIZE VESSEL, SAIL TO BRITAIN

LONDON, May 8 (AP).—A group of young Norwegian patriots has reached Great Britain after seizing the 623 ton coastal steamer Galtesund complete with crew and passengers and sailing it to a British port. The exploit was announced proudly tonight by the Norwegian government in exile, which recalled that when the vessel was first reported missing the German controled radio report assumed she had been sunk by a mine.

The youths planned their coup carefully after they learned the Galtesund, plying between Oslo and Bergen, carried adequate fuel for a sea journey. They boarded the ship as passengers at various ports of call. The Galtesund left Flekkefjord March [illegible]. Then the patriots took over.

Friend of the YANKS

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and personally, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries. Persons are asked to keep their letters short because of the volume of mail.]

J. F. writes: "A friend, who has been enlisted in the army air corps, told me that the passing grade for the screening test has been lowered. I recently flunked the test by one point. How long ago were the requirements lowered, if they were?"

ANSWER: Whereas a mark of 90 used to be the minimum passing grade for the army air orps screening test, the passing grade was lowered recently to 80. Air corps officers found the new series of questions were 10 points more difficult than former screening examinations, hence th new passing grade. The new grade is to be retroactive, and applicants who made a mark of between 80 and 90 on the new series, which was instituted last April, will be notified by letter that they have passed.

V. E. M. writes: "I am in business for myself and have a 3-A classification. Would my draft status be affected if I were to have my wife do the typing for me at the office? She would receive no salary and I would not be able to hire some one to do this work."

ANSWER: Inasmuch as your wife would remain dependent upon you for support, her assisting you in the office would not cause your classification to be altered.

J. M. asks: "Do the selective service boards refer to the social security records in determining the classification of a married man if the man has declared to his board that his wife is not working?"

ANSWER: Draft board officials can and have referred to social security records when there is doubt as to whether a registrant has truthfully filled in his questionnaire as regards his wife's earnings.

J. F. asks: "How many beneficiaries can a soldier name on his government life insurance and must they be persons related to the insured?"

ANSWER: The insured may designate any number of beneficiaries within the following classes: Wife, child [including an adopted child, stepchild, illegitimate child], parent [including person in loco parentis], brother and/or sister [including those of halfblood] of the insured.

G. P. writes: "Please advise me of the qualifications of yeoman 3d class in the navy. I have typing experience and wonder if that would help?"

ANSWER: The following is required of a yeoman, 3d class: Ability to perform under immediate supervision simple routine office work. Special qualifications desired of men enlisted in this rating include ability as typists and stenographers.

To W. P. N.: You would not be accepted for enlistment in the navy. To F. G.: It would depend upon the seriousness of your ailment as to whether you would be accepted for military service. All such ailments are not considered disqualifying.

Honolulu Expects More Jap Raids, Says Hawaiian

San Francisco, Cal., May 8 [Special].—Honolulu was described today by Sam King, delegate from Hawaii, as a city stripped for action, certain that "the Japs are coming again and probably in more force." "The army tells us," he added, "that another visit by the Japs is inevitable. Everybody is digging holes like mad. Even swimming pools have been covered and turned into big shelters."

BLOOD TEST WINS FATHER'S PLEDGE TO SUPPORT BABY

Andrew Stolmack's doubt whether he is the father of six months old Thomas, born to his estranged wife, Eugenia, 22 years old, last Oct. 30, was swept away yesterday before Judge Rudolph Desort, when a blood test made by Dr. Joshua Moore showed the child "might" be his. Stolmack accepted Thomas as his son, said he would assume responsibility for his support, and was ordered by the court, before which the Stolmack's divorce proceedings are in progress, to pay $7.50 a week, pending final hearing.

Stolmack's doubt arose, he said recently in court thru his attorney, Thomas MacKinlay, because he had been estranged from his wife. He had become reconciled to her, he said, on Jan. 15, 1941, but the reconciliation had lasted only one day and the child had been born nine months and 15 days later.

Stolmack, who is 25 and lives at 4055 North Kolmar avenue, sued his wife for divorce last March, charging cruelty. Eugenia filed a cross bill charging desertion. She lives at 815 South Francisco avenue.

MALTA DOWNS 6 PLANES IN AXIS' 2,300TH ATTACK

VALETTA, Malta, May 8 (AP).—Two axis bombers and four fighters were destroyed and five bombers and five fighters severely damaged in the 2,300th air raid on Malta today, a government communique said. Three of the bombers and three of the fighters were shot up so badly they probably failed to reach their base, the announcement said.

Malta Downs 101 Planes in April.

LONDON, May 8 (AP).—Malta's anti-aircraft guns shot down 101 axis raiders in April, when approximately 7,000 tons of bombs were dropped on that Mediterranean island, it was announced today.

ROME, May 8 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—Aerial blows were traded in the Mediterranean war theater last night, the Italian high command said today, acknowledging a British raid on Bengazi, Libya, but reporting axis attacks on Malta.

YANKS THWART JAP AIR RAID ON PORT MORESBY

[By Wireless to New York Times and the Chicago Tribune.]

AN ADVANCED ALLIED AIR BASE IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, May 8.—An attempted Japanese attack on one of the airdromes at Port Moresby, New Guinea, yesterday was thwarted by American fighter planes, it was revealed today by an allied military spokesman.

Eight Zero fighters constituted the Japanese forces. American fighters drove them off and one enemy plane was reported downed north of what is called Seven Mile drome. The spokesman said there were no allied losses.

The Japanese attack came after two days during which Port Moresby was not visited by enemy planes.

RECAPTURE TWO NAZIS WHO FLED CAMP IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8 (AP).—Two German war prisoners who escaped from a camp at Bowmanville, Ont., Tuesday were captured by a suburban constable today after they asked a suspicious woman in suburban Eastwood the way to the Argentine legation.

The two—Lieut. Ernst Wagner and Lieut. Reinhardt Pfundter, both airmen—were sent back to Bowmanville and a search along the United States border was suspended.

BRITAIN RUSHES HELP TO CEYLON; FEARS INVASION

Reports Japs Now on Ships Off Rangoon.

LONDON, May 8 (AP).—The British quickly sent reënforcements to Ceylon today as the urgency of controling the Indian ocean was stressed by reports that Japanese invasion forces already were aboard ship in Rangoon, ready to attack India.

Burma, scene of one of the most stubborn delaying actions of the war, was almost completely overrun by the Japanese for strategic considerations.

Military sources acknowledged that the Japanese probably had taken the west Burma port of Akyab, 300 air miles from Calcutta, but said they had no confirmation of a German broadcast assertion that the Japanese already had crossed the border into India. It was conceded that Japanese patrols may have entered India "purely for propaganda purposes." However, the informants held to the belief that any Japanese invasion of the tempting treasure house of India would come from the sea, with Akyab and its air fields as the base of heavy preparatory air attacks on the Ganges basin.

U. S. Bombers Raid Rangoon.

Aligned with this view was the announcement that Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's United States army bombers from India raided Rangoon again today for their third attack in four days. The bombers defied storms and waves of Japanese fighters in setting big fires.

Informants said the Japanese had been concentrating much more than a holding force at Rangoon and this was the reason the United States bombers had raided the port so often.

While the British land forces in Burma continued to move up the Chindwin river valley to the northwest, it was announced here that the British Island of Ceylon, off India's southeast tip, had been newly reenforced with troops from northern Rhodesia, Kenya, Uganda, Tanganyika, Nyasaland, and Zanzibar. They represent all arms of the service and are veterans of the conquest of Ethiopia from the Italians. Their numbers were not disclosed.

Smash 2 Jap Columns.

CHUNGKING, China, May 8 (AP).—Falling with fury upon two Japanese columns thrusting into China along the Burma road, counterattacking Chinese wiped out one invading force of 1,000 men, killed 500 out of another of equal strength, and trapped the remainder, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's high command announced tonight.

An official announcement said this success converted into disaster a Japanese attempt to flank Chinese troops of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell in the sector near Chefang, 25 miles inside the Yunnan province from Burma.

The fighting was said to have occurred yesterday afternoon when truckloads of Japanese reënforcements, moving up from the border town of Wanting, split into two forces and attacked both Chinese flanks.

Disclose Loss of Chefang.

From the Chinese account, it appeared that the defenders might have destroyed Japanese spearheads which Tokio claimed had driven past Chefang to Lungling, 25 miles deeper into China. The Chinese acknowledged yesterday the loss of Chefang itself.

[The Japanese announced officially their forces occupied Bhamo, head of the Irrawaddy river navigation in Burma, last Sunday. With the fall of this town and Japanese occupation of Lashio earlier, Domei declared the Chungking government had been cut off completely from outside aid.]

The Flying Tigers of the American Volunteer group protected Chinese bombers which battered Japanese troops and trucks in western Yunnan yesterday, an AVG communique said.

The Japanese aerial offensive in eastern China, aimed at destroying possible bases for bombing Japan proper, was stepped up today with bombings in Kiangsi and the east coast provinces of Chekiang and Fukien. Some 43 enemy planes in eight flights attacked various Kiangsi province towns, particularly the temporary capital of Kian. Other Japanese planes reconnoitered Hunan province extensively.

TEST CHURCHILL REGIME'S FAVOR IN NEW ELECTION

LONDON, May 8 (AP).—The Churchill government's hold on Britain was tested again today in a parliamentary by-election at Putney in which the prime minister is deeply involved. Churchill wrote to the Conservative candidate, Hugh Linstead, charging that his Independent opponent, Bernard Acworth, a retired naval captain, was a defeatist.

"The opposition candidate," Churchill wrote, "in a paper which he circulated in February to members of both houses of parliament declared himself in favor of negotiating a separate peace with Japan on the grounds that their strength is so great that we must yield to their armed force."

Acworth denied the leaflet—withheld from publication "for the sake of security"—had declared in favor of a negotiated peace with Japan. The election result will be announced tomorrow.

TELLS OF RESCUE BY U-BOAT THAT SANK HIS SHIP

LONDON, May 8.—How a U boat commander rescued him from the sea, then halted a neutral ship and placed him aboard, was told today by Alfred Halpeck, a young Scottish seaman among a group of survivors landed at a Scottish port today.

Their vessel was shelled and sunk by U-boats in Dutch East Indies waters but the entire crew except Halpeck got away in a lifeboat and was picked up by a neutral ship.

Halpeck jumped overboard and spent five hours in the water when he was sighted by the U-boat. "I was hauled out of the water and taken aboard," he said. He later was put aboard a neutral ship and brought to Britain.

PROPOSES 'DOBBIE DAY' IN LONDON TO HONOR THE HERO OF MALTA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 8.—A "Dobbie day" to greet Gen. Sir William G. S. Dobbie, "Britain's MacArthur" who is returning from his post as governor and commander at Malta, is being planned by London's lord mayor, Sir John Laurie. It already has been suggested that Dobbie be given a reception similar to that held for the victors of the Graf Spee battle.

Dobbie has become one of Britain's most popular heroes. When he took command of Malta before the war, only a few aircraft were based there. He converted it into the most heavily fortified island in the world.

Viscount Gort, former chief of the imperial staff and recently governor of Gibraltar, has relieved Dobbie at Malta. Maj. Gen. Sir Colin Jardine is commanding the British forces at Gibraltar. Jardine, a gunnery officer, was wounded three times in the last war and acted as Gort's secretary in France.

NATURE, TOO, HAS 'SOLDIERS' TO HIT FOE IN AUSTRALIA

Terrifying Pests Fill Bush Country with Horror.

AN ADVANCED ALLIED BASE, Australia, May 8 (AP).—If the Japanese should try to invade this area they will find more than man-made defenses—for nature has given the country everything from mosquitoes which zip down on you like dive bombers to lacerating spear grass.

Take the word of First Lieut. Henry Holliday of Athens, Ga., who was lost for 18 hours in the Australian bush only a few miles back from civilization.

Lieut. Holliday, a 37 year old surgeon, had just left a hospital after a bout with dengue [bonebreak] fever and taken a new post as doctor for a unit a few miles from this base.

"The flies in camp were so bad," he said, "that I walked out alone to see what was causing them.

Walks Half a Mile—Lost!

"I went about half a mile—and soon realized I was lost. I had no water, no compass, no matches, no knife, and I was wearing shorts and a sleeveless shirt.

"The next 18 hours were the most terrible I've ever spent—and I've been close to death several times in airplanes and automobiles and on motorcycles and horses.

"The most horrible thought of all was that I would die a slow death, eaten up by ants and lizards. I prayed and vowed if I ever got out of this I'd be a better boy.

"I found anthills two or three feet high about every 10 feet. There were lizards two feet long. My legs were cut up by spear grass which has a barb on the end of the blade; my socks got so full of burrs I had to take them off.

"The night was filled with weird cries of birds. Some whistled at me like human beings and some laughed.

"Mosquitoes came in swarms and they didn't just buzz and sing—they were dive-bombers with a mean zip.

Sounds Lead Him Home.

"When the moon came up I found a tin shed with a two-wheeled cart inside. Despite the heat I covered myself with gunnysacks, leaving only my nose exposed because of those mosquitoes. But I couldn't sleep. Some sort of animal kept trying to get into the shed.

"I went out again and saw bats with a two-foot wingspread.

"Daylight came and I heard some planes and trucks. They were what kept me going in the right general direction.

"My thoughts were concentrated on the possibility of a slow death and I was determined to keep going until I dropped, or found something.

"By midmorning I came across another shack and from there I saw an airdrome runway in the distance with a dump truck standing by. I made myself known by shouting and signaling and they drove a truck over to me. It was the most gorgeous sight I've ever seen.

"And, O, yes! I found out what caused those flies. There are quite a few cows and steers around that camp."

CAPTAIN TELLS HOW 37 PLANES HIT MARBLEHEAD

Torn U. S. Cruiser Under 3 Hour Assault.

AT AN EASTERN PORT in the United States, May 8 (AP).—Capt. Arthur G. Robinson, captain of the United States cruiser Marblehead, brought half around the world despite gaping wounds from Japanese bombs, said today that his ship underwent three hours of incessant bombing by at least 37 Japanese planes.

Capt. A. G. Robinson.

Interviewed in his office aboard the ship amid the din of riveters and workmen as her repairs proceeded, Capt. Robinson said the ship had less than a 50-50 chance of getting back during the first eight or 10 hours after the attack in the battle of Macassar strait.

The Marblehead was on a mission under orders of a Dutch admiral to intercept a large, well protected Japanese convoy which was en route to Macassar, the captain said.

"En route our force was intercepted by a large fleet of land based enemy planes," he related. "The ships scattered and then it was a question of individual action.

"Over 37 Japanese planes began the attack on us and the attack continued with three hours of incessant bombing. We evaded them pretty well, with the exception of one unfortunate hit.

Ship in "Serious Situation."

"After we were hit, the ship was in a very serious situation because we were badly flooded, had two fires, and the main deck was covered with fuel oil and water. We had difficulty moving the wounded. The sick bay was completely demolished and we had to improvise a new one.

"Many of the men not detailed pitched in and helped pull the wounded out of the fire. Our steering gear was gone and other hits came while our gear was damaged and we were turning in circles.

"The attack continued while all hands were trying to stop the rush of water. Anti-aircraft batteries were blazing away. I was trying to maneuver the ship as best as I could. My reaction was fatalistic. There we were going in circles and that's all there was to it.

"We steered her with the motors. We'd tickle her with the left propellor and then with the right, and when we had her straight we'd go full speed ahead."

The ship, which lost 15 men killed in the bombing, made port in the Netherlands Indies, where temporary repairs were made, then proceeded to Ceylon for additional repairs. Later at South Africa, the ship was made seaworthy for its trip back to the United States. Its trip from the battle scene totaled 13,000 miles.

Praises Officers and Crew.

Capt. Robinson, who is 50 years old, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and now is a resident of Washington, D. C. He was graduated from the Naval academy in 1913, and is married to the former actress Inez Buck.

The skipper repeatedly praised his officers and crew for their "courage, stamina, and resourcefulness" and their "continued cheerfulness." He spent 60 hours continuously on the bridge without sleep during the battle and subsequent fight to reach port.

In praise of his crew, Capt. Robinson said:

"Nothing, not even the heroism of every man jack aboard, has impressed me so much as the cheerfulness of this crew of mine. They were called upon to work day and night in fuel, oil, water, and debris. They worked, ate, and—when they could find a place to lie down—slept in their oil soaked clothing. There was neither time nor fresh water for bathing. . . .

"Why, they were even joking when the bombs were crashing all around. The jokes? Well, I guess we'd better not have them now. But they were funny at the time."

Comm. Nicholas B. Van Bergen of San Francisco, he said, was a "tower of strength" who took over the executive officer's command when Comm. W. B. Goggins was badly wounded. He said:

"Comm. Van Bergen was everywhere pulling men out and keeping me informed of the situation in complete disregard for his own safety.

Bailed Ship for 48 Hours.

"Lieut. Comm. Martin J. Drury of Jamestown, R. I., in charge of damage control saved the ship. We had to have a bucket brigade of all hands to supplement the pumps and the men bailed without stopping for 48 hours. We steered 550 miles without a rudder."

Capt. Robinson said that Lieut. Hepburn A. Pearce of Boston took charge of a repair party and aided in checking the spread of fires and rescuing men and that Lieut. [junior grade] Francis G. Blasdel of Coronado, Cal., entered burning areas to find out what repairs were necessary.

Other men who were outstanding, the captain said, included Chief Boatswain Harvey M. Andersen of Chicago, and Frederick H. Ritter, chief electrician's mate, Bloomington, Ill.

CHICAGOAN'S STORY.

A Chicagoan who was aboard the Marblehead when it was severely bombed told his story last night. In an interview broadcast by W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system, Chief Boatswain Harvey M. Andersen said he was knocked off his feet by one bomb and that fragments of the missile fell on his foot. However, neither himself nor his crew were seriously hurt and they immediately went to work checking on the damage and bailing out, by hand, one of the flooded compartments.

"We never gave a thought to abandoning the ship," Andersen said. "There were plenty of men to bail, but it was a slow and tedious job."

Asked how he felt under a bombing attack, he replied: "You're just conscious that somebody's mad at you, but you go on and do your job. You always think 'it won't happen to me.'"

Doesn't Think Much of Japs.

Andersen, who said he had made several tours of duty in the orient, was asked what he thought of the Japanese. "They ain't sailor men!" he replied contemptuously.

Andersen is a native Chicagoan. His home is at 7606 North Bosworth avenue, where his wife, Ebba, and his sons, Paul, 14, and Harvey Jr., 12, have lived since they were evacuated from Shanghai 18 months ago.

Mrs. Andersen said her husband, now in New York, enlisted in 1919 at Great Lakes. She talked with him by telephone last Monday, she said, and he told her he recently was notified that he has been promoted to the rank of ensign. She said she last saw her husband for eight hours in Manila, when she and her sons were on their way back to the United States.

Andersen was graduated from the Haugen grammar school and the Carl Schurz High school in Chicago.

Two Naval Chiefs' Activities

Secretary Frank Knox of the American navy and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the British admiralty, figured in two news stories released yesterday. The dispatches follow:

Alexander

LONDON, May 8 (AP).—A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, canceled an address at Oxford tonight because "at present I am engaged on work of the greatest international importance."

Knox

Seattle, Wash., May 8 (AP).—"Have any of you boys a copy of the news story on the American naval engagement with the Japanese?" Secretary Knox asked as he opened a press conference at the Sand Point naval air station yesterday. Handed a copy of the dispatch, he commented:

"That was a good day's work."

More such attacks can be expected, he added emphatically.

52 Ship Survivors and Dog Mascot Land in Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, May 8.—Mickey, a 3 year old airdale, and fifty-two officers and crewmen of a medium sized merchantman sunk by torpedoes in the Caribbean a week ago have arrived here safely on a naval vessel.

CREW BATTLES U-BOAT 8 HOURS UNTIL SHIP SINKS

Four More U. S. Vessels Torpedoed; 55 Killed.

The submarine sinking of four more United States merchant ships in 157 American waters was disclosed yesterday after survivors had been landed at ports on the Atlantic coast. The attacks brought to 157 the number of vessels sunk since Pearl Harbor near American shores, with 966 dead, 1,212 missing and believed dead, and 4,806 rescued. Details of the new attacks follow:

BELIEVE SUB DISABLED

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, May 8 (AP).—Fifty survivors of an American merchant ship have arrived here and reported their gunners probably disabled one of three submarines which sank their vessel after an eight hour battle.

One member of the ship's gun crew said 12 shells were fired at two of the submarines. He said he believed two hits were scored. One gunner was slightly bruised in the torpedo explosion, but there was no other casualty. Most of the seamen were seasick during the 84 hours they spent in lifeboats before they were picked up by a patrol boat.

YOUTH STICKS TO POST

Key West, Fla., May 8 (AP).—A 19 year old radio operator, just out of maritime commission school and on his first voyage, and his captain, a veteran of the sea, became the heroes today of two United States merchant ship sinkings in the Caribbean that cost the lives of 55 men. Fourteen men survived the two sinkings.

Kenneth Morgan, 19, of Princeton, Ky., was the radio operator. When his ship was torpedoed and burst into flames he stuck to his wireless key, sending the SOS signal repeatedly until he was overcome by fumes in the smoke filled radio shack.

At the risk of his own life, Capt. Walter Reed of Oaklyn, N. J., went to find the youth and carried him to a lifeboat.

Fighting his way back aboard the damaged vessel, the captain found Raymond Limpo, mess boy from Manila, who was wandering directly into the flames as the smoke billowed about him, obscuring his vision. He, too, was led to the lifeboat.

The captain and his crew, just three hours earlier, had heard the blast that ignited the other merchantman, and had zigzagged in the early dusk in a vain attempt to escape. Capt. Reed, not sure whether he had been sighted, nevertheless broadcast a general radio warning.

"Even if it had not seen us," he said, "I felt it my duty to warn other ships of the subs' presence."

From the other ship, the four men who survived told how Preston Carpenter, 26, fireman from Beaumont, Tex., saved the life of a fellow Texan, Ralph Harris, able bodied seaman from Port Arthur, by supporting him in the water for more than three hours. Harris had suffered first degree burns and was near collapse.

Carpenter reported that there were two German submarines, and that both machine gunned crew members who fled to the forecastle trying to escape the raging flames.

Carpenter said he could see one large German submarine plainly, a large, black swastika painted on her conning tower, after his ship was hit.

"There was no rust on her," he said. "She was freshly painted. She looked as if she was just out of drydock."

13 SAIL 1,000 MILES

Norfolk, Va., May 8 (AP).—The story of a thousand mile 16 day voyage in a lifeboat that twice was swamped and once becalmed for four days was told here today by survivors of a torpedoed American cargo ship.

Thirteen of the ship's complement of 46 were brought ashore in Norfolk last night and 10 more from the same ship were landed today at the naval air station at Cape May, N. J. Naval authorities said two other lifeboats of survivors were landed at Boston more than a week ago, accounting for the entire crew.

Two torpedoes smashed into the vessel and it sank within 15 minutes, Third Mate Clarence T. Wells said. He described the submarine as "only about 150 or 200 feet long" and said it was too small to operate for any length of time without refueling from a mother ship or a land base.

Sub Crew Talks to Captain.

When the raider surfaced, he said the undersea craft drew alongside the captain's lifeboat while officers conversed with the captain, but Wells was unable to hear what was said.

The lifeboats became separated on the first night, and Wells' boat was forced to sail due south for five successive days because of heavy seas and strong winds. Then followed the five days of calm.

Seven of the 13 were hospitalized for treatment of swollen feet and two were ill from drinking sea water.

Land 34 from U. S. Ship.

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia, May 8 (AP).—Thirty-four crewmen of a United States ship which went down May 4 after being struck by three torpedoes from an axis submarine arrived here today. The entire crew of the sunken ship had been picked up by another United States ship.

MOVE TO UNITE WAR RELIEF AND CHARITY DRIVES

Leaders Expect to Raise 25 Million in Year.

Civic leaders who expect to direct campaigns to raise at least 25 million dollars for charity and war relief purposes during the next year, are moving for a consolidation of all fund raising drives, it was learned yesterday.

Guiding spirits in the Community Fund, Red Cross, Association of Commerce, Catholic and Jewish charities, United Service Organizations, and the large labor unions have discussed consolidation plans with Mayor Kelly at several recent conferences. More meetings are scheduled and definite action may be expected toward the end of June, when several current campaigns are concluded.

Several Plans Considered.

The fund raising leaders are considering several proposals. One of these would consolidate the Community Fund with all national and foreign war drives, leaving out only the Red Cross, which would conduct its own campaign as it always has.

A second proposal would join all foreign solicitations in one drive, still keep the Red Cross, by its own request separate, and then consolidate all American war campaigns into a third campaign.

A third plan would permit four separate drives—and no more—each year for the duration of the war: The Community Fund, the Red Cross, the United Service Organization, and all other emergency relief groups.

16 Million Raised This Year.

More than 15 million dollars was raised in Chicago for local charity and war relief last year. Campaign leaders expect the war relief demand alone will reach approximately that figure this year. Adding to this the 8 million or more which again will have to be provided for the Community Fund and its 186 member agencies, they say the total for the next year probably will be at least 25 millions.

Three American organizations and 29 foreign groups conducted separate fund raising drives in Chicago last year. This was in addition to the Community Fund and the agencies which draw only a part of their budget requirements from the fund.

Leaders say the frequently recurring drives have been wearing out the fund-raising volunteer workers as well as the patience and generosity of the vast army of contributors. The latter, they say, have begun to be bewildered.

Many Complaints Heard.

There is a chronic complaint about the duplication of effort, leadership, and workers, conflict in campaign dates and mystification of the contributors. Those directing recent drives say the contributors have reduced their donations in efforts to make available money spread over all the campaigns.

From 1,000 to 3,000 leaders and 50,000 voluntary helpers have been engaged almost constantly in the drives. The Community Fund campaign was hardly over last December when the first Red Cross drive was begun.

The Red Cross finished its campaign on March 15 and on April 1—just two weeks later—the Navy Relief Society, the United Service Organizations, United China Relief, and Russian War Relief, Inc., were asking for funds.

The same worker personnel has been engaged, generally, on all these drives and they will hardly have them completed by July, when the Community Fund will begin organizing its next drive, again with the same group of workers.

Plans of Other Cities.

Reports from Community Chests and Councils, Inc., indicate that community funds or chests in 200 cities will include USO in their 1942 campaigns.

Many cities are now going even further and combining other war relief drive groups with their local charity campaigns.

In Boston, the Greater Boston United War Fund, composed of drives of the local charities, the USO, Red Cross and a local soldiers' and sailors' club, raised $7,750,000 in two weeks.

Buffalo, N. Y., citizens organized the First War Appeals Review committee, then set up the United War and Community Fund, Inc., which includes the drives of the city's joint charities, the YMCA, USO, United China, Russian, Polish and Naval Relief organizations, to raise $1,470,000 in that city of 600,000 population. Buffalo's slogan for the combined drive is "We Give Once for All!"

Equitable Quotas Urged.

Similar organizations have been set up in Minneapolis, Pittsburgh, Pasadena, Cal., and many other cities. In all cities there is a demand for one national body, with a reviewing or budget committee to pass on quotas and attempt to make them equitable for all cities.

Mitchell McKeown, who for a dozen years or more has organized and directed Community Fund, Red Cross, British War Relief, and other campaigns in Chicago with marked success, strongly advocates consolidation of the drives, either under one or several heads.

NEARLY 8 MILLION SIGN FOR SUGAR BOOKS IN ILLINOIS

Complete sugar registration figures were missing in 18 downstate counties yesterday, but on the face of projected figures the state total for the four day period ending Thursday appeared to be in excess of 7,859,000 persons.

Henry Pope Jr., rationing administrator of the state defense council, said that the number of people who registered outside the Chicago area would exceed 3,500,000.

Registrations in many counties were ahead of the 1940 census figures. Among the counties expected to show population increases on the basis of the sugar registration figures are Champaign, Lake Madison, Winnebago, and Rock Island, according to Pope.

MISS ELINOR JOFFRE.

A war savings rally will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the Homewood village hall by residents of Homewood and five other communities of southern Cook county. The other communities are Flossmoor, Glenwood, Hazel Crest, Markham, and Olympia Fields.

A colorful program, including music, a play, and speaking, has been arranged. Among the singers will be Miss Elinor Joffre, 16 years old, youngest member of the Chicago Opera company, and Miss Shirley Dickinson, 19, also a member of the opera and a winner in the 1940 Chicagoland Music Festival. Story Turner also will be a soloist.

The play, "Mother Buys a Bond," will be directed by Mrs. H. D. Shaw. Speakers of the evening will be John Gallaher and Mrs. Ruth H. Peace, representatives of the treasury department.

MINUTE MEN GET READY TO PUSH WAR BOND DRIVE

Will Visit All Homes in Illinois.

Thousands of "Minute Men" yesterday were making last minute preparations for the drive which opens on Monday to sell United States war bonds and savings stamps to every person in Illinois who is on any pay roll or who has any income. The "Minute Men" are to visit every home and apartment in the state—about 1,000,000 in Chicago alone—during the three days of the drive.

About 6,000 "Minute Men" workers attended a rally last night in the Ashland Boulevard auditorium, Ashland boulevard and Van Buren street. Mayor Kelly spoke briefly and the group was entertained by stage stars, including Jimmy Durante, Dolly Kay, and Jackie Miles.

Certain of Reaching Goal.

The Illinois allotment for May in the campaign is $49,300,200. Norman B. Collins, state administrator, war savings staff, wired the treasury in Washington that he was certain the objective would be reached.

"Illinois will respond with the same spirit and energy it has always shown in times of national peril," Collins said. "Fresh in our minds is the sacrifice of many sons of our state in the glorious defense of Bataan and Corregidor and the loss of still more in other fields of action. In the name of these heroic men and the other Illinoisans engaged in the armed forces we here on the home front vow to play our part with all the dollars at our command."

Stage Stars Sell Bonds.

Loop crowds yesterday watched Speets Gallagher, Buddy Ebsen, Gayle Mellott, and Marlo Dwyer—stars of the Good Night Ladies cast—sell bonds and stamps at Victory Corner in the Sears Roebuck store at State and Van Buren streets. Other stars of stage, screen, and radio are to appear at the Victory Corner.

Benjamin H. Namm, chairman of the "Retailers for Victory" committee, telegraphed state, county, and local organizations enlisted by the retailers of the United States to aid the war effort that all retailers will take part in an intensive campaign during July to aid the war effort. He announced that G. Ray Schaeffer of Marshall Field & Co. has been named national chairman of the July campaign.

George Jessel and Sophie Tucker, famous stage stars, will sell bonds and stamps on the fifth floor of the Boston Store at 2 p. m. Monday.

FRANKIE PARKER FIGHTS TO AVOID YEAR IN PRISON

Frankie Parker.

Frankie Parker, former millionaire airplane bootlegger, yesterday began his fight to avoid serving a one year Illinois prison sentence for conspiracy to forge American Express company travelers checks before Judge Robert Jerome Dunne in Criminal court.

Judge Dunne said he would rule at 11 a. m. today on whether he has jurisdiction to decide Parker's contention that the state sentence, imposed May 11, 1939, was served during 19 months he has spent since in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth for counterfeiting. William Scott Stewart, Parker's attorney, said he is prepared to take action immediately before the state Supreme court if he is overruled.

Stewart said Parker surrendered because a state Supreme court mandate required him and George [Bugs] Moran, a co-defendant under the same sentence, to return to custody by May 12. Stewart said he understood Moran is now recovering from a broken leg.

Gets 3 Years for Refusing to Go to Anti-War Camp

Peoria, Ill., May 8 (AP).—Reed C. Morris of Vandalia, who said that he was a preacher for Jehovah's Witnesses and thus was exempt from draft regulations, was sentenced today to three years in prison by Federal Judge J. Leroy Adair for refusing to report to a conscientious objector camp.

WOMEN FLOCK FROM OFFICES INTO WAR TOIL

Work Harder, but It Helps to Victory, They Say.

(This is the second in a series of articles on Chicago's women in war industries, who are playing a great part in America's march to victory.)

BY MARCIA WINN.

Factory work is not easy. The hours are long. The work is repetitive. Pay generally depends on ability to produce, and ability to produce depends on muscular, manual, or visual dexterity.

A girl may stand eight hours at a milling machine—pull, jerk, plunge, pull, jerk, plunge. She may sit all day at a bench pushing metal objects back and forth across a piece of sandpaper. She may sit all day at an industrialized sewing machine, with her feet working a treadle, with her hands winding, glueing, and soldering copper armature wire thinner than the hair on her head.

Yet women with office jobs now are flocking to factories in the Chicago area to get war jobs. Some do it because of the better pay. Others do it because in such a job they feel they are playing a more definite part in the ultimate victory of America.

Helping Own Fighting Men.

In a sprawling plant on Chicago's south side 20 girls sit in a wire cage. Six months ago many of them were engaged in what they now term civilian enterprises. Others worked in the factory on automotive parts for peacetime use. Each of them now has a brother, husband, or sweetheart in the armed forces. Each wanted to do something she believed effective to the successful conduct of the war. They are inspecting 20 mm. shells which some day, somewhere, their fathers, husbands, or sweethearts may fire.

Some of the girls in this vast plant have been here for years, but their attitude has changed with war. A blue eyed young woman, her blonde head bowed over a 37 mm. shell, looked up to explain this change.

"This is a shell, see," running slender fingers that tapered into half inch carmine nails over its shining surface. "I'm giving it a visual inspection. I look for every defect, such as nicks on the body. I watch for the notch [a notch by which it is tightened] and the thread [for screws].

Feels Patriotic, She Says.

"I've been here eight years, but I've never done this before. You feel quite a bit different. I like it a lot better. We feel patriotic. When it was colder that girl down there wore a red sweater, the one in the middle wore a white one, and I wore blue. We called ourselves the flag at work." She gestured toward a patriotic printed handkerchief in her pocket. "Sometimes," she added, "I wear a Pearl Harbor pin, too."

In the next hall Angeline, a Polish girl whose wide, fringed blue eyes shine behind the safety goggles every employé wears, operates a milling machine. She is paid by the piece rather than by the hour. That way she makes more. Watch her go thru her 12 motion routine to cut a shallow groove in a heavy metal part for a large coast artillery shell: One movement to push it under the cutter, a jerk of a handle to tighten it, a sharp rap with a tool, a jerk on the cutter, another rap with the tool, a swoop to retrieve it, three movements to dry it on a piece of chamois, a brisk rub across a smoothing belt, a squirt of air from a hose—and she starts on another.

Grooves 1,500 Shell Parts a Day.

"I do about 1,500 a day," she says proudly. "You have to keep your eyes open, believe me. You can't go to sleep. But I like it. I've been doing it for two months. Before that I was on inspection a year. Before that I was a salesgirl in a dime store.

"My boy friend," hesitantly, "worked in the inspection line here. He enlisted in the navy last Wednesday. Maybe he'll use some of these things."

Girls now compose a sixth of the working force in this huge plant. All are in uniform—a smartly tailored slack suit of deep blue with a billowing visored cap of stiff blue crinoline to enclose their hair. As one girl explained, "We always know what we are going to wear at work the next day. It saves a lot of time just thinking." Girls operating machines must wear short sleeves and may wear no jewelry. As a result of these precautions, the plant has had only one serious accident in 13 years.

Girls Take Up Heavier Work.

Gradually the plant is breaking in girls to do heavier work. Here, for instance, is one great hall where girls handle fuses for a heavy caliber artillery shell used in coast defense. Ordinarily, only men would work on them. Now girls operate both single and multiple drill presses and do all the inspection work, using more than 100 separate gauges to insure accuracy.

The supervisor of women, a charming young woman who rose from the assembly line to her present position, pauses in a long empty hall and gestures toward long rows of silent drill presses. "A month from now," she says, "we'll have girls at every one of those machines." New war contracts, she explains, call for the employment of many hundred additional girls.

The plant has no age limit, but usually employs young girls, high school graduates, whom it can train.

Former Dental Assistant.

Over in one corner, however, engrossed in what seems to be a fast buttering of thin patties, is a tranquil blonde girl, tall and immaculate, who was a dental assistant until a month ago. She was a highly trained technician. Now she spends eight hours a day applying a greasy compound to discs of steel.

"At first it was hard," she confess, "but I'd do it again. I had two reasons, I suppose. One was to make more money. The other was that I'm helping defense."

At the end of the same row a little brunette with great brown eyes inspects the round steel containers into which the buttered discs have been transformed. These, she proudly reveals, eventually will be "boosters," a part which help explode demolition bombs. Six weeks ago she was in training to be a nurse and had completed a year and a half of training.

Already she has had two good offers of outside jobs, but she won't leave. "I like it," she says flatly. Moreover, she likes the late shift—3:30 to 11:30 p. m. [In this plant girls do not work the night shift of 11:30 p. m. to 7:30 a. m.] "It gives you a lot of the day free and for yourself," she smiles.

The girls' greatest usefulness here, as in other defense factories, lies in inspection, that field demanding a quick eye and a light touch. In one hall great vats of brass, steel, and copper parts are on the floor awaiting inspection by long rows of girls. These are parts for 20 mm. guns, made here, and for a transmission used in the 28 ton medium tanks made nearby. Each gun has 77 parts, transmission 88. Each part receives a meticulous inspection.

Guard Against Slip in Inspection.

Inspectors, incidentally, are paid by the hour rather than by the piece, for a desire for haste might cause a zealous worker to overlook the paramount necessity for careful work.

Everywhere the work these women do is delicate and detailed. Here a row of girls operate drill presses which make 1-16 of an inch holes in screws for 20 mm. guns, composed solely of high precision parts. Here a room of girls assemble magnetos for army tanks and trucks—wind the armature, a delicate and ardous task which requires three months' training; tape it, seal it, paint it, and insulate it. Here long rows of girls assemble roller bearings for army tanks, one of the swiftest assembly lines in the plant. Pause a moment and watch a blonde girl, Rose, as she inserts rollers in the steel bearing case which looks like an empty jelly mold. She works with both hands, moving the left as rapidly and precisely as the right—lift roller, insert, adjust into position, lift, insert, adjust. A bearing will take from 13 to 22 rollers, depending on size. She has 200 bearings filled and on their way in an hour.

Nurse Examines Girls Weekly.

This plant, now half of its efforts directed toward war productivity, takes good care of its woman employés. A registered nurse, one of three in the plant dispensary, goes thru every department once a week to see if any girl has skin eruptions caused by oil or metal dust. All the girls use a protective cream on their hands and arms, but lack of proper care may permit eruptions. In the summer they are given salt tablets [for the heat] and head bands to control perspiration. A long hall, pale green and cream, has been outfitted as their lunchroom. Most of the girls bring their lunches and eat it here, augmenting their cold sandwiches with hot soup, coffee, and milk. That eaten, they hurry to the far end of the hall to play 10 minutes at the ping-pong and game tables.

Trooping in at noon in their gay blue slacks, their voices rising in merry clamor, the general impression is one of alert, intelligent youth and health. It is an invigorating and hopeful vignette from the national panorama of America's women at war.

WAR CUTS STATE TAXES FROM CAR DEALERS 68.8 PCT.

Further Declines Feared as Restrictions Spread.

Altho Illinois sales tax revenues generally have increased since the war began, curtailment of certain occupations by Washington, has resulted in severe reductions in returns from certain lines of business. Officials of the department of finance fear further declines as restrictions spread.

George B. McKibbin, director of finance, said yesterday that while tax collections were higher by an average of 24.4 per cent during December, January, and February than in the same months of the preceding year, returns from motor vehicle dealers, for example, fell 68.8 per cent.

Most Severely Hit.

The auto dealers are the most severely hit to date, with second place held by the allied garage and repair shop owners, whose business reflects a 30.5 per cent drop in sales tax. Shoe and harness repairmen, inexplicably enough, are third, recording a 14.6 per cent decline. Dealers in farmers' supplies come next, with a 5.4 per cent drop.

Least adversely affected are the variety 5 and 10 to a $1 stores, who have found only a 2.1 per cent reduction in their tax payments.

"The impact of the rationing program hasn't been felt yet," Director McKibbin added, "but the figures on the auto dealers seem to be indicative of what will happen. We anticipate heavy declines in returns from heating and plumbing dealers, from electric appliance, and hardware shops. By fall I think we will get a good idea of the trends."

The retailers registering the highest percentage gains in February were dealers in scientific and medical instruments and supplies. They experienced an increase of 100.5 per cent in taxes. Opticians and optometrists found their business up to the extent of paying 88.6 per cent more taxes; owners of second hand stores, 59.5 per cent; saloon keepers and refreshment stand operators, 48.9 per cent.

Clothiers Pay More.

Clothing store business was such as to require payment of 38.4 per cent more taxes. Those dealing in shoes paid 37.7 per cent more.

The state treasury now contains about $30,000,000 in unpledged funds, Director McKibbin said, as the result of an underestimation of probable sales tax returns.

Whatever revenue problems the state may face as the result of rationing may be complicated by the administration's desire to secure approval of a constitutional amendment in November which would give the legislature the power to remove the sales tax from food purchases. The sales tax on food now brings in about $30,000,000 annually.

CONTRIBUTES $100 OF INJURY AWARD TO HELP OTHERS

Hard knocks may prove fortunate ones for others, as in the case of Daniel Hunter, unemployed Negro and father of four children, who was able yesterday to make a $100 contribution to the United Charities of Chicago as the result of receiving $5,000 for injuries suffered when a tile entrance of his home at 3209 South Park way collapsed on his head in September, 1940.

After suing his landlord for injuries, Hunter received the money on April 29 and spent the next week paying doctor and lawyer bills.

Then yesterday, with two $50 bills clutched in his hand, he walked into the South Central office of the charities to contribute $100 of the $2,400 that remained. Mrs. Leila Barton, case worker at the south side office, reported: "We had been helping the Hunters since January when Mr. Hunter was so ill that he had to give up his regular work as a molder. Today he came in to tell us he would need no more aid. Then he handed me two $50 bills."

31 ARE SWORN IN FOR TRAINING AT SHIPPING SCHOOL

Thirty-one young men between 18 and 30 years old from the Chicago area were sworn in for training in the maritime service yesterday at 53 West Jackson boulevard. They will be sent to a seamanship school in New York, where they will be trained for three months to qualify as ordinary seamen. The school is under jurisdiction of the coast guard.

Three hundred twenty men from the Chicago area have been sent to maritime training centers by the service since Jan. 1.

Chicago's youngest naval aviation cadet was sworn in by the naval flight cadet selection board at the Board of Trade building. He is Duane Willhard, 18 years old, 2715 Giddings street. Willhard was graduated from the Amundsen High school last June. He will be sent to a naval air training field next month.

WOMAN IS FOUND HANGED.

Mrs. Anna Soloman, 40 years old, 1508 East 54th place, was found hanged yesterday in the bathroom of her home.

DESPERATE AXIS MAY ATTACK U. S. COAST—WALLACE

Foresees Final Gamble to Avert Defeat.

New York, May 8 (AP).—Vice President Wallace, predicting the axis would strike a "last desperate blow" this summer, said tonight that this might include a Japanese attack on Alaska and the northwest United States coast with a simultaneous German uprising in Latin America.

The Vice President said in an address at a dinner of the Free World association here that this country must look for "the worst kind of fifth column work in Latin America, much of it operating thru the agency of governments with which the United States at present is at peace."

"When I say this," he added, "I recognize that the peoples both of Latin America and of the nations supporting the agencies thru which the fifth columnists work are overwhelmingly on the side of the democracies."

He did not name the nations to which he referred.

Predicts Desperate Blow.

Hitler knows, Wallace went on, that the United States is winning the battle of production and the German leader, "like the prize fighter who realizes he is on the verge of being knocked out, is gathering all of his remaining forces for one last desperate blow."

Then, predicting this blow would come in the critical summer months, he declared:

"We may be sure that Hitler and Japan will coöperate to do the unexpected—perhaps an attack by Japan against Alaska and our northwest coast at a time when German transport planes will be shuttled across from Dakar to furnish leadership and stiffening to a German uprising in Latin America."

Calls Laval a Quisling.

Wallace apparently referred to reports that the Vichy government might openly permit use of French African territory by axis forces. At one point in his remarks the Vice President classified Pierre Laval, collaborationist Vichy chieftain, as on a par with Norway's Quisling and Italy's Mussolini as aides of Hitler, adding:

"Is there any hell hotter than that of being a Quisling, unless it is that of being a Laval or a Mussolini?"

Wallace warned that a "psychological and sabotage offensive" in the United States and Latin America was likely to be timed with an anticipated axis military offensive.

"The convulsive efforts of the dying madman," he continued, "will be so great that some of us may be deceived into thinking that the situation is bad at a time when it is really getting better. But in the case of most of us, the events of the next few months, disturbing tho they may be, will only increase our will to bring about complete victory in this war of liberation."

Has Confidence in People.

Praising the "remarkable job" being done by business and labor in the war production effort, Wallace said he was confident the American people would "joyously deny ourselves" so there might be a 30 per cent improvement in transportation.

In this connection, he outlined four duties which he said must be carried out to win the four freedoms outlined by President Roosevelt. He listed these as:

"1. The duty to produce to the limit.

"2. The duty to transport as rapidly as possible to the field of battle.

"3. The duty to fight with all that is in us.

"4. The duty to build a peace—just, charitable, and enduring."

PARENTS FREED OF CHARGES IN DEATH OF BABY

Charges of child abandonment and child delinquency against the parents of 7 week old Kathy Ann Johnson, who was deserted in a New York department store April 2 and who died here Tuesday, were dismissed by Judge John J. Griffin in Felony court yesterday.

"This case died with the child," Judge Griffin told the grief stricken couple, Kenneth Johnson, 25, and his wife, Marie, 21.

Physicians said malnutrition was a factor in the death of Kathy Ann, who was in charge of New York welfare agencies until last Saturday.

$2 WEEKLY RAISE OFFERED TO MILK WAGON DRIVERS

Union Leaders Promise Reply Monday.

Indications that the Associated Milk Dealers of Chicago and the Milk Wagon Drivers' union might reach an agreement soon on a new wage scale were seen last night when the dealers offered the drivers a flat $2 a week increase in wages and the union negotiators promised to reply Monday and tell then whether their executive committee would recommend this to the membership.

The union, which is affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, had demanded a $5 raise and a change in their commission rate on milk delivered to stores. Under the proposal last night, which was made at the request of John W. Cofer, a federal conciliator, the commissions are to remain unchanged.

Calls Offer Generous.

Paul Potter, executive director of the dealers, said that the offer of his organization was generous.

"We have been informed that the ceiling on retail milk prices will be at the level of March," he said. "But there is no ceiling on farm milk prices and we do not know now and won't know soon what costs we must absorb."

The retail milk price now is a half cent a quart less than the March figure—15 cents for home delivery and 12 cents in stores. The farm price, under government formula, is to go up in July.

Continue Removal Protest.

Another development in teamster affairs was disclosed last night. It was learned that a committee of the Teamsters Joint council, which has protested the removal of Leslie G. Goudie as international organizer in the Chicago area, will ask the council Tuesday for permission to present the matter to the executive board of the IBT. Goudie has been the council president for 14 years.

The original protest delivered to Daniel J. Tobin, the international president, who dismissed Goudie "because his health was bad." Goudie's comment was that he didn't feel ill. Tobin has made no reply to the committee.

Will Continue Rule

San Francisco, Cal., May 8 (AP).—President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines arrived with his family and executive staff today after a surprise voyage across the Pacific from Australia.

Secretary of Interior Ickes said in Washington that President Quezon would set up headquarters for the Philippine commonwealth government in the national capital.

"I have repeated over and over," Mr. Quezon said, "that the Philippines will stand by the United States to the bitter end. Thank God the facts proved I was right, and that we still are standing by the United States. I am proud of the way the Filipino soldiers have conducted themselves in battle."

President Quezon will rest here before proceeding to Washington to meet President Roosevelt. He was met here by Dr. Oscar L. Chapman, assistant secretary of the interior, and Lieut. Gen. J. L. Dewitt, head of the western defense command.

CONSIDER USING CITY PARKS FOR CADET TRAINING

The group of air force officers which was here recently surveying Chicago's hotels with a view of buying or leasing several for reception centers for 20,000 air corps cadets also investigated the possibility of using Chicago's parks for classes and drill fields, it was learned yesterday.

Robert H. Dunham, president of the park district, said the officers were taken on a tour of the parks and were particularly interested in Grant park and the Montrose extension of Lincoln park.

"I told them the park district will coöperate 100 per cent with any program they have in mind," Dunham said. "I explained the softball diamonds in Grant park are used at noon and in the evening by leagues of loop workers and the officers said their program would not interfere with such activity."

The officers who made the survey were headed by Maj. Richard Daley, who has returned to Miami, Fla.

ALLMAN CALLS FOR ADDITION OF 125 POLICEMEN

Commissioner Allman yesterday called for 125 more new policemen in a requisition filed with the civil service commission. He said more men are needed because of the drain on personnel of the military services and retirement. At present, 143 Chicago policemen are in the services.

The 125 men will be taken from the top of the last police list, posted in 1937. They will be instructed to report next Friday morning at the civil service health office in the board of health building, Dearborn street and Austin avenue.

The 1937 police list originally carried 3,264 eligibles. About 2,000 now remain. The new call for 125 men raises to 250 the number called for by Allman since Jan. 1.

POLICEMAN CITED AFTER GUN FIGHT WITH 4 BANDITS

Policeman Perry Tolby of the Woodlawn station, was cited for bravery by a coroner's jury yesterday for alone battling four bandits during a robbery in a tavern at 6441 South Austin avenue on Wednesday. Tolby shot and fatally wounded one of the men, John Drake, 19 years old, of Summit, and wounded and captured another, Edwin Zubuor, also 19, of 5408 South Nordica avenue. The two others escaped. The coroner's jury, directed by Deputy Eugene F. Ingles, pronounced the killing of Drake justifiable homicide.

BANDITS RAID DAIRY, GET $450. Two bandits yesterday held up the offices of the Lambrecht Creamery company, 3757 North Clark street, ordered the manager, Martin Meyers, to empty the cash drawers and escaped with $450.

Note Found in Car Tells of Leap; River Dragged

Havana, Ill., May 8 (AP).—Mason county authorities dragged the Illinois river today after this note was found in the automobile of Al Cordell, 70 years old: "I jumped in river; please put my car in garage." The car was found near the east approach to the bridge. Cordell formerly operated a taxi line here.

MANDEL BROTHERS

WHEELER BLASTS WICKARD LAXITY IN RUBBER CRISIS

Failure to Utilize Farm Surpluses Assailed.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 8.—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] charged at a senate agriculture subcommittee hearing today that Secretary of Agricuture Claude R. Wickard has been "asleep at the switch" in failing to promote the use of surplus farm commodities for the production of synthetic rubber.

Wheeler made this accusation after Wickard had recommended use of 80 million bushels of surplus wheat and corn for the production of 200 million gallons of alcohol, which in turn would produce 220,000 tons of butadiene, enough for approximately 240,000 tons of synthetic rubber.

Wickard said supplies of wheat and corn are sufficient to expand rubber production "by many times that amount," but this would require expansion of existing processing facilities.

RFC Program Described.

While Wickard was testifying in the agriculture subcommittee's investigation of possibilities for using surplus farm commodities in the production of war materials, Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones told the senate banking and currency committee the Reconstruction Finance corporation and its subsidiaries have made commitments of 700 million dollars for construction of synthetic rubber plants with an annual capacity of 800,000 tons a year, which "should come into production during 1942 and 1943."

Other administration officials, notably Price Administrator Leon Henderson, have contended Jones is unduly optimistic about the synthetic rubber program.

Department's Delay Cited.

Sen. Wheeler told Wickard the department of agriculture is "wide open to criticism" because of its delay in attempting to develop uses of surplus farm commodities for synthetic rubber production. He said there will be "hell to pay" unless the department of agriculture goes to the War Production board and gets priority orders for the critical materials needed to build processing plants. Wickard insisted the department is doing everything it can.

Sen. George Norris [Ind., Neb.] asked Wickard whether the large industrial alcohol companies have attempted to block the proposal to produce industrial alcohol from grain. Wickard replied that "there is quite a lot of resistance somewhere."

Norris alluded to reports that the large industrial alcohol companies, which make their alcohol from molasses, thereby curtailing the production of sugar, are opposed to the development of a competing grain alcohol industry.

Hailed as Farm Solution.

Sen. Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], chairman of the subcommittee conducting the investigation, contends the use of grain to produce industrial alcohol for explosives and synthetic rubber would solve the farm surplus problem, alleviate the sugar shortage, and assure an adequate supply of synthetic rubber tires for both military and civilian requirements.

Wickard testified that the agriculture department's work on possible rubber substitutes has been centered in the Peoria, Ill., regional research laboratory and that "much progress is being made."

He said stocks of wheat and corn are plentiful, the wheat supply being the largest in history. It is likely, he added, that thousands of bushels of wheat will be lost thru lack of suitable storage space He estimated that we shall start the new crop year July 1 with a wheat carryover of 630 million bushels and that when this year's crop comes in we shall have a total of almost 1½ billion bushels, enough to meet all normal needs for about two years.

Practice Well Established.

Wickard said the manufacture of ethyl alcohol from grain is a well established commercial process and such alcohol has been used in Russia, Poland, Germany, and other countries for the production of butadiene, from which synthetic rubber is made.

Altho the RFC has made an allocation for the production of butadiene from ethyl alcohol, most of the butadiene for the RFC financed rubber program is to be made from petroleum.

Jones testified in support of a bill to increase the lending capacity of the RFC by 5 billion dollars. He said the RFC and its subsidiaries already have authorized war expenditures of more than 13 billion dollars.

Principal Items Listed.

Among the principal items in the program, he added, are 1 billion 912 million for aircraft plants, 360 million for magnesium plants, 700 million for synthetic rubber plants, 734 million for an expansion of the steel industry, 468 million for ordnance plants, and 182 million for shipyards.

Jones said these expenditures will provide plant capacity to increase the annual production of aluminum to 2 billion 100 million pounds, as against 300 million pounds two years ago and 540 million pounds one year ago; to increase magnesium production to 600 million pounds a year, as against 33 million pounds a year ago; to increase synthetic rubber production to 800,000 tons a year, as against 25,000 tons at present, and to increase the steel production capacity by more than 10 million tons a year.

Jones said the RFC had contracted to buy 1 billion 370 million pounds of aluminum from Canada and that the aluminum capacity, including imports from Canada, already had reached approximately 1 billion pounds a year.

Official Cars Still Do Social Circuit.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 8.—Washington officials, some of whom participated in the fixing of a 2 to 3 gallon a week gasoline ration for the public, are not practicing what they preach on the use of automobiles.

Not one high ranking official is known to be sharing his limousine, much less giving it up, to save gas and tires, altho the public has been told that to fail to share your car is to give aid and comfort to the enemy.

There are 2,900 federal vehicles in Washington which are purchased with tax dollars. In this number are many gas devouring limousines used by higher officials.

One Dignitary Per Car.

At the end of the day at almost any government building there are dozens of limousines, their motors idling, waiting to pick up dignitaries whose rank gives them a car. At some buildings a dozen limousines each take a single passenger and go on their way.

At the same buildings passers-by see four and five workers pile into one car to save gas and tires. Workers have widely adopted the practice of forming driving clubs under which each member uses his car one day a week in driving five members to and from the office. So far no officials have formed such clubs.

Washington was treated to a parade of officials riding in solitary grandeur yesterday when Emanuel Prado, president of Peru, arrived for an official visit. He was met at Bolling field by President Roosevelt, members of the cabinet, high ranking army and navy officers, and other dignitaries.

Keep Motors Running.

The welcoming celebrities arrived from 15 minutes to a half hour before Prado stepped from his airplane. The motors of many of these cars were kept idling, eating gas while they waited. Among the cars so idling were White House cars.

While officials were preparing to limit the average automobile user to two or three gallons per week on the eastern seaboard, it was indicated that officials will find plenty of gas for their gas eaters.

Altho no official decision has been made, it was learned that the matter of rationing gas to federal officials probably will be left up to rationing boards. Since officials appoint the rationing boards, it was generally believed that officials aren't worrying.

Wives Use Cars Too.

During the day when the official is not using his car, his wife rides in solitary grandeur to various teas and afternoon social functions. In the evening the car gets harder wear, both husband and wife using it on social rounds.

Some officials refuse to take a cab —no official would dream of walking —from their office to lunch at a hotel or club, but have their car call for them at the lunch hour and bring them back for the afternoon's work.

GAMBLING QUIZ BRINGS CLOSING OF TWO TAVERNS

Warren avenue police yesterday closed the Aeroplane inn, a tavern at 1900 Lake street, owned by Big Jim Martin, Nego political boss and alleged policy king on the west side. They also closed a tavern at 2421 Lake street, reputedly owned by Ruby Gatewood, also colored, whose husband, John, is a political figure. Both Gatewoods have been mentioned in policy racket investigations.

The closings were ordered by Commissioner Allman. He had no comment. On April 13, however, State's Attorney Courtney called upon the mayor to revoke the licenses of both places in connection with his grand jury investigation of gambling.

Chicago avenue police arrested four men in raids on alleged handbooks at 430 and 532 North Clark street. Those arrested were Alexander Biel, Joseph Marino, Ben Hintz, and Philip Cooper.

Earlier in the day Albert Gold was fined $300 by Judge Julius Miner in the Criminal court on a charge of malicious mischief. It was charged he tampered with telephone wires in the gambling syndicate's quarters in the Blum building at 624 South Michigan avenue in such a way as to defraud the telephone company. The place was raided last Dec. 5.

Last of 'Flower Pots'

Old 17, last of the flowerpot fire engines, refurbished and glowing, was put on display in the Museum of Science and Industry yesterday. Present were many fire officials of the present day and several of the old times when the horse drawn boilers were in their glory. Old 17, the pride of 1902, had important rôles in the Iroquois and the stockyards fires. Present to demonstrate the ancient pumper was Fred Guttensohn, retired fireman who now lives at 1115 South Taylor avenue, Oak Park, the man who built the last fire in 17. It was found in a barn at McHenry.

THE QUESTION.

What was one of the most unusual or interesting incidents that happened in your work? [Asked of animal keepers.]

WHERE ASKED.

Lincoln Park zoo.

THE ANSWERS.

Harvey Carlisle, 704 North avenue —A little boy tossed a football into the elephant cage. The elephant tossed it around with his trunk and tried to crush it by stepping on it. Then he tried to bite it. A little later I was called to remove a football from his throat.

Edgar L. Robinson, 1715 Berwyn avenue—It was quite a stunt to weigh our gorilla friend, Bushman, the last time. It had been four years since he'd been on a scale and the last time we had to lure him up with food. He weighed 412 pounds.

Carl V. Strasser, 1631 Melrose avenue—Whenever a new baby animal arrives it's always an event. The last one, an 8 ounce monkey, was born on the first day of spring. I've had complete care of this one from the beginning and have enjoyed playing day nurse and doctor.

Steve Williamson, 1454 Wellington avenue—It was quite a revelation to me to discover what a coward one of our ferocious looking lions really was. I walked past his cage with the club in my hand and he ran and cowered in the corner. Discipline was an easy matter after that.

Richard Reichert, 733 West 61st place—At first the 23 foot python wouldn't touch a bite of food. We put a strong leather lasso around his neck and 15 or 20 men would hang onto him while we forced the ground rabbit and beef into a hose in his mouth. After six months he ate of his own accord.

George Irving, 1619 Morse avenue—A new man in the birdhouse came rushing in—all excited about the ostriches. He said there was something drastically wrong. I rushed over with him and he speechlessly pointed at the male ostrich setting on the eggs. He didn't know that was the custom.

MOVIE SLAYER DENIED SECOND DELAY IN TRIAL

A second continuance of the trial of Clarence McDonald, 17 years old, for the loop theater slaying of Dorothy Broz, 17, was denied yesterday by Judge Robert Jerome Dunne in Criminal court. The case is scheduled to open Monday. Defense Attorney Donald D. Rogers, who was granted a week's delay last Monday, asked a second continuance to give him time to obtain more school records and alienists' reports. He also said he wants to get a print of the movie "Hellzapoppin" to show in court. The movie was one of the two on the program at the Palace theater when the shooting occurred Feb. 24.

HOUSE IS URGED TO COMPROMISE HIGH TAX RATES

Would Aid Large Group Under $5,000.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 8.—A compromise income tax bill, modifying the tremendous surtaxes proposed by the treasury but including lowered personal exemptions which will bring nearly 7,000,000 more wage earners into the taxpaying group, is under consideration by the house ways and means committee, it was learned tonight.

The new surtaxes, explained to the committee in executive session today by Colin Stam, head of a staff of tax experts, would range from 11 per cent for net income up to $2,000 to 80 per cent for top incomes. The treasury had suggested rates starting at 12 per cent for the first $500 of net income up to 20 per cent for $2,000 incomes and a top rate of 86 per cent. Yesterday Secretary Morgenthau urged lowering of personal exemptions.

Easier on Middle Incomes.

The Stam plan would raise about 2 billions, which is less than half that under the latest treasury plan. This saving would be shared mainly by those in the $5,000-$25,000 group who were hit hardest under the treasury plan.

The surtax rates under present law range from 6 per cent to 77 per cent. All taxpayers therefore face heavy increases in their levies, no matter what plan the committee adopts.

Stam's plan contemplated retention of the individual income tax exemption of $1,500 for a married couple, $750 for a single person, and $400 for each child or dependent. But sentiment is growing in the committee in favor of the lowering of these exemptions to $1,200, $600, and $300, respectively, as proposed yesterday by Morgenthau. Adoption of this plan would make up a billion of the approximately 2 billion lost by the lowering of surtax rates.

May Increase Normal Tax.

The Stam plan is also understood to embrace an increase in the normal tax from 4 to 6 per cent. But the surtax rates are those which build up the income tax bill and far surpass the normal rate which only three years ago was the only rate imposed on the bulk of incomes.

Committee members said that a married man with a $3,000 net income before exemptions would pay $255 under the Stam proposal. He pays $138 under the present law and would pay $357 under the latest treasury proposal. A married man with $10,000 net income whose taxes would have been $2,400 under the treasury's original proposal and nearly $3,000 under Morgenthau's reduced exemptions plan would pay about $1,800 under the Stam plan.

The committee is also considering retention of the earned income credit of 10 per cent which the treasury proposed to eliminate.

Sales Tax Probable.

Eventual approval of a national sales tax on all commodities with a few exceptions such as medicines, etc., is conceded by a majority of committee members. Chairman Robert L. Doughton, [D., N. C.], said a vote on this tax would probably be delayed until toward the end of the committee's consideration.

"If we haven't raised enough new revenue, we will probably have to adopt a sales tax," said Doughton.

Secretary Morgenthau asked the committee on March 3 for increased income, corporation, estate, gift and excise taxes yielding seven billions, 610 millions in additional revenue. He increased that total to 8 billions 710 millions when he suggested reducing personal exemptions.

ORDERS REPORTS ON ROAD COSTS IN 3 TOWNSHIPS

Assistant State's Attorney Jacob Shamberg sent letters yesterday to a woman township highway commissioner and two former commissioners demanding detailed reports of their expenditures of highway funds. The letters added that "appropriate action will be taken" if the reports are not made within five days to Maj. George Quinlan, county highway superintendent.

Shamberg wrote to Mrs. Mabel J. Ayers, 3035 Lake avenue, Wilmette, highway commissioner for New Trier township; Edward E. Bochmann, 2022 Grove street, Blue Island, former commissioner of Calumet township, and Robert Tropf, 1812 South 8th avenue, Maywood, former commissioner of Proviso township. He said the three had been under investigation for some time and had not heeded Quinlan's request for information as to how the funds were spent, for what purposes and on what highways.

2 SCHOOLBOYS SAVE 2 MEN IN CAPSIZED SLOOP

Two Evanston High school boys late yesterday saved George A. Quinlan, Cook county superintendent of highways, and Jevne Haugan, national secretary of the Military Training Camps association, from possible drowning. The men were in a 20 foot sloop, which was struck by a sudden gust of wind and capsized two miles off Wilmette harbor. Quinlan and Haugan both live in Wilmette, the former at 211 Greenleaf avenue, the latter at 946 Spanish court.

The boys who went to their rescue were Roger Friske, 17 years old, of 2410 Harrison street, Evanston, and George Rhods, 16, of 3125 Park avenue. The youths saw the Quinlan craft turn over when they were sailing several blocks away in their 26 foot sailboat. They at once drew alongside and helped the two men into their craft. The coastguard from Wilmette harbor also put out and took the two men aboard, towed their boat into the harbor, and gave them hot coffee.

MUST RETURN CHILD'S PET DOG OR GO TO JAIL

If John Sarna can locate the little white Spitz he stole from 2 year old Carol Joyce Valenta, and sold for a glass of beer, he will be a free man.

If he can't or doesn't, he will go to jail for six months—unless he goes A. W. O. L. on Municipal Judge Leon Edelman. The judge, with the threat to send John to jail for six months unless he finds the dog he sold for a beer, put John on probation to look for the animal yesterday.

Carol lives at 2346 South Homan avenue. John Sarna, who lives at 2343 South Whipple street, admitted taking the dog, but in court couldn't remember to whom he sold it. When the six months in the County jail was mentioned, he changed his mind and said he might be able to find the purchaser if he were free to look. So the court set him free temporarily.

GAS TRAPS FOUR IN ILLINOIS COAL MINE; 15 ESCAPE

Springfield, Ill., May 8 (AP).—Four men were trapped tonight in mine No. 1 of the Superior Coal company at Eagerville, near Gillespie, when gas from the adjacent Old Gillespie mine burst thru a wall into the newer shaft where 19 men were working. Fifteen men reached the surface safely.

The fate of the four men was not determined. A rescue squad went down the shaft, but since rescuers must work without lights because of the gas it was expected the rescue might require hours.

The trapped men were Frank de St. Jean, Benld; Frank Bertanolli, Joe Redolfi, and Paul Edmundson, all of Gillespie.

Hudson River Tube Tied Up by Derailment of Train

Jersey City, N. J., May 8 (AP).—A New York bound Hudson and Manhattan railroad train was derailed today at the height of the morning commuters' rush, halting all movement on the Hudson river tube between New Jersey and uptown New York. The train carried only a few passengers, the railroad said. No one was injured. The road said the cause of the accident was not determined.

GASOLINE RATION FIXED AT '2 OR 3' GALLONS A WEEK

9 Million Auto Owners in East Hit.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 8.—Price Administrator Leon Henderson testified before the house interstate commerce committee today that gasoline rationing in seaboard states starting next Friday will allow nonessential autos [about one third of the total] "between two and three gallons a week, probably nearer two." The exact amount is to be fixed before car owners register for fuel tickets Tuesday.

Owners of the other two thirds of the passenger cars are to receive larger allotments, depending upon their mileage of essential travel. Included in the definition of essential travel is transportation between home and work if no other means of transportation is available.

9 Million Owners Affected.

Henderson explained there will be limitations on purchases for trucks and for other vehicles readily identified as commercial haulers. Physicians' cars, taxicabs, buses and tractors are among those with no curb on gas consumption.

The estimated 9 million car owners, on registering for the ration, will report how many miles they drive in connection with their jobs. Henderson said that in accordance with these representations tickets will be issued that will be good for about 22 gallons, or 30 gallons, or 38 gallons a week. But for those with no business mileage there'll be less than 3 gallons a week.

"It's an honor system," Henderson testified. "It's being invoked hastily due to acute shortages of petroleum deliveries to the seaboard. We'll be ready for a permanent gasoline ration program, effective July 1, in areas where there are shortages. The permanent system will be operated thru local rationing boards."

The tremendous impact of the rationing on the tourist business in the eastern states was indicated when Henderson warned that vacationing visitors would have to register and be subject to the same restrictions as residents. If they come purely for pleasure, they'll get only the ration allotted to nonessential cars.

Henderson told the house committee that as far as the driver of a nonessential car is concerned "he's getting a damn sight more than he's entitled to in view of the situation."

Different System in Canada.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8 (AP).—Motorists in the eastern United States whose gasoline will be rationed beginning May 15 will join their Canadian neighbors, whose fuel has been parcelled out since April 1. Under Canada's system, motorists are allowed between 300 and 380 gallons a year.

QUINTS UNLIKELY FOR BRITISH WIFE, DOCTOR ASSERTS

Says X-Ray Shows Three, Maybe Four.

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABINGDON, England, May 8.—Hopes that fair haired 28 year old Mrs. Emily Woodley would rival Mrs. Oliva Dionne by presenting her soldier husband with quintuplets were dismissed today as wishful thinking by her 31 year old physician, Dr. J. H. Fisher, and the matron of Warren hospital here.

They said that X-ray examinations disclosed only three babies definitely and a possible fourth.

Nevertheless, Abingdon townsfolk and the 400 villagers of Culham, a Thames river hamlet where Mrs. Woodley and her husband, Arthur, live at the Lion inn owned by her father, Frank Whitehead, are reluctant to accept this scientific analysis. The husband has been given two months' leave from the army.

Even the matron, after saying, "We know there are three, maybe four," added optimistically, "but, of course, you can't tell. Anything might happen."

Seek to Delay Arrival.

Dr. Fisher said some persons "jumped to conclusions" about the possibility of quintuplets but regretfully admitted that he did not expect to rank as a second Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, who delivered the Dionne quintuplets at Corbeil, Ont., Canada, eight years ago May 28.

The doctor and the matron said Mrs. Woodley is "very fit," altho they seemed anxious to delay arrival of the babies until May 20, the anticipated date. "If we can stop them from coming over the week-end we shall have achieved something," said the matron.

There was little excitement in Culham over the expected event. Mrs. Woodley's husband, who cycles daily to Abingdon to visit her, "takes the thing quietly and as a perfectly normal occurrence," the village postmaster said.

Telephone Is Disconnected.

The telephone at the Lion inn, however, has been disconnected due to the flood of calls from the outside world.

"We are fed up with newshawks," the postmaster said.

He denied reports that the villagers had started a fund to provide the children with clothing or that they were sacrificing their own clothing coupons on behalf of the babies.

"There is no excitement or great hullabaloo here," he asserted.

The owner of the Lion hotel in Abingdon, two miles distant, had a different story to tell. He said telephone calls about Mrs. Woodley's welfare "have nearly driven us mad."

The story of the quintuplets is almost a legend, he said.

"We heard it months ago," he declared, complaining that "most people seemed to think it was my wife."

While Mrs. Woodley is awaiting her babies her husband broached to newspaper men a problem which is becoming more and more difficult in wartime—how to obtain enough baby buggies for them.

Buggies Are Rationed.

Altho the government is campaigning for a higher birth rate, baby buggies now are rationed to dealers and are difficult to buy. "If there are five children, we are wondering how we will be able to secure prams for them," Woodley said. His wife, he revealed, plans to have "four or five little cots in blue, her favorite color."

Mrs. Woodley, plump, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and normally weighing 161 pounds, now scales 196, the matron said. Her father, who is 63 years old, claims to be "considered the heaviest in Berkshire," and assessed the weight of himself, his wife, and their six daughters at 1,582 pounds.

Report 1,256,681 French Prisoners Held by Nazis

VICHY, France, May 8 (AP).—Figures of German origin issued here today said the number of French war prisoners in German camps at the end of 1941 was 1,256,681. These included about 55,000 assigned to labor at the front.

Faces Draft Charge

U. S. JUDGE SETS TOP TERMS FOR DRAFT DODGERS

One Gets Five Years; Another Arraigned.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes warned yesterday that he will impose the maximum punishment of five years in the federal penitentiary against persons found guilty of evading the draft law.

He also advised that he will make a recommendation to Attorney General Francis Biddle that all those sentenced remain in prison for at least a year after the cessation of hostilities in case the war ends before expiration of their sentences.

Failed to Register in 1940.

Judge Barnes issued his warning after imposing the maximum sentence on Mose Russom, 34 years old, who claims to be a member of a Moslem sect opposed to all wars.

Russom, who lives at 4327 Vincennes avenue, failed to register in the first draft in 1940. He told Judge Barnes, "my people have been persecuted here and I feel I owe nothing to this country."

"The Moslems have always been pretty good fighters, haven't they?" asked Judge Barnes.

"Yes," replied the prisoner, "but they had a cause to fight for. I don't."

Prefers German Army.

Another draft evader who appeared yesterday was Joachim Hans Kauffmann, 25 years old, 4229 North Ashland avenue, former midwest youth leader of the German-American bund.

Arraigned before Commissioner Edwin K. Walker for refusing to report for induction, Kauffmann, a stockily built, blond young man, said he tried twice to return to Germany in the last year but had run out of funds. "I believe in the German form of government and I would rather fight in the German army," he asserted.

He told John M. Kiely and Maurice Walsh, assistant United States attorneys, that he attended Lane Technical High school and Northwestern university, but left the latter when "I got into too many arguments about international politics." He said his father, Carl, a German war veteran, and the rest of his family are firmly opposed to his stand.

GIRL CALLS HER THEATER POISON ATTEMPT SILLY

The attempted suicide of Betty Gordon, 16 year old high school girl, in the Erlanger theater Thursday night after a performance of "Macbeth" was termed "just an adolescent mistake" yesterday by her mother, Mrs. H. James Gordon, 3935 Division street. The girl attended the performance Thursday night for the second time this week and after the last curtain swallowed poison.

She was found lying in an aisle in the theater early yesterday by a porter and was taken to St. Luke's hospital. Her mother said Betty will be well enough to be taken home tomorrow or Monday.

Mrs. Gordon visited Betty in the hospital yesterday morning and altho they didn't talk directly about the girl's attempted suicide, Mrs. Gordon said that just as she was leaving Betty whispered, "I'm sorry, mother. It was silly. I won't do it again. It hurt me an awful lot."

EVANS BUSINESS WIZARD, FRAUD TRIAL DISCLOSES

Woman Secretary Tells Jury of Huge Profits.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlanta, Ga., May 8.—Dr. Hiram Wesley Evans, former imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, was portrayed as another type of wizard in testimony at his trial today. His family-owned asphalt companies acted as exclusive agents for at least four rival asphalt companies—all bidding for the same profitable paving accounts with the state of Georgia.

Dr. Evans, a former Texas dentist, is on trial before a jury in the Fulton county Superior court of Judge V. B. Moore, charged with conspiring with E. D. Rivers, Georgia's former "little New Deal" governor, and other state officials to defraud the state of huge sums of money on contracts for more than $5,000,000 in sand asphalt. Rivers and the other defendants are to be tried later.

Admits Heavy Commissions.

It was admitted by the state's first witness—Mrs. Mary S. Vines, Evans' secretary and a partner in his companies—that the Evans companies' commission in many deals was 40 cents a ton and a split of the profits on the asphalt sold—in most cases as much as 50 per cent.

Special Prosecutor James W. Branch contends that these commissions and profits were possible only thru Evans' close connections with his old friend, former Gov. Rivers, and O. G. Glover, former state purchasing agent, also under indictment.

The profits, according to Branch, were particularly high during the period when W. Lint Miller, former chairman of the highway board, was unable to hold office, having been ejected by Gov. Rivers and the state militia. Miller later was reinstated by the federal courts.

Checks Cashed in Chattanooga.

Judge Moore expressed special interest in that part of Mrs. Vines' testimony concerning Modern Asphalt, a trade name used by the Eastern Construction company [Evans] in dealing with the Wesco Paving company of Chattanooga, Tenn.

In accomplishing the first settlement of Wesco's account, Mrs. Vines testified, she took the Wesco checks to Chattanooga, cashed them there, and brought the $6,700 home in cash. The idea of cashing the checks just occurred to her after she was in Chattanooga, Mrs. Vines said, and when she came home she deposited about $1,000 and kept the rest in the office safe.

As an example of Dr. Evans' multiple representation, Prosecutor Branch had Mrs. Vines identify an asphalt bid for Fulton county made on May 7, 1940. The only bidders were the Georgia Highway improvement company, Warren Bros. Asphalt Products company, and E. Jack Smith, contractor, with each of whom an Evans company had an exclusive contract under one of the many Evans company names, such as Eastern Construction company, Southern Improvement association, Modern Asphalt, or Co-Operative Asphalt.

Convicted

Michael Healy (left) and Walter O'Brien, union business agents found guilty of conspiracy in beating of meat dealer.

Seek New Trial; Free on Bonds.

A jury of four men and eight women last night found Walter O'Brien and Michael Healy, business agents for the teamsters' union, guilty under the misdemeanor count of a conspiracy indictment against them for the beating of Oakley Lester. The maximum penalty, to be fixed by Judge John A. Sbarbaro of Criminal court, is one year in jail and a fine of $2,000.

The jury was polled and each member was emphatic in his announcement of the verdict. Defense attorneys asked for a new trial and said they wished to argue the motion, so Judge Sbarbaro set May 14 to hear them. If he refuses a new trial, it is expected he then will pass sentence.

O'Brien and Healy then were allowed their freedom under the same $2,500 bond that has prevailed during their trial.

Out Hour and 45 Minutes.

The jury, after hearing final arguments and the usual motion for a directed not guilty verdict, was out only an hour and 45 minutes, including its dinner hour.

The defendants were indicted originally on charges of assault with intent to commit mayhem and for conspiracy to injure Lester, but the state nolle prossed the assault charge and the two were tried for conspiracy. During the trial it was brought out that the beating took place when Lester tried to remove a purchase of meat from 224 North Peoria street on Feb 23. The union had prohibited deliveries on that day because it had chosen to celebrate Washington's birthday.

First Blow Trial Issue.

There was conflicting testimony yesterday as to the first blow struck when Lester was accosted by O'Brien and Healy at the market. Two witnesses said Healy did, and that Healy threatened to "get a gun," but Healy took the stand and asserted that Lester first hit O'Brien and knocked him down, then kicked him.

The state asserted, in final arguments, that it was no part of the job as business agent to forestall deliveries by nonunion men, but only by members of the union involved. Lester is an independent meat dealer from Elgin.

MASHER SENT TO BRIDEWELL.

Fred Megel, 31 years old, 4630 Broadway, a chauffeur, was fined $200 yesterday for disorderly conduct after Mrs. Elmer Dienhart, 5513 Bernard street, said he seized her arm and walked with her till she slapped him at Kimball and Lawrence avenues. Megel, unable to pay the fine, was sent to the Bridewell.

JUDGE PROTECTS GARDEN AGAINST CANINE VANDAL

A wee carrot and an immature radish were carried before Municipal Judge George L. Quilici in Racine avenue court yesterday by Mrs. Martha Rybsky, 63 years old, 1610 Ontario street, as evidence that a black and white mongrel dog was digging more than bones out of a vacant lot next to her house. She charged the animal was sabotaging her Victory garden, and she asked a warrant for the dog's owner, J. Pudulo, of 616 North Ashland avenue, saying he refused to keep the dog tied up. Judge Quilici issued the warrant charging disorderly conduct.

5 TONS OF STEEL STOLEN.

Thieves who had to lift their burden over a 7 foot wall stole more than five tons of steel valued at $470 from the yards of the Chicago Freight Car Parts company, 119th and Justine streets, police were informed yesterday.

CHICAGO MOTHER TO BE GUEST AT FORT BENNING, GA.

Mrs. Frances Konow, 1042 West 31st street, is one of the 20 mothers from all parts of the nation who have been given special Mother's day invitations to spend the week-end visiting their soldier sons at Fort Benning, Ga.

All her expenses are being paid and she will be met at the railroad station near the camp by her son, Pvt. Lawrence Konow, tomorrow morning.

The mothers chosen as guests were selected by a drawing of names submitted by the soldiers at the camp. The sons of the 20 mothers all have been excused from duty for the week-end.

THROWN BY MOTORCYCLE; INJURED.

Arden Ostrowski, 21 years old, 225 West 118th street, a private in the marine corps home on leave, was injured severely last night when a motorcycle he was riding went out of control and he was thrown to the pavement at 129th and Wallace street.

SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1942.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

MR. LEHMAN DODGES THE STORM.

Gov. Lehman of New York has announced that he is not a candidate for reëlection and will not accept the nomination if it is given him. This time, Mr. Lehman intimates, nobody can prevail upon him to run. He says he is going into war work of some kind but doesn't say why he is forsaking politics. He doesn't have to state his reasons. They are obvious.

Mr. Lehman knows that the Republican nomination is going to Thomas E. Dewey and that Lehman can't beat Dewey. They were the opposing candidates at the last election, which Mr. Lehman won by the narrowest of margins. The governor's majorities in three previous elections had run from half a million to more than 800,000, but he beat Dewey by only 64,000. The Communist vote for the New Deal saved Lehman that time, but it can't pull him thru in 1942. Mr. Lehman is a shrewd enough politician to know that this year the tide is running strongly against the Democrats.

He has observed the failure of the efforts of the clique of wealthy men who have promoted Willkie to sidetrack Mr. Dewey. That means that Dewey is to be the candidate and, with that certainty confronting him, Mr. Lehman retires from active politics and makes his withdrawal irrevocable. He wished to retire before the last election but allowed the President to prevail upon him to run. This time, tho the nation is at war, he will not let any one, not even the President, alter his purpose. Mr. Lehman is not unmindful of his duty to the leader of his country and the leader of his party in time of war. He just knows he can't win and what's the use, then, of running?

The refusal to accept the nomination must be read as an admission by the Democratic leader of the state that New York will be in the Republican column next autumn. If so, a national Republican landslide is inevitable for, if the Democrats cannot hold New York, how can any state north of the Mason-Dixon line be expected to go Democratic?

The people of this country want to win the war as speedily as possible. Just as the British people have forced the retirement of incompetents, so the American people are determined to make their will felt to the same end. That is why the Republican star is rising in New York and in every other state. The news of Mr. Lehman's withdrawal will be read thruout the nation as a sign of a better day.

STORMY WEATHER AHEAD.

Nobody was quicker than State's Attorney Courtney to recognize that the forfeiture foreclosure method of compromising delinquent taxes was open to grave abuses. When his conduct of these proceedings was subjected to criticism, much of it unjustified, Mr. Courtney announced that he would have no more to do with the business. This was a severe blow to the county government, in particular, since it collects not only its own proportion of the principal of the taxes so compromised but also a fat slice of the payment in the form of penalties. The county is operating this year under a phony budget and stopping the foreclosures will add another million dollars, perhaps, to its growing deficit.

At the insistence of the county board Mr. Courtney has now agreed to resume forfeiture foreclosure proceedings. Hereafter he will proceed only in cases in which action is recommended by the board. The county board has thus attempted to take off Mr. Courtney's shoulders the responsibility for any scandal that may ensue.

The prospects of such a scandal are immeasurably increased by the new arrangement. Under existing statutes of the state constitution it is practically impossible for any one except the equity owner to bid at the foreclosure sale on delinquent properties. Mr. Courtney's plan of foreclosing only when the equity owner agreed to make a bid of a certain amount, usually 75 per cent of the taxes with no penalties, was the only thing that kept the procedure alive as long as it has stayed alive. It amounts, however, to compromising tax bills. Any time that is attempted a fertile field is opened for graft and political fixing.

Mr. Courtney has been jealous of his reputation and that circumstance operated to keep the forfeiture foreclosure proceedings on as sound a basis as they have been kept. The safeguard is now removed. Instead of resting with Mr. Courtney the responsibility is in theory going to be assumed by the county board. Instead of being centered in one official it is distributed over 15, including several whose records do not warrant public trust. Instead of running as individuals on their record the 10 Chicago members of the county board run for office as the candidates of the machine. Mr. Courtney cannot be so easily relieved of responsibility. The new system means that he will have to redouble his former vigilance.

As they now operate the forfeiture foreclosures are grossly unfair to the overwhelming majority of honest taxpayers who have met their bills in full, very often at great sacrifice. The foreclosure statute should, as frequently has been recommended before in these columns, be amended to make the county a technical bidder at the sales for the purpose of wiping out the equity owner's present unfair advantage.

That may require statutory amendments, but Mr. Courtney need not abandon forfeiture foreclosures altogether until the legislature acts. It is inevitable that with increasing federal demands for revenue it will become harder and harder to collect local taxes. A new wave of delinquency is in prospect, much of it on properties which are now clear of tax liens.

Instead of dealing with the old offenders, Mr. Courtney might well transfer his attention to the new delinquents. He can foreclose on their properties as soon as two years' taxes are forfeited. It is possible that foreclosures for these fresher liens, which are a very small proportion of the actual value of the delinquent property, might force payment of principal and penalties in full. Because of the smaller sums involved, bidders other than the equity owners might appear at the sales and thereby create a genuine instead of a fake auction. It would be worth trying, at any rate.

THE DEFENSE OF HAWAII.

We can lose the war with Japan in a day if we lose the Hawaiian Islands. We have suffered a terrific blow to our national prestige in the loss of the Philippines. The losses in Malaya, the Indies, and other lands in the southwestern Pacific hurt us severely in both the economic and the military fields. The loss of Australia, which we are striving so hard to avert, would be an even greater disaster. But none of these losses has made or would make our cause in the Pacific irretrievable. The loss of Hawaii would. So long as we hold it we have the foothold from which to launch an attack on Japan. If the Japanese should capture the islands, then, and only then, would our Pacific coast be in danger of an attack in force.

The airplane has forced a radical revision in the plans for the defense of Hawaii. Before it came it was necessary only to hold Pearl Harbor. The guns of its fortifications protected the fleet and so long as the fleet was there it forbade approach by hostile ships. Now every major island in the group must be held in force, because the seizure of any one of them would give the Japanese an air base from which they could conduct a ceaseless bombing warfare against Pearl Harbor itself and against any water borne reënforcements that we might try to get to the islands after the attack started.

The defense of Hawaii must also take into account a new mode of warfare which, until now, has been as sensationally successful in its field as the German blitzkrieg was in western Europe. This is the Japanese landing technique. It is, as Adm. Hart described it, a blending and coordination of all forms of warfare, of warships and submarines on the sea and aerial superiority, paving the way for the final blow of troops perfectly trained for the tasks awaiting them. The Japanese knew what they would be going after and prepared for it. So far the sensational nature of their successes has been due in part to great local superiority in each of the combat elements — air strength, naval strength, and strength on land—but numerical strength is only half the story. Training, coördination, and daring technique are the other half.

The defense of Hawaii must be a defense against this Japanese landing technique with its present unbroken record of success. Given the materiels and the men our commanders in Hawaii can defeat it. It has its weak points as well as its strong ones. Airplanes are the first requisite. The land based plane has a great superiority over the ship launched plane. The land fighter is far faster than the carrier borne fighter, and the land based bomber can be bigger, faster, and can carry far heavier bomb loads than the light bombers operating from carriers.

Similarly, on land the Japanese technique depends on extremely light weapons. In the initial stages, at least, the landing barges can bring ashore no heavy field pieces. The Japanese traveled the length of Malaya with little artillery beyond a light, very efficient mortar. Neither can the initial invading force handle heavy tanks. Those have to wait for the seizure of a port with substantial landing facilities.

The force that can meet the invaders with well trained troops, backed by heavy tanks and heavy guns, should have no difficulty in repelling them. The question is whether these weapons and the all essential planes have been supplied the Hawaiian command in sufficient numbers. There have been intimations that the authorities there feel that their forces are not great enough for absolute security. That condition, if it exists, must be remedied immediately. We must not lose Hawaii.

DE SEVERSKY PUTS IT IN WRITING.

Maj. Alexander de Seversky, the exponent of victory thru air power, was asked why he put his thesis, with its caustic criticism of inertia and bungling in the air force, in book form instead of merely passing on his information privately to the government. He answered that under the democratic process the only way that leadership can be changed is thru public opinion, and that until now American leadership has been primarily naval in thought. He hoped, he said, that by appealing to intelligent laymen, who are often more able to appreciate a radically new idea than are those who have a professional stake in the old methods, he might be able to bring victory nearer.

Maj. de Seversky has properly appraised the value of public opinion as it is formed by a free press. He has also made proper allowance for the burocratic inertia and mental traditionalism that make criticism thru the written word so necessary. Admirals who know nothing but ship and turret design and gunnery would quickly wave De Seversky's argument for air power away if he imparted it to them privately. They would not be on record and consequently would not have to stand judgment before public opinion because they had closed their minds to new ideas. By writing his book De Seversky compels the burocracy to take a stand and justify it. We can hope that the adoption of modern methods of warfare will be the result.

CANADA'S PLEBISCITE.

[New York Sun.]

The result of Canada's plebiscite was as had been expected. By an overwhelming majority the dominion has voted to release the government from any pledge, express or implied, that it would not draft Canadians for service overseas.

Whatever else may be the moral effect of this verdict, the plebiscite in itself teaches a lesson in political honesty that was sorely needed. There were those who favored conscription but who opposed a vote on the ground that the government was asking for power which it already possessed. That is undeniably true. But the government headed by Mackenzie King considered itself bound by prelection promises not to resort to conscription for service abroad; it therefore sought release. Such scrupulous behavior in these days is heart warming. There is a kind of old-fashioned honesty about it that certainly appeals to those of us south of the border who still cling, despite disappointment and disillusionment, to the equally old-fashioned notion that a gentleman's word should be as good as his bond.

The added personnel needed for inflation control means the influx of new thousands to crowded Washington. Maybe Grand Rapids ought to bring out something in a triple bed.—Detroit News.

"Frederick the Great, like our dear Fuehrer, had his reverses before the ultimate victory," says Goebbels, falling back to a previously prepared position.—Detroit News.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

MR. PEPYS ON WAR RATIONS.

9th May—Registered for my half a pound of sugar a week the other day, and am sure I can get along on it, for I am not much of a consumer of this commodity except in my coffee, which I do not like bitter. Moreover, if I feel the need of sweetening my disposition I can always eat cake, like the French peasants before the revolution, and this is why:

There is a bevy of young women in the room where I work for this newspaper, and they are always having birthdays or getting engaged, and on such occasions people are always sending them cakes. So they scamper about the office inviting co-workers to have slices of their cakes. I have always declined, saying I never nibble between meals, but in these stern war times, if I begin to feel the pinch I will turn into a cake-eater.

Have noticed when people talk about war restrictions they say, "Coffee will be next," or "Shoes will be next," or "Woolen socks will be next," but I refuse to get excited and have resolved to take all such matters in my stride, especially the shoes and socks. Anyway, nearly every family in the country, I believe, has enough old shoes in closets to form a five-year plan.

Saw a thing in the Chicago river I can't write about because of the censor, and am reading a book I can't write about because it is not "out" yet, and have heard several new stories I can't put into print for the same old reason. So my slogan for the week is, "Restrictions, restrictions everywhere, and very few cronies at the club, either."

JUST SUPPOSE!

The other day a queerish kind of thought came home to me:
If mothers were not as they are,
wherever would we be?
If mothers didn't fuss and fret
each morning, noon, and night,
Whenever they know feet are wet or tummies are not right,
And if they didn't scrub our necks
and look behind our ears,
And help us get the things we want and know our hopes and fears.
If mothers didn't mind our clothes,
each button and each tear,
And make us hang our garments up and comb our tousled hair—
Whatever would we grow to be?
Not much, I'm here to say!
So Mom, for all you've been, and done,
Our thanks on Mother's day!

An Old Warrior Looks at Rostock.

When the smoke of burning Rostock rose toward heaven the duke of Wellington walked slowly toward a lonely bench where a white-haired, weather-beaten warrior was nervously puffing on a meerschaum pipe. The smoker was staring at the conflagration below when a hand touched his shoulder and a voice said:

"Sorry, old man! Sorry indeed!"

He quickly brushed his eyes with the sleeve of his faded army coat, forced his wrinkled face into an awkward smile and growled:

"Blast that pipe! Makes my eyes water!"

Then, with a straight look into the duke's face, he said:

"Sorry for Rostock? Would have destroyed it myself had it been on the side of Napoleon! Didn't I always hate dictators?"

"I know, I know!" said Wellington, seating himself beside his comrade in arms. Soon the two were fighting their wars over again. Their eyes sparkled with pride, for they had been together at Waterloo.

Two angels had been watching and listening, and one said to the other:

"I know nothing about their wars, but I know it wasn't his pipe that brought tears to Blücher's eyes. It was the smoke from a little house in Rostock, where he was born exactly 200 years ago!"

THE SWEET BRIGADE.

Half a pound, half a pound,
Half a pound weekly,
"Is that all we're gonna get?"
Murmured I, meekly,
"Retard the Sweet Brigade!"
Is what OPA said,
"That's all you're gonna get!"
Shouted they, bleakly.

"Retard the Sweet Brigade!"
Yes, we were sore dismayed,
But then of course we knew
No one had blundered.
Ours not to speak in haste,
Ours not to sponsor waste,
Yet, how will coffee taste
If that is all we get?
Well, we just wondered.

Wave the Flag for All the Ensigns.

"Ensign," as the name for the lowest junior officer rank, came into use in the U. S. navy shortly after the Civil war. Earlier, and at least until 1800, it had been used by the U. S. army for the corresponding lowest officer rank. It was apparently taken over from the British army. See "The Admirable Trumpeter," a biography of Gen. James Wilkinson:

"In 1792 . . . a young ensign, William Henry Harrison, later to be President of the United States, was assigned to this duty." Ken.

(Until 1871 an ensign was an officer in the British army who carried the ensign of a company or regiment.)

THE HOUSEHOLD MEDICINE CHEST.

THE family medicine chest is a noble institution. Every household is possessed of a few favorite remedies which have been found to be safe and effective. But it need not resemble an apothecary's shop.

No one should allow the collecting instinct to take the direction of accumulating drugs.

If, in the course of an illness, two or three prescriptions have been half used, empty the bottles and boxes and discard their contents when the emergency ceases to exist. Common sense dictates that we should not employ any chemical unless it is required. Furthermore, many preparations lose their strength in time.

But, whatever the array, everything should be in order. All too often, the compartment in the bathroom becomes a catchall for hardware, hot water bottles, and cosmetics. As a rule, one shelf will accommodate the essentials. Every article must be labeled accurately as accidents can happen when the wrong tablet is gulped. Poisons must be kept in some remote, inaccessible spot, known only to the head of the family. Oxalic acid, a deadly substance, may be mistaken for Epsom salts. They look much alike.

It goes without saying that no one should swallow a dose of anything without first inspecting the receptacle carefully, reading the label, and measuring out the proper quantity. This means that the light should be turned on and that the sufferer should be awake and alert to what he is doing.

If a stock laxative is called for, aromatic cascara or compound licorice powder will answer. Of course, neither should be used in the presence of abdominal distress. Appendicitis may be advancing.

As a painkiller, aspirin [acetylsalicylic acid] may be depended upon. But the taking of this compound should not become a habit, as drugs of this character, resorted to routinely over a long period of time, may become irritants. Bicarbonate tablets may be helpful in mild digestive distress, but baking soda from the kitchen will do just as well.

There is no quick stimulant better than aromatic spirits of ammonia, but this will deteriorate if not tightly stoppered. Even so, the supply should be renewed every two or three months. Before the doctor comes no harm will be done, and much help may be offered, by a teaspoonful in a third of a cup of water.

Spirits of camphor is an old fashioned standby and inhaling the fumes may be of benefit to certain cases of migraine [sick headache]. Repeated applications of this product to cold sores speeds healing. Rubbing alcohol or cologne will banish many a twinge or muscle ache. For cuts and scratches, soap and water is available. Thereafter the wound may be covered with clean, dry gauze held in place by adhesive. A roll of one and of two inch sterile bandage should be a part of the equipment as well as a spool of one-half inch adhesive tape.

Antiseptic ointments for slight abrasions and superficial burns may be needed and a jar of some well known formula may be included. In this connection, mild skin irritations will yield to a preparation of zinc oxide. In severe burns the physician should be summoned immediately.

A clinical thermometer completes the list.

BABY SKIN.

C. C. A. writes: My 8 month old daughter has a very dry skin. Her face is exceptionally rough. What should be done about it?

REPLY.

Few of the oil glands are fully developed at this age. In some instances, the application of a fatty ointment will be helpful. Cocoa butter or lanolin is suggested. On the other hand, the condition may be a mild form of eczema, caused by sensitivity.

BONDS AND A SOLDIER'S BUDGET.

Davis-Monathan Field, Tucson, Ariz., May 2.—All officers and men at this base are informed in a circular that they will "now be able and expected to buy defense savings bonds in small monthly installments." I presume this announcement has been circulated among all service men.

Below you will also find a short statement showing exactly how my $21 a month is spent. I have approximately $1.75 a month left to spend foolishly or send home. This, of course, is assuming I subscribe to the plan as I am expected to do.

I am not complaining. Of course, every now and then we do gripe a bit. This is only human. However, I do not believe there is a man among us who would want to leave the service until we have seen this thing thru. There isn't a man in a uniform who hasn't sacrificed something for our country. Some of the boys have already made the supreme sacrifice. Others of us will do it gladly because we know that the United States and all that it stands for is well worth it.

But if Uncle Sam wants us to buy bonds, what in the world are the civilians doing to win this war? Aren't you folks behind us in this thing? We are going to win this war. When I say "we," does that include all of you back home? You may not be in uniform but you are in this fight as well as we are, whether you know it or not. We haven't lost faith in you. Have you lost faith in us? When Uncle Sam asks his $21 a month employés to buy defense bonds it indicates that some of you are asleep at the switch.

All that we ask is that you invest your money in defense bonds so that we can get this job over with and return home. Is this asking too much?

Here's what it costs me in monthly expenses out of my salary of $21: Insurance, $6.90; hair cut, 40 cents; cigarets, etc., $2; laundry, $3; toilet articles, 70 cents; movies, $1; candy, $1; camera, $2; miscellaneous expenses, $1; total, $18. The minimum expected bond purchase is $1.25. That leaves me exactly $1.75.

THEY LIKE LILACS, TOO.

Chicago, May 7.—It is certainly a silent pleasure to sit and read about how the lilacs were received by the sick children. But did you ever try passing them out in No Man's Land—the slums near Racine avenue and Van Buren street—where every house at one time had a yard and every yard had a few bushes of lilacs? I am speaking of when Chicago was young [70 years or more back in my experience]. A friend and neighbor who likes the country was out somewhere the other day and brought back some lilacs and apple blossoms. Why, she was mowed down. Some of the neighbors had never seen an apple blossom before. None of us was an infant and some were grandmothers, so that is what it means to be city bred. I still have some of the blossoms in a milk bottle. M. H.

THANKS FOR THE LILACS.

Chicago, May 5.—This being Lilac day at the west side hospitals, our hospital is filled tonight with the fragrance of beautiful lilacs. Our patients have been looking forward to this day. They are very much delighted and are happy to have flowers at their bedsides. To some of them this is indeed a treat.

We appreciate the part THE TRIBUNE has played in this annual distribution of lilacs and assure you of our gratitude.

MAJOR H. WORTHINGTON, M. D.,
Superintendent, University of Illinois Research and Educational Hospitals.

Chicago, May 5.—We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to your paper and the Dundee Garden club, Chicago Plant and Fruit guild; garden department, Beverly Hills Woman's club, and Mrs. Henry Schipp, Lake Forest, for the lovely and fragrant lilacs we received today. They were distributed to the many aged, sick and shut-in who live at our home and soon the building was permeated with their perfume. Flowers are always appreciated by the old folks and one of our "young ladies" was especially pleased that they arrived on her 95th birthday. Thank you all.

MARIE RIGSTAD,
Matron, Norwegian Lutheran Bethesda Home.

Chicago, May 6.—Once again the Santa Claus of lilacdom has visited Cook County hospital and the patients are enjoying the beauty of the sight and smell of the fragrant lilacs.

The doctors, nurses, and all the rest of the personnel are enjoying the flowers almost as much as the patients and I wish, in the name of all the patients, to extend our deep appreciation of your generosity and thoughtfulness.

MANUS MCCLOSKEY,
Warden.

Chicago, May 5.—I wish to thank you on behalf of the community and our patients at Loretto hospital for the very beautiful lilacs which we received thru your courtesy. We fully appreciate your kindness in cheering those who are forced to remain indoors thru their illness.

SISTER M. STEPHANIE, R. N.,

THE OPTIMIST'S VIEW.

Clarksburg, W. Va., May 2.—The defeat of Japanese military forces and the utter devastation of Japan proper is imminent. The forces to accomplish this feat are at this moment in motion. It may well be that June will find Japan completely desolate. Christian China will be the big man of the east. The Japanese-American war will go down as the shortest major war in American history.

MIDWEST REPUBLICANISM.

Waupun, Wis., May 6.—"The Republican Citadel" is a grand editorial. Either men like Willkie and his brand of campaign oratory must be removed from the party or there is no Republican party. I'd rather vote for Norman Thomas or Joe Stalin. They, at least, reveal their objectives. Fight for a good party. We will need it to build again.

J. F. TEEPLE.

"ONLY TOO TRUE."

Evanston, Ill., May 6.—Let me express myself strongly in favor of your splendid editorials and most emphatically in regard to the one May 4, "A Tale of Too Little and Too Late." It is only too true that some persons would rather be victorious over THE TRIBUNE than over the enemies of our country. One does not have to look very far to find that attitude.

We take three copies of THE TRIBUNE daily; used to be four, but the fourth sent us a cable the other day. He had arrived in Australia. He's a lieutenant in the navy now.

We are appreciative of your effort on behalf of our country. M. W.

SQUARE PEG PROBLEM.

Chicago, May 6.—I can't seem to get placed in the line of work I'm experienced in, which is shell fuses. I'm registered at the government employment service, but they say they haven't any calls for that type of work.

I refuse to pay $10 to get a job, so I am thinking of taking another kind of work, such as saleslady or store clerk. Why can't we who are experienced in vital war work and are American citizens be placed in the line of work we are capable of doing? I give up. It seems a shame that I have to learn something else when I have had plenty of experience in something we need. A. A.

FROM NOTHING TO MINUS $40,000.

Chicago, May 6.—All I can say of the landlord in the "Calls Himself a Sucker" letter May 6 is that any one starting on nothing and ending with a $40,000 mortgage would be better suited having the state furnish him with a padded cell, straitjacket, and hot and cold running attendants instead of the government furnishing him and his family with a home and hot and cold running water.

NATURALIZATION.

Chicago, May 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If a man naturalized during the war in 1918 and 1920 [1] went to Italy and married and had two daughters born there and stayed for about four years [2] are his wife and daughters citizens of the United States? If a man naturalized in 1910 went to Italy, married and came back to the United States, had two daughters here and in 1920 went back with his family and in 1942 another daughter was born in Italy and that daughter came to the United States with the family in 1935 [3] is that daughter a citizen? I. N.

1. If within five years after his naturalization, a naturalized citizen returns to his native country, or to any other foreign country, and takes permanent residence therein, it is held to be "prima facie" evidence of his lack of intention to become a permanent citizen of the United States at the time he applied for and obtained naturalization, and in the absence of countervailing evidence his certificate of citizenship may be canceled as having been fraudulently procured.

2 and 3. Take these questions up with the naturalization service in the new postoffice building. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Charles Ruggles and his bride, the former Marian La Barba, smiling happily after their marriage in Las Vegas, Nev., Thursday night.

Las Vegas, Nev., May 8 (AP).—Movie Comedian Charles Ruggles and Marian La Barba, divorced wife of Fidel La Barba, former flyweight boxing champion, were on their honeymoon today following their marriage last night. Ruggles' first wife died after a long illness. The former Mrs. La Barba once was the wife of Newspaper Cartoonist Billy De Beck. She has had parts in several motion pictures.

RADIO UNIONISTS WIN FIRST ROUND OVER MUSICIANS

A change in recording workers at radio station WAIT took place yesterday when five members of local 1220 of the Radio Technicians' union supplanted four members of the Chicago Musicians' union. The action presages a jurisdictional fight between the technicians' group and the musicians' union, headed nationally and locally by James C. Petrillo.

The technicians, who are affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers, admitted that they expect to hear soon—and hotly—from Petrillo, but hastened to add that their action was merely a test case which they hoped the American Federation of Labor's executive board would eventually settle.

Spokesmen for the technicians said they do the radio recording work in all cities, except Chicago and St. Louis, Mo., where the musicians do the labor. The musicians' pay scale runs as high as $90 for a 25 hour work week; the technicians' scale is less. The work consists largely of putting on and taking off radio records.

CUBA SEIZES MEAT PROFITEERS.

HAVANA, Cuba, May 8.—Six butchers were arrested today on charges of selling meat at exhorbitant prices as a deadlock between the government and cattle raisers over fixing of prices continued.

'AMERICA LOVES MELODY' ON NEW HOUR TONIGHT

Thomas L. Thomas to Be Male Soloist.

America Loves a Melody, W-G-N's program of familiar and favorite music, will be broadcast at a new hour—from 8 to 9 p. m.—beginning tonight. The program will be aired as heretofore over W59C and the Mutual Broadcasting system as well as over W-G-N.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak during the broadcast.

Two Song Dramatizations.

Marion Claire and Thomas L. Thomas, Metropolitan opera baritone, will be the soloists. Henry Weber will direct the W-G-N orchestra and chorus. Two song dramatizations will highlight the broadcast. Stories behind favorite songs as submitted by listeners will be depicted in these presentations. Two $25 cash awards are made each week for the best letters telling the story of the songs.

The song spots this week will be "Alice Blue Gown" and "My Hero" from the "Chocolate Soldier." Miss Claire will sing the melodies. She also will sing Schubert's "Ave Maria" in response to a request of the Marion Claire club of Gary. Members of the club, headed by Mrs. Mary Galumbus, chairman, will be studio guests.

Thomas to Sing Two Solos.

Mr. Thomas will sing "Siboney" and "You and the Night and the Music." Other features will be a medley from "The Vagabond King," "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," "America Marches On," and a medley from "Show Boat."

Sedition Grand Jury Hears Secretary of Irish Group

Andrew Feeney, corresponding secretary of the Irish-American National alliance, appeared yesterday before the federal grand jury which is probing alleged sedition in the Chicago area. He was the only witness in yesterday's session, the jury adjourning at noon. It will reconvene next Tuesday when J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, is expected to return from Washington, where he has been conferring with Attorney General Francis Biddle.

BEGIN CAMPAIGN TO GET TRACTION O.K. FROM VOTERS

Referendum to Settle Unification Deal.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

City officials at an informal meeting of the membership of the council yesterday opened a drive to have the traction unification ordinance approved by the people at the referendum to be held June 1 in conjunction with the Supreme court election. The meeting was called by Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the council transportation committee, to post the aldermen on the provisions of the 95 page ordinance so they can "sell" it to their constituents.

Ald. Quinn said referendum approval of the ordinance, which was passed by the council last June 19, will pave the way for a 102 million dollar transit modernization program that the traction lines have agreed to undertake.

"The ordinance has been approved by every agency that has studied it," Quinn asserted. "This includes the city council, federal District court, federal works agency, and labor unions of the transit companies. The Union League club has gone on record for its adoption, and the Chicago Association of Commerce plans similar action at a meeting Tuesday."

Gives City Home Rule.

The ordinance grants a franchise to a prospective united company which will operate the surface and elevated lines and the 65 million dollar city owned subways. The ordinance also gives the new company the right to acquire the Chicago Motor Coach company by purchase.

Philip Harrington, commissioner of subways and superhighways, stressed the fact that the ordinance gives Chicago "home rule" over its transportation system thru the establishment of a three man local transit commission to be named by the mayor with the approval of the city council.

The local commission would assume the jurisdiction now held by the Illinois Commerce commission over Chicago's traction lines, including the determination of rates of fare, ordering of extensions, and setting of service standards, Harrington said.

Harrington explained that the franchise is a so-called terminable permit which runs indefinitely unless the city purchases the company's properties or the company fails to live up to the franchise provisions. This type of permit will help assure continuous improvements for the car riders because the company will not be faced with uncertainty as to its future rights in the streets, he said.

Plan New Cars, Buses.

The city purchase provision in the new ordinance permits the city to buy the traction system at any time at a price to be determined by a board of three appraisers.

The 102 million dollar improvement program contemplates the purchase within eight years by the company of 950 new street cars, 1,000 all-metal subway-elevated cars, 925 buses, and 1,850 additional units, either street cars or buses. The program is contingent on the company's ability to raise the money. Harrington said the lines have 30 million dollars at present and predicted the remainder necessary can be secured by borrowing, and use of future renewal funds.

Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] inquired whether the city can force the motor coach company to sell its system to the new company, thus giving Chicago complete unification of local lines. William H. Sexton, city traction counsel, said that inasmuch as the coach company has no city franchise, the council has a strong club.

Securities holders of the surface and elevated lines are currently voting on a merger plan to set up the unified company which would operate under the ordinance. The outcome of the vote will be reported to Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe May 25. Harrington said he had been informed virtually no opposition to the merger has been expressed by the securities owners.

TRAFFIC JUDGE NOTES RECKLESS YOUNG AUTOISTS

A spirit of recklessness, engendered by the war, is shown in the driving habits of younger motorists, said Judge John J. Gutknecht in the Traffic court yesterday.

"I have found this spirit in youths who may be drafted," said the judge. "They have expressed an 'I don't give a damn' attitude. I believe that many others feel the same spirit of recklessness."

Judge Gutknecht warned motorists that while the maximum speed is 40 miles an hour on highways, the maximum speed allowed on city streets is less.

ART IS WHERE YOU FIND IT; BILL'S A WIZARD

One Picture Is on Private View.

Miss Mary Lempe has tattoo marks on both knees [it was her own testimony in Judge Michael Feinberg's court yesterday] but William Daly has seen only one of them [her testimony and his].

Miss Lempe also has an ankle that was broken. It is uncertain whether Mr. Daly broke it trying by main strength to see tattoo No. 2, or whether Miss Lempe broke it falling off a stool in a tavern when he asked for a peek at the decoration.

Mr. Daly Ardent for Art, But—

The incident happened in the tavern of Thomas Albrecht at 1959 West 59th street on Sept. 9, 1940. Miss Lempe, who is 28 and lives at 2628 South Throop street, sued Albrecht for $25,000 damages under the dram shop act, altho his conduct concerning Miss Lempe's knee pictures was without reproach. The charge was that he had sold Mr. Daly, 40 years old, a paperhanger whose home is at 512 West 104th street, some beverages that made him tattoo conscious.

The story told by Miss Lempe before a jury was substantially as follows:

"I went into the tavern for a drink and a chat with Mrs. Albrecht, whom I knew. She introduced me to Mr. Daly and after we had two drinks we went to the races and both lost money. We went back to the tavern then and had one drink. Then I went to the delicatessen where I work and was on duty till 10 p. m.

Misses Half the Gallery.

"In the tavern, still waiting, was Mr. Daly. He discovered that I had a horse shoe tattooed on one knee, and seemed to think it might have been a factor in losing at the track. I told him it was nothing; I had another tattooed knee. But I wouldn't let him see it, and in the struggle I broke my ankle."

Mrs. Albrecht's recollection was that there was no struggle, and that the ankle was broken when Miss Lempe stepped off a stool. It was not brought out in testimony what the second tattoo design was, but rumor had it a heart. The trial ended too quickly. Attorneys Edward Halligan, for the plaintiff, and Donald Thompson, for Albrecht, arranged a settlement under which Miss Lempe gets $200.

3 ARE ARRESTED ON CHARGES OF GOLD HOARDING

Three men were in custody of the United States secret service yesterday on charges of hoarding $17,000 in high grade gold bullion and nuggets. They were rounded up after one of them attempted to dispose of the gold to a jewelry firm in Milwaukee. Hoarding of gold is illegal under the gold reserve act of 1935.

The first seized was Irving Wasserman, 40, 2031 Chicago boulevard, Detroit, who was arrested in the offices of the Milwaukee firm several days ago with a burlap bag containing the gold. He denied the gold belonged to him, but refused to reveal where he got it.

Later, after questioning him, agents under Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, chief of the secret service, seized Charles Shapiro, 39, 3333 West Washington boulevard, and Myron [Sonny] Landreau, 5015 West Quincy street. Both were held for removal to Milwaukee yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

U. OF C. SENDS UP BALLOONS TODAY TO DO TWO JOBS

At 1 p. m. today University of Chicago research physicists will send aloft a balloon cluster carrying delicate apparatus which is expected to measure cosmic rays and also to transmit weather information.

According to Dr. Marcel Schein, the apparatus will be in two parts. One will record cosmic rays. The other, called radiosonde equipment, operates like a miniature radio transmitter. This will automatically broadcast temperature, altitude, wind, and air pressure measurements which will be picked up by calibrated ground receiving sets.

It is possible that the balloon cluster may climb to a height of 14 miles. Last Monday the university sent up a cluster for cosmic ray measurement only. The balloons traveled 150 miles east, settling down; with their apparatus, on the farm of Rex Nichols, near Reading, Mich. The apparatus was returned. The university offers a reward for the return of its ballooning equipment.

H. J. SCHROEDER, DOMINICAN HOUSE PROFESSOR, DEAD

Funeral services for the Very Rev. Henry Joseph Schroeder, O. P., will be celebrated at 10 a. m. Monday at the Dominican House of Studies in River Forest where he was superior and professor of languages. He died Thursday in Columbus, O., of a heart attack.

Father Schroeder, who was 67 years old, was born in Detroit, Mich., and entered the Dominican order in 1902. He studied for the priesthood in Ohio and Washington, D. C., and was ordained in Baltimore June 21, 1907. He had been in River Forest for the last 11 years.

He was author of several books including "The Disciplinary Decrees of the General Council," and "Canons and Decrees of the Council of Trent."

ONE DIES, 2 HURT IN STREET CAR AND AUTO CRASH

Charles B. Carlborg, 37 years old, 1721 Darrow avenue, Evanston, an electrician, was injured fatally yesterday when the car he was driving crashed head on into a Devon avenue street car between Sacramento and Albany avenues.

Vernon J. Hahn, 33, of 1136 Sherman avenue, Evanston, a special policeman at a defense plant, who was riding with Carlborg, was critically injured. Peter Finan, 40, of 1540 Glenlake avenue, motorman of the street car, was cut by flying glass.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 283 persons had lost their lives in Cook county automobile accidents since Jan. 1. Of that number 223 were killed in Chicago, where 7,096 were injured.

$93,289,662 Payments of '41 Taxes Tabulated

Tabulation of $2,825,505 of 1941 property taxes yesterday raised to $93,289,662 the amount tabulated thus far, compared to a collection of $91,112,385 of 1940 taxes during a comparable period last year, County Treasurer John Toman announced last night.

SAYS HOTEL MAN BARTLEY PLAYED STRANGE TRICKS

A witness in the court of Judge Benjamin Epstein asserted yesterday that Col. Charles E. Bartley, whose will is under attack, gave a Christmas party in 1939 and served his guests nothing but beans and champagne. Also, the witness averred, he signed checks in the Seneca hotel for his meals and then insisted on paying the cashier with a rubber $10 check.

Mrs. Gladys Buettner.

Mrs. Vera Featherstone, dining room hostess, was the witness. She said these and other events convinced her that Bartley, who was president of the Seneca Hotel company, was not of sound mind. Bartley died in March, 1940.

His will, disposing of an estate estimated at $2,000,000, cut off a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Peckinpaugh, with $1. Another daughter, Mrs. Gladys Buettner of 4950 Chicago Beach drive, was left a third of the estate in trust and the rest went to charity. Mrs. Peckinpaugh is seeking to void the will.

TOBACCO SHOP OWNER LEAVES $150,000 ESTATE

An estate of $150,000, one-third of it in cash, was left by George H. Fagan, according to an inventory filed yesterday by Attorney Patrick Cahill before Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court.

Fagan died March 31 at the age of 60. For nearly 20 years he had run a cigar store at 238 West 63d street. It was estimated that he was worth between $1,000 and $2,000.

Then came a routine search of his effects by his nearest relative, a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Trask, 6532 Yale avenue. She was amazed to find $50,000 in checking and savings accounts. Further search revealed $45,000 in treasury bonds and $55,000 in other securities. Fagan left no will and his daughter was named administratrix of his estate.

Miss Julia Mason's Engagement to Ensign Is Being Announced

BY JUDITH CASS.

MRS. ROSWELL BERTRAM MASON of Winnetka today is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Julia Starkweather, to Ensign Dimmick Donald Drake, U. S. N. R., grandson of Mrs. Dimmick Donald Drake of Chicago. The wedding will take place shortly in the east.

Miss Mason's father was a grandson of the first Roswell B. Mason, mayor of Chicago at the time of the great fire. She has been visiting her brother-in-law and sister, the Gilbert B. Smiths, near New York for some time and will be a young married woman the next time she returns to Winnetka. Mrs. Mason is departing on Tuesday for New York to complete arrangements for the ceremony.

Miss Mason was educated at the North Shore Country Day school and at Smith college, from which she was graduated in 1939. She was introduced to society during her sophomore year, and is a member of the Chicago Junior league. Ensign Drake is a graduate of the Asheville school and of Williams college and received his commission at the naval reserve training school at Northwestern university. He is stationed in the east.

Cynthia Billings Morgan's Betrothal Being Revealed.

Today in Washington, D. C., an engagement of interest to Chicagoans is being announced, for the young lady lived in Highland Park until a few years ago. She is Miss Cynthia Billings Morgan, daughter of Mrs. Vance Duncan Chapline and the late Christopher Lyston Morgan. Capt. and Mrs. Chapline, who live at 1671 Madison avenue, northwest, in Washington, are announcing Miss Morgan's engagement to William Crocker Wilcox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph DeWitt Wilcox of Minneapolis.

Miss Morgan, who has a younger sister, Frances, and two stepsisters, who are Capt. Chapline's daughters, attended the Warrenton Country Day school in Virginia and then took a business course in Honolulu. The family lived there during the time Capt. Chapline's duty in the navy kept him in the Pacific, returning to this country last spring. Mr. Wilcox is an ensign in the naval reserve, having taken training at Annapolis. He is a Yale graduate, class of 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Buckley of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Jannette, to Vilas A. Nesson, son of Arthur S. Nesson of Brookings, S. D. The wedding will take place in June. Miss Buckley is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin in Madison, Wis., where she met her fiancé.

Howard Linns Celebrate 28th Wedding Day Today.

Congratulations to the Howard Linns, who are celebrating their 28th wedding anniversary today. They are having a small dinner at home. Congratulations, too, to Judge and Mrs. George A. Carpenter, who will have been married 48 years tomorrow.

Good wishes also to Stewart Boal Jr., who will be christened at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow in Christ church, Winnetka, the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Boal will have a family party afterward to toast their first child. Miss Marjorie Kelly, Gilbert H. Osgood, and Mrs. Boal's brother, Ellis A. Ballard II., a midshipman at the naval reserve training school at Northwestern university, are the godparents.

There are lots of parties in the air. Mr. and Mrs. E. Cummings Parker are entertaining at cocktails from 5 until 7 o'clock this afternoon.

Wellesley Club Holding May Breakfast Today.

The last of the Dinner-Dance club meetings of the season will be held tonight at the Saddle and Cycle club.

Wellesley alumnae will be making a special effort to get to the Chicago Wellesley club's annual May breakfast today at the Arts club, for Miss Sophie C. Hart, professor emeritus of English who taught on the Wellesley, Mass., campus for many years, will be in Chicago for the party. Following the noon breakfast Ronald Webster, an Evanstonian, will tell of his flight "To England in a Bomber." As part of the routine business during the annual meeting, the club will elect a slate of officers headed by Mrs. Albert Buckner Coe as president.

Bohemian Club Luncheon.

The Bohemian Woman's Civic club will install a new staff of officers at a spring luncheon in the Hotel La Salle.

Dutch Princess Coming to City for 3 Day Visit

A young woman whose career as a future queen of the Netherlands has been followed with interest in the daily press by all Americans is arriving in Chicago next Tuesday, her royal highness, Princess Juliana of the Netherlands. The royal visitor, who will spend three days here, and her traveling companions will visit the Women's Netherland War Relief society, the Netherland chapter of the American Red Cross, the Chicago Christian High school, the Art institute, and the Rockefeller Memorial chapel of the University of Chicago, where Netherlanders and Americans of Netherlands descent will welcome the princess on Tuesday night.

There also will be some private parties for the princess. She will dine quietly in the home of the Netherlands consul general, Dr. Jan I. Noest, and Mrs. Noest on Tuesday night, before going to the University of Chicago. The next day she will be the special guest of Dr. and Mrs. Noest at luncheon at the Casino. Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell will entertain at tea for Princess Juliana on Wednesday afternoon and Mrs. Richard T. Crane will give a dinner that night. Following a luncheon of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations on Thursday at the Palmer House, the princess will visit the Art institute. She will appear at the War Relief and Red Cross chapter on Wednesday morning.

The princess' visit is coincident with an emergency appeal for funds for the Queen Wilhelmina fund for the destitute and homeless from the Netherlands and East Indies—for the wives, children, parents, and loved ones of Dutch fighters who battled so stubbornly in the East Indies, and who are scattered from San Francisco to Calcutta, in need of clothes, food, medicine, and shelter. Mrs. Wendell, Mrs. Crane, Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter are some of the women on the honorary committee for the emergency appeal.

Reservations are pouring in for the council luncheon at which Princess Juliana will speak briefly. The main address will be given by the director of the Netherlands information bureau, Dr. N. A. C. Slotemaker de Bruine, on "The Netherlands at War." The luncheon will be held in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House, and members and their guests are asked to arrive not later than 12:15 o'clock.

Barbara Hixon Will Be Among Today's Brides

One of the prettiest of today's brides is Miss Barbara Hixon, the middle daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hixon of Lake Forest, who will be married to Milton Wilson Jr. at 4:30 o'clock in the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, with a reception following at the Hixon home. The Rev. Herbert E. Prince will read the service. The bride is the fourth generation on her mother's side to wear some heirloom rosepointe lace. It has been made into her headdress.

Mr. Wilson's mother, Mrs. Wilson Sr., has come from Santa Barbara, Cal., for the ceremony, and his brothers, Crane and Page, and sister, Miss Dorothy Wilson, are here, all staying with the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. E. Crane Wilson, in Evanston. Miss Joan Hixon has returned from school at Farmington, Conn., to be maid of honor for her sister. Their other sister, Mrs. Maurice F. Hanson, will be matron of honor.

Miss Priscilla Armstrong, who is to be married next month to Stewart Peck; Miss Jane Houser of St. Louis, Mrs. Samuel Vaughan Jr., and Miss Ruddy Hale will be bridesmaids. Crane Wilson will be the best man. Ushers are Page Wilson, Bruce Sampsell, Robert F. Carr Jr., Le Roy Kramer Jr., Van Asmus Bunting, and Lieut. Harry Gilbert.

Mr. Wilson and his bride will have the briefest of wedding trips, and then will be at home in Moline. He is engaged in defense work in Rock Island.

Another stunning bride is Dr. and Mrs. Edward W. White's blonde daughter, Barbara, who will be married to Charles E. Ford II. at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the White apartment in Astor street. The Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson will read the service, hurrying away to officiate soon afterward at the wedding of his own daughter.

Mr. Ford, son of Eugene Ford, and his bride will be at home on the near north side until he is called to active service.

Dr. and Mrs. Anderson's daughter, Miss Doris Elizabeth Anderson, and Charles Samuel Stryker II., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stryker of Princeton, N. J., are to have the simplest sort of a wedding at about 5:30 o'clock this afternoon in the John Timothy Stone chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church, of which the bride's father is pastor. Mr. Stryker and his bride will reside in Connecticut.

Miss Helen Ingram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Finis Ingram, will be married today to Karl Koos, son of Prof. and Mrs. Leonard Koos of Kimbark avenue. The ceremony will take place in the Hyde Park Baptist church, with a breakfast following at the Windermere East hotel. Prof. Koos is professor of education at the University of Chicago. Miss Ingram and her fiancé both attended the university.

Miss Virginia Ann McGuinn, daughter of Edward B. McGuinn of Evanston, will become the bride of Lieut. Harold Howard Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Hall also of Evanston, in a military ceremony at 11:30 o'clock this morning at Fort Bragg, N. C. A breakfast and reception will follow at the Officers' club. Lieut. Hall and his bride will be at home in Fayetteville, N. C., after a wedding trip to Pinehurst, N. C.

Bahamian Holiday.

In a letter from Marion Dreyer Udell, just returned from a vacation in the Bahama Islands:

"It was simply perfect . . . altho they are engrossed in the business of war now. Of the survivors of sea battles pointed out to me, the world's model castaway was an English ship's captain. After two days in an open boat he arrived in full uniform, with his own and the ship's papers in complete order, his fountain pen, also American, English, and Canadian money, in his pockets.

"I loved to watch the Cameron highlanders. The soldiers wore battle dress, but the officers, dancing at the Prince George hotel in Nassau, wore either long dress trousers in clan plaid, or kilts, complete with sporran and a dirk in the shoe-top.

"I saw a retired British army officer whose arms and throat were solidly tattooed in four colors, wearing a gold necklace and monocle. . . .

"I wore passion flowers, ate turtle steaks and conch fritters . . . went on two cruises . . . visited a farm where pineapples, bananas, melons, potatoes, corn, papayas, yams, and sapodillas were rival attractions to the lobster and turtle crawls. . . . And my bathroom had a palm thatched roof and cerulean blue fixtures.

"On the boat back to Miami my table mate was Sterling Hayden. [Right; the movie people changed it to "i"]. He's just as handsome in person as on the screen—earnest, honest, and with a thirst for adventure like nothing I've ever seen. . . . He thinks the Bahamas are pretty but says Tahiti is THE place . . .

"Hayden has just embarked on something for the government, called the Caribbean commission. The object is to organize trading boats that have sail, both to conserve fuel and take part of the load off larger boats."

Identification.

Rosemary C. Boe bulletins that the station wagon with "Rancho de Mortgage" stenciled on the door belongs to Ted and Susie Waldman, who "give" on the harmonica and ukulele, respectively, and spend much of their time driving around in their little wagon, to play for the men in the services and at wartime benefits.

Savings Plan.

A bright young confrère suggests this as a slogan to help toward further economy in wartime:

BE SPECIVIC.
Eat It Up
Wear It Out
Make It Do Do Without.

Sentimental Era.

Herma Clark, our "When Chicago Was Young" editor, will have her fountain pen filled with violet ink this afternoon, when she'll autograph her new book, "The Elegant Eighties," in the book section at Marshall Field & Co. An inspiration, since purple ink was favored as writing fluid by the elegant ladies of that era.

More Sugar.

Awaiting his turn for sugar registration, Dick Landorff was engaged in conversation by an attractive elderly woman. She remarked that, until we entered the war, she'd never thought of the Japanese as a race, and was surprised there are so many of them. Dick replied that they are indeed a prolific race, whereupon the woman said: "Yes, indeed, I remember the vaudeville days, when I used to see them doing those prolific acrobatic stunts."

MISS JO ANN COLLYER.

Miss Jo Ann Collyer's engagement to Aviation Cadet Wofford Roscoe Tully of Houston, Tex., has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peter Collyer of Wilmette. Miss Collyer attended Sullins college and Northwestern university. Her fiancé, who attended the University of Colorado and Baylor university, is stationed at a southwestern air field. The wedding is planned for July, after he has received his commission as a second lieutenant in the air corps.

Friends of Literature Holding Their Annual Award Dinner Tonight

The Friends of Literature are holding their 11th annual Shakespeare birthday program and award dinner tonight in the Crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. Three Chicago authors are to be designated for awards.

Prof. Frank Hurburt O'Hara of the University of Chicago will receive a scroll for "distinguished service to literature" in the nonfiction field, this citation to be presented by Miss Lucille Current. Two poetry awards will be made, but the identity of the recipients will not be known until Mrs. E. J. Stein announces their names at the dinner.

Dr. Preston Bradley will be the master of ceremonies and Wilfred Hansford Gallienne of the British consulate will give the Shakespearean address. Vincent Starrett, Marguerite Lyon, Phillis Whitney, Maureen Daly, Arthur Meeker Jr., Prof. S. I. Hawakawa, and others are to be present as special guests. Mrs. A. H. Hilsabeck is president of the literary group.

Despite WPB's Curbs, Women to Be Beautiful

Women will be beautiful despite War Production board bans on the use of copper in beauty parlor supplies, mirrors, and reducing devices. Substitutes will rescue feminine vanity, Chicago manufacturers and dealers said yesterday.

Instead of twisting their curls into uncomfortable metal curlers women will turn to plastic curlers or hand twirled curls not needing mechanical aid.

Because imported gums and alcohol, essential ingredients of waving solutions, are no longer available a return to the simple water wave with plastic combs may be imminent. Stiff, bumpy marcel waves not only are outdated but the necessary metal curling irons are banned.

Plastic combs and reclaimed rubber combs replace hard rubber and metal. Plastics and reclaimed rubber deteriorate in beauty solutions and sterilization processes, but women will just have to put up with that if they want to be beautiful, manufacturers said.

New mechanical hair dryers and permanent wave machines are out, but enough are on hand to last for five years, dealers said. Machineless permanents relying on chemical solutions instead of machine heat are expected to become increasingly popular.

Wood already replaces metal in many exercising and weight reducing machines. "But you oughta bend down, sister, just the same," one beautician advised.

Others saw reduction of exercise machines as a boost to the defense nutrition program. "We'll all get healthy, slim, and trim that way," one said.

The Social Leader	Grayce Hampton

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This "Shanghai Gesture" is a mere hollow rattle compared to the stage production in which Florence Reed as "Mother" Gin Sling and Mary Duncan as Poppy made history.

THERE was melodrama that took you by the throat and shook you, kicked you out of the theater weak and all but gibbering from the fright you'd had, and left you with a MEMORY. This thing—pouf! A shoddy imitation.

The episodes are strung in slipshod fashion on a tarnished chain of continuity. . . . Situations and people are unreal; makeup is poor; dialog is flat—and if they ever make an actress out of young Gene Tierney I'll be surprised.

The hectic story is about a sinister Chinese woman in whose evil and lavishly appointed Shanghai establishment wicked people congregate and horrible things happen. . . . She lives for but one thing—revenge on a man she had married in Singapore years before and who, she thinks, had done her great wrong. . . . She had let him believe her dead—and, in Shanghai, had built a web to catch him. . . . At last he reappears—as one Sir Guy Charteris—who has bought up the property on which her house is located and who plans to put her out of business. . . .

One day she learns that his daughter is frequenting her house. . . . She licks her chops. How she can hurt him thru that daughter—a weak, pretty, spoiled creature, infatuated with one of China's most reprehensible and fascinating characters, "Doctor" Omar! . . . She will make a THING of the girl and sling her at his feet. . . . Point is—she doesn't know till the last that Poppy's her daughter, too. . . .

Ona Munson, Walter Huston, Phyllis Brooks, and several other good players try but don't succeed in making their performances credible. Victor Mature is icky.

Listen—I'll give you "Shanghai Gesture." Take it away, will you?

See you tomorrow.

Rabbi Points Out Three Choices for America's Future

The choice of one of three kinds of a future American society was laid before the annual public meeting of the Adult Education council yesterday by Rabbi Jacob J. Weinstein of Temple K. A. M. The first two include the dictatorship, in which "all our thinking is done for us," and the primitive society, in which "each man becomes a judge in his own eyes." These were dismissed by the rabbi.

Dr. Weinstein advocated a "commonwealth where authority is delegated to experts by citizens who themselves have a sense of values and understanding of the goals of government." To achieve this, he added, depends upon a culturally disciplined community which can think long enough to learn the facts about public matters, and "to study the relative merits of candidates who claim to know about such matters."

Mrs. Aletha Coffman of the Association for Family Living presided at the afternoon conference on community life.

Thru the Looking Glass

One of the things you'd better be saving of from now on, dear children, is hairpins. If you drop one, stoop over and pick it up. Already, in some parts of the country, we've been in beauty shops where an extra charge was made for pins, especially the bobby jobs left in the hair after a set.

The rather new, tricky little combs with split teeth are one of the happiest inventions of the times, we find. They hold the hair perfectly, even the softest, floppiest kind that is so maddening to its owners.

They're in various sizes and colors and in every case each tooth has a rather fat split down the center that makes it bulge out toward its fellows, giving the comb itself a grip like death. The tiny combs will hold little curls snug, and do it unobtrusively. The larger ones are pips for the heavier rolls and coils that normally take a raft of hairpins. We think these little helpers to a smooth, firm hairdo are a good investment on more than one count.

The same split tooth design has been used in some little combs that will anchor your hat. These are topped by a pin that's attached to your inner hat band, the comb is pointed backward—and nothing less than a tornado can dislodge your bonnet. We've tried these with several of the little hats that are almost dinks, to be worn right back on the head, and we've never known them to fail.

You'll find these at notion counters and in some salons and we advise you to look them up; they come in handy today and it's a sure thing that you'll bless them during the tomorrows of shortages.

Looking at Hollywood.. By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., May 8.—After a long search for a leading gal, Pare Lorentz has chosen Francis Dee to play opposite Bob Ryan in "Name, Age, and Occupation." . . . Dudley Digges gets a rôle in the same picture.

Frances Dee.

. . . The Warners have bought a magazine yarn, "San Patrie," which is about three Frenchmen who escape to England. It will be one of their big productions of the year. . . . Peter Lind Hayes is another actor who has been tapped for army service. . . . Paramount has bought the late Rachel Field's novel, "And Now Tomorrow," which is about a couple of New England sisters. Claudette Colbert is expected to be one of them. . . . Jesse Lasky's big casting problem of the moment is a jumping frog from Calaveras county for "The Adventures of Mark Twain."

Capt. Hewitt Wheless, the Flying Fortress skipper who rocketed into fame when F. D. R. did a radio piece about him a short time ago, was a visitor on the Paramount lot yesterday. A babe playing a bit in "Wake Island" fluttered up to him and said, "Hiya, Shorty, where you been? Haven't seen you in a long time."

Wheless said he'd been doing some flying.

"Seen any service?" asked the cutie.

When the distinguished visitor had left, the girl came over to the publicity man who had had Wheless in tow and said, "Who was that guy? I couldn't think of his last name."

In "Iceland" Osa Massen is wearing a $1,500 wedding costume originally intended for Sonja Henie. It was ordered from Norway for Sonja's "Happy Landing," but the picture was finished before the dress arrived, and the garment was put in storage. . . . Many stars are riding to work on motorcycles these days, but 20th has put a ban on such a practice because John Payne and Jack Oakie have been injured in spills. . . . On Tuesday Harry Cohn is taking an advance print of the Joan Bennett-Franchot Tone "Wife Takes a Flier" to the Lake Norconian club, luxury resort which has been made into a hospital, and where wounded men from Pearl Harbor are quartered. It will be the first movie the boys have seen since fateful Dec. 7. . . . Columbia has signed Adele Rowland and Elizabeth Patterson, both of Broadway repute, for rôles in "Lucky Legs."

Walt Disney's "Bambi," due soon now at long last, has taken longer in the making than "Gone with the Wind" and has cost almost as much. Well, three-quarters as much. By the time it hits the screens it will have cost three million as against GWTW's four.

"Gone" was in the talking stage about three years, but actual production took less than a year. [The memorable "The Informer" took only 14 days of shooting.] "Bambi" has been on the way for five years. By the time I first visited Hollywood, in the summer of 1938, the Disney artists were studying live deer parked outside their windows and doing pencil sketches of some of the scenes. I saw some of those pencil continuities on the movieola at that time and can recognize a bit of them in the finished product today.

Between 1938 and now the boys dreamed up more continuities, developed characters like Thumper the Rabbit, and Flower the Skunk, and devised new and breathtaking technique of using oils instead of watercolors. When recording began for the voice of Flower, the boy whose voice was used was a child. Before recording was completed the lad had grown up and his voice had changed.

Literally, several million drawings went into the making of "Bambi"—countless sketches on note paper and envelopes as well as more formal art.

Gita Alpar, the singer, became so nervous when her small daughter made her film debut at 20th-Fox that she had to be sent home. "I wasn't even that nervous when I made my first appearance in opera," she said afterward. The daughter is Julia Alpar, age 7, who plays a German girl in "The Pied Piper." She wasn't nervous a bit.

Black Cotton Is Summer's Big Surprise

BY REA SEEGER.

First summer surprise for the cotton pickers is black cotton. Just as smart and smooth as black linen, black shantung or black sheer, coal black cotton makes some of the most unusual spring and summer clothes ever unpacked. It is a dull black, ready for dresses, suits, and jackets. It hasn't any decisive weave, and it's cool and smooth without bulk or stuffiness.

Use it by the yard, if you make your own clothes, for separate jackets to wear with gay plaid, checked, or striped cotton skirts to complete a smart ensemble. Use it for tailored coat-dresses or the twosomes of gathered skirt with shirtwaist top. Because this black cotton is so modestly priced, because it makes super smart costumes equal to the swank of silk, linen, or shantung models, no wonder the shoppers are enthusiastic.

In the newest cotton clothes showings featuring both play clothes, street, and daytime fashions, you'll find lots of the black cotton. There's one good looking daytime dress trimmed with very large white rick-rack braid that will take every penny you have. The blouse top has three-quarter length sleeves, a high round neckline, and a fitted, long torso streamline. The white rick-rack braid goes round in deep ovals to accent the sleeves. The skirt is a very full gathered affair attached to a wide, straight belt, then buttoned with two white buttons at the side.

There's a dance or party dress of black cotton accented with a powder pink ribbon band going from east to west around the bodice top about six inches below the shoulders and thru the sleeves, too. This pink ribbon band is repeated around the low hipline of the long gathered skirt. There's a black cotton tailored jacket teamed with a luscious pink and black square checked cotton skirt. This wave of black cotton is the best news of the season, for it's different, a bit daring, and new as tomorrow's headline.

It's again time to clear up a few of the questions you've been asking us about the recipe contest.

First and foremost, the contest is still open and your entries are as welcome as ever. You needn't stop with one entry, either, you know. If you've half a dozen—or several dozen—super-recipes in your repértoire, go ahead and send them in. Just don't send them all in at once. One entry a week should be about right, certainly no more than one a day, please.

And if you've entered a good recipe that didn't win, don't hesitate to enter it again a little later. It may be that the judges found one of the ingredients out of season at the time and, therefore, the recipe was unacceptable for a prize. Or then, again, it may have been just your luck to have entered your recipe on a day when editors were swamped with good recipes and had to pass up yours in favor of one a bit more unusual or universally acceptable. [It's hard to pick a winner on days when wonderful recipes flock in by the dozens. On other days real prize materials may be downright scanty. So you see how it is!]

Another thing, look for the unusual "everyday" dishes in your file when you get ready to submit your entries. We'd like to keep this contest as practical and helpful to you as possible, and that means plenty of opportunity for not-too-complicated family foods on the prize winner list. Good ideas for leftovers, unusually flavored, yet simple, vegetable dishes; crisp, easy salads, these are the kind of recipes that can't be resisted.

It's been particularly heartwarming to get so many entries from men and children lately. Many a husband has his own collection of food specialties, it seems, and feels as much at home in the kitchen as does his spouse.

To answer a last question, do not send return mail stamps with your entry. Somehow the idea has gotten around to some of our contestants that they must include return postage to be eligble for a prize, and nothing could be farther from the case. We'd much rather not be responsible for returning anything. Keep that treasured old copy of the recipe and send us a duplicate.

Just in case you've missed reading them heretofore, the rules of the contest are:

1. Write or type recipe legibly, putting name and address on each page.
2. Give only standard, level measurements.
3. List ingredients in order of use.
4. Write full, complete directions that are simple to follow. [Don't omit method of mixing, oven times, and temperatures, and such information as to drain or not to drain canned goods.]
5. Give number of servings or yield.
6. Submit any kind of recipe you like, as long as it's interesting and good.
7. Not necessary, but helpful, is the inclusion of any interesting background information about the recipe, how you happened to invent the dish, how old it is, what you serve with it, or any other enticing tidbits of information.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Strawberry lovers will hail this luscious coffee cake. It's a real breakfast treat and wins today's $5 prize for Mrs. George Kolley, 7416 Warren avenue, Forest Park.

Strawberry Coffee Cake.
[Eight to nine inch square pan.]
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
6 tablespoons sugar.
¾ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter or shortening
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup milk
1½ cups strawberries, cleaned and hulled

Sift flour, baking powder, sugar, and salt together. Cut in shortening. Combine egg and milk, and add to dry ingredients, stirring with fork only to blend well. Spread dough in well greased eight or nine inch square pan. Cover with strawberries, whole or cut in half, and sprinkle with topping. Bake in hot [400 degree] oven for 25 to 30 minutes.

Topping.
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
¾ cup granulated sugar

Blend together well with fingertips.

If you'd like to try for the $5 prize, send your entry to Recipe Contest, CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Any interesting recipe is eligible. Ingredients must be listed in the order of use, with all measurements standard and level, and with clear and complete directions.

[Send in your favorite recipe.]

Crocheted Pillbox Hat

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This youthful and flattering pillbox is the universal youthful favorite of the season. It is worn at the back of the head and finished with a pert feather. A tiny hat may be made to wear on the lapel. The pattern includes instructions for making both the miniature and the regular hat.

For instructions in crocheting the pillbox, No. 846, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

If Mrs. Charles C. Gates accepts the many invitations to speak that are being extended to her these days she won't spend much time this spring at home in Denver, Colo., with her husband, those of their seven children who live there.

Mrs. Charles C. Gates. [Tribune photo.]

"Will you speak at the Stadium here in Chicago if we can arrange a meeting?" asked the head of one of the largest civilian defense organizations yesterday after she had listened to Mrs. Gates talk before members of the Executives' club of Chicago and their guests. "Could you come to New York for several meetings?" asked an easterner who happened to be in Chicago and was a guest at the luncheon meeting, held in the Sherman hotel ballroom. And so it went; for every one who hears Mrs. Gates feels certain that she brings a message that every American should hear and heed.

"When Hell Came to Heaven" is the title Mrs. Gates, wife of a business man of Denver, has chosen for the talk she gives. It is an account of what happened at Pearl Harbor, censored as everything must be these days, but stirring and inspiring, nevertheless. It is a story told in simple language with no statistics or political angles; just one typical American mother's reaction to the unpreparedness and fifth column activity that she says existed in Hawaii before Dec. 7.

"It can happen here in Chicago, just as it did in Honolulu," said this woman who for 13 years had been spending the winters peacefully on Diamond Head in the home she and her husband had built. Second Heaven, they called it. There was hardly a dry eye when she finished talking yesterday, but her talk does not appeal just emotionally to her listeners; what she says are cold, hard facts, with plenty of good, common sense tying together events in Hawaii and conditions here on the mainland.

"Don't bicker about an automobile tire, a lump of sugar, or a gallon of gasoline," she urged. "Produce, produce, produce. And don't be too generous. Don't tolerate anything that is un-American. Report any one, no matter how close to you, who obstructs the progress of the war, who delays our victory. I am here because of an unspoken promise to those boys in Hawaii who fought so gloriously.

"You fathers and mothers, promise your sons when you send them to war that you will see that they get the necessary weapons—planes, guns, tanks, ships, munitions. Don't let them down. No sacrifice is too great."

Harold O. McLain, president of the club, presided at the meeting, which was attended by about 900. John Gallaher spoke for the defense savings staff, urging every one to allot at least 10 per cent of income to the purchase of bonds and stamps. Among those at the speakers' table were Mrs. Gates' daughter, Mrs. Brown Cannon of Denver; Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf of the defense savings staff; Mrs. William H. Stanley and Mrs. L. Robert Mellin of the consumer information service, Mrs. James A. Cathcart of the Red Cross, Mrs. A. L. Bering, who was a nurse during the last war and who was awarded the croix de guerre; Mrs. Mildred Knowles of the American Legion auxiliary, Capt. E. A. Lofquist, chief of staff of the 9th naval district; Maj. C. L. Jordan of the marines, Col. Clifford C. Gregg of the 6th corps area, and Capt. W. W. Elder of the navy.

The latest ideas on food and nutrition will be presented over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system network in a program of Red Cross classes beginning at 9:45 o'clock this morning. Alida Drake, staff teacher in the nutrition department of the Red Cross, will be instructor for the series. Only the first 15 minutes of the class will be broadcast, with the remaining 45 minutes for the studio audience only. The course is scheduled for 12 Saturdays, and those who hear it in entirety will receive Red Cross food and nutrition certificates on July 25. The public is invited to attend the classes.

Proceeds from the Girls' Latin school's recent two day folk festival went to the Chicago decorators' camp furnishing fund. Yesterday the four top class presidents turned over a $125 check to Mrs. Nina M. Bingham, chairman of the fund committee. The money will help equip a small lounge for petty officers in the naval signal corps school at the Sunny gymnasium, University of Chicago.

Ensign Scott and three other naval students met the girls over a cup of tea at Miss Cornelia Conger's apartment. Miss Conger says that the decorators are still in urgent need of money to complete the enormous lounge for the sailors in Sunny and would be most grateful for any contributions sent to them at 700 North Michigan avenue.

The Terminal theater, 3315 West Lawrence avenue, will have a special two and a half hour show this morning at 10 o'clock. The price of admission will be cakes, cookies, packages of razor blades, or cigarets for the Chicago service men's center, 176 West Washington street.

Fifteen instrument playing members of the junior drum and bugle corps, No. 1871, 33d division, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will give a variety show at the service men's center tomorrow evening.

Jewish Big Sisters Giving Benefit Dance Tomorrow

The Jewish Big Sisters will give a benefit dinner-dance, their annual "Maytime Frolic," tomorrow night in the Stevens hotel. Ten thousand dollars is the goal set by the organization for the support of its services for underprivileged girls. The spring benefit is the one large fund raising effort of the year. Mrs. Philip P. Sachs is president of the Big Sisters, and Mrs. Samuel S. Hollender is general chairman of the party.

YWCA Camps Turn to Dobbin for Transport

"We'll hitch old Dobbin to the shay," is more than a song to YWCA camp leaders who met in conference last night in Hotel Sherman—it's an important idea.

More than one camp group has already bought a horse and carriage to take the place of station wagons and trucks used in former years to transport campers to and from camp and transportation center. But even with the help of horses campers are finding transportation problems numerous, because of the ban on tire sales and increased difficulty in getting rail and bus accommodations.

Representatives from YWCA's in 14 central states, in Chicago to attend the three day central regional conference which opened yesterday, voted that outdoor camping, which recently was made a nation-wide YWCA project, is an important factor in youthful citizens' morale. They agreed to send such a statement to the American Campers' association for action.

Second among camping problems is that of getting sufficient camp personnel. Several camp representatives will appeal to local Civilian Defense committees for volunteer aids, again on the ground that camping is an essential morale builder.

Camp food will be less sweet than in former years, for the Y also has sugar problems. One secretary asked, "Will the kids have to bring their own sugar to camp?"

"Women in war work are not necessarily all in defense industries," declared Miss Rose Terlin, secretary for economic education with the national board of the YWCA, when she spoke yesterday afternoon before more than 1,000 attending the conference. "They can serve just as well as street car conductors and they could fill almost every position in a department store."

Miss Charlotte Niven, a member of the association's national staff who recently returned to the United States after two years of YWCA work in England, said when she spoke yesterday morning that the British association's chief problem is in providing recreation for the thousands of women in uniform.

Field Day Planned Today for Wild Flower Society

A field day in the St. Charles vicinity is planned for today by the Illinois members of the Wild Flower Preservation society. They will be at Mrs. F. K. Babson's Grangemead farm this morning, have lunch at the Cyril Farney estate, and visit Millcreek, E. W. Sencenbaugh's estate, in the afternoon. Dr. R. M. Strong and Dr. Margery Carlson are to be field marshals for the trip. Mrs. E. E. Waful is president of the state chapter.

Girls They Left Behind Them Are Lonely These Days

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"My boy friend left for the army six months ago, and I am lonely."

The phrase appears in numbers of letters we are receiving these days. Thousands of young women thruout the land, at this moment, are feeling lonesome.

Now, what we are asking you young women readers today is to help us with suggestions about how to keep up your spirits and your morale during this loneliness crisis in your young lives. You are in a position to know far better than we oldsters, much as we sympathize with you and would like to offer you the perfect panacea.

The other day a forlorn young woman, whose eyes were red from weeping, showed us a note from her army man, which was brief and to the point. "Good-by, darling. I'll always love you, here and in distant lands," indicating, of course, that he was shuffling off to parts unknown.

Naturally, no other young man is going to take that one's place for a long, long time if ever. Yet the girl cannot go on weeping, dispirited, unhappy. Her health would suffer, and she'd become a burden to herself, as well as to her family. More than that, she's not playing the game as her beloved is playing his. He is just as lonely, just as unhappy over the separation but, luckily for him, his time is fully occupied with strenuous duties.

Furthermore, the spirit that sent him off to fight survives in him and helps sustain his morale.

Now, perhaps, it is strenuous work that should be suggested for the girls who are left behind, but we are asking you young women for the answer to this problem so definitely yours. What do you suggest? What kind of work do you think the most engrossing and comforting? War work, of course, of one kind or another, we presume, which must always be commended. But are there any other outlets for your particular energies that make you feel you, too, are doing your part and doing it in a spirit that keeps your morale and your chins up?

Tsk! Tsk!

The spring pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

Most players have the impression that a safety play is a standard maneuver under fixed circumstances. This is only partly true. The term also applies to all situations in which the declarer can guarantee himself the maximum number of chances to make the contract with the minimum amount of risk. Consider today's hand:

East, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ A Q 8 5 2
♦ A K Q 9 2

WEST
♠ 9 6 4 3
♦ 7 5 4

EAST
♠ K J 10 7
♥ A 10 5 3
♣ A 6 5

SOUTH
♠ none
♥ K Q J 9 8 7
♦ J 10 6
♣ K J 7 4

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	2 hearts	Pass	3 diamonds
Pass	3 hearts	Pass	3 no trump
Pass	4 hearts	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

The less said about East's double, the better, even tho it paid dividends.

West chose to try a "surprise attack" and opened the deuce of clubs. Dummy played low and East won with the ace. The heart three was returned and declarer stepped up with the jack, then played the trump queen. East took this trick with the ace and returned the club six. Declarer thought for a moment and decided against the finesse. By going up with the king, he still had two chances to make the contract, namely, by finding the trump suit split three-three, or by East's holding three diamonds. As may be seen, the cards lay wrong for him, and he was forced to lose a trump and a club trick, thereby going on the wrong side of the score for 200 points.

How simple everything would have been for the declarer had he stopped to consider before playing to the second trick [the heart three return by East]. What could it cost him to play low? The worst situation would be to find West with the singleton 10 of hearts and East with the other five. Even then, West would win with the 10, but could make no lead that would jeopardize the contract. The best return, a spade, would be won with the ace and a small diamond led to the 10 in the closed hand. The trump ace would then be forced out and the losing clubs discarded in safety. Nor would the club return by East [after winning with the trump ace] fare any better, from the defensive point of view. Declarer would go up with the king, draw the trumps, and claim the balance.

Here was a ready made safety play. By passing the lead to West, possibly [but not probably] at the cost of a trick, declarer could have insured his doubled contract.

Family Strife Needn't Warp Child's Values

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

A great many of the letters I receive come to me from women who are separated or divorced [or think they should be] from their husbands; from women [and men] who report friction of various sorts in their home life, or other unhappy conditions. Frequently these letters express distress over the effect of these conditions on their children, and their future adjustments in life.

Now, of course, we know that love and a fine working agreement between husband and wife, in their relation to each other and to their children, is the ideal preparation for the happy married life of those children when they grow up. But the absence of those conditions does not inevitably mean failure for the children in their normal development; or later in their careers as husband and wives, fathers, and mothers.

A father drinks, the mother and father quarrel, they are divorced, the mother is too strict, the father lax or indifferent, we wouldn't choose any of this as a setting for the unfolding and nourishment of the life of a child. But it doesn't always spell disaster, and lack of adjustment to life later on when these children grow up. I have many letters and my personal observation that testify to that.

Sometimes witnessing these unfortunate things gives rise to a fine, even passionate, determination in a boy or girl to make a success of marriage when it comes to them, to give their children the happiness and richness and serenity of living that they were themselves denied. Sometimes situations, such as those I've described, sharpen a young person's sense of values, put an edge on the appreciation of beauty in human relations.

I know of so many cases that illustrate the point. Young people see drinking which, carried too far [or leading to extra-marital relationships], brings grief into family life. Clear-eyed, they map out their own lives to avoid such disaster, and carry thru. Or held coldly at arm's length and rigidly raised, feeling unloved, other children grow up; and when they become mothers and fathers resolve not to make their children suffer as they did.

So, children don't succumb to adverse home conditions. Many have inner stamina which brings them out on top.

The urge of most of those parents, who have poverty or unhappiness behind them, is to give their children something finer than they had, in both material things and those of the mind and spirit.

Dear Diary BY BECKY

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Things My Mother Never Taught Me.

That a blonde in an office is dynamite;
That promotions are rarely, if ever, in sight;
Bald-headed employers
Are always annoyers
But men with toupés are all right!
SAL.

By the Clock.

"I was a stenographer and secretary for 13 years before becoming a housewife and mother of two children and have found that the time element is even more important now than when it just meant getting out a certain letter at a certain time—an impersonal, mechanical matter. But, if the mother of the family abandons promptness, accuracy, and time, how and when would—

"Hubby get to work,
"Children get to school,
"Meals be served on the dot three times a day,
"Dental and doctor's appointments be kept,
"Formulas made accurately, regularly and on time daily,
"Washing, ironing, cleaning, and mending be kept up to date?

"Why," writes Therese Marie Simon, "I live by the clock NOW more intensely than I ever did as a white collar girl."

Modern Mother.

Modern note: the private in the army who bought a copy of the new Thesaurus of Slang and confided in the salesgirl that it was a Mother's Day present.

Her Greatest Day.

She was born in West Virginia, went to Bowdoin college and later took an active part in civic and social work, writing several brochures—one on unjust taxation. She—Anna Jarvis—was chosen the most famous woman of West Virginia. But, the high spot of her career was in 1908 when Philadelphia adopted her plan and celebrated the first Mother's Day, and then, six years later, when President Wilson, by official proclamation, designated the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day.

Mother.

Being a mother—it's the one job you never know if you've done all right. And that's why we have Mother's Day, tho you may never have thought of it in that way. It's just a means of saying, "We think you did a grand job."

And the nice part is—you don't have to say it in extravagant gestures . . . in the longest wire . . . with the most expensive gift . . . by the biggest bouquet. [Remember how happy she was when you brought home the lopsided, crayon-colored heart from kindergarten? Did she ask you if any one made a bigger heart?]

You see—there aren't any promotions in a mother's job . . . no honors and testimonials after 20 years of service. The reward, now, for any mother, is an uneasy heart.

So, when you say to your own mother, "You're sweet," or "You're swell" [the words don't matter] don't forget to stop in the house down the street where that nice boy went off to war . . . drop in . . . on Mother's Day.

The Housewife

If the tapes on your Venetian blinds are the worse for wear, or beyond cleaning any more, we suggest you get some of the clever tape made especially to clip on over the old, giving the appearance of new. BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Frankie Frisch's Pirates employed what they call their pennant technique on the Cubs yesterday, and as far as the latter were concerned the results were more than slightly distasteful. Operating in collaboration with Truett [Rip] Sewell, himself a Cub heckler of high rating, the second placers made their 1942 Chicago debut by putting together a 6 to 4 victory which at the same time marked the seventh setback in the last nine matches engaged in by James Wilson's boys.

The Cubs hit with more than their customary abandon, especially against a nemesis of the Sewell variety, but they were not overly alert when opportunity beckoned. Eleven of them expired at the various bases, a total sufficiently high to indicate that the Pirate expert had something in reserve for the pinches. The last time he revealed even a trace of weakness was in the fifth, when his foes grabbed an all too fleeting lead. Thereafter he proceeded quickly to his second success of the season over the Chicagoans and his fourth of the year.

Pirates Hit When It Counts.

The Pirates weren't exactly vicious with their bats, but, because of their ability to come up with a blow of some kind when it would help, they not only snatched the lead away from the Cubs twice, but knocked little Jake Mooty into the discard in the sixth and slipped the decisive thrust to Rescuer Johnny Schmitz, the lefty, in the seventh. Jake was guilty twice of losing one run edges, one of which was built up on a triple by Clyde McCullough in the second and the other on a series of four hits, one a triple by Charley Gilbert, in the fifth.

The first Cub lead was melted into a tie by Vince DiMaggio, who picked on Mooty for a homer in the fourth. The Pirates then went ahead in the fifth because of a boot by Lou Stringer. The Cubs got back in front with their aforementioned four hit barrage a moment later, only to learn in the next inning that the Pirates have no fear of Gilbert's throwing arm. Bob Elliott stretched his third hit into a double and it became the tying run and also the cause of the dismissal, soon thereafter, of Mooty.

Jake Cleans Up.

Mooty had a full house with none out to contend with in the second, so

STAGGERING SOX FACE BROWNS IN ST. LOUIS TODAY

Cellar Dwellers Call on Bill Dietrich.

Dykes on Way

MANAGER JIMMY DYKES of the White Sox, who came by way of Chicago while the club went direct from Boston to open a series in St. Louis today, left last night to rejoin it. No reason was given for the side trip. Pitcher John Rigney, recently reclassified into Class 1-A by his draft board, accompanied Dykes. Pitcher Thornton Lee and Outfielder Taft Wright, who were injured before the season opened, are expected to be ready when the team returns home Tuesday.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., May 8. — The White Sox, those dazed denizens of last place, those possessors of four victories as contrasted with 18 defeats, arrived here late this afternoon prepared to battle in a three game series with the St. Louis Browns. The Brownies conquered them thrice in the opening series of the season.

Life for the Sox since they last saw the Browns has followed the pattern of that opening series. They were shut out in the opener. They blew the second in the ninth inning after leading, 3 to 1, and they went all to pieces in the third game, losing 13 to 3, making no runs after the second inning.

Bill Dietrich Gets Call.

Bill Dietrich is slated to pitch in the opener tomorrow. Bill was the victim of that 13 to 3 experience but came back to accomplish one of the Sox's four victories to date, a 3 to 1 decision over the Detroit Tigers. He pitched well against the Yankees his last time out but received panicky support afield and little support of any kind at bat.

Eddie Smith, most consistently good of all the Sox pitchers [Ted Lyons has had one 9 to 0 thumping] will make his fifth try for his first victory in the first game Sunday. Johnny Rigney will pitch the second Sabbath match.

The Sox will return to Chicago Monday morning. On Tuesday and Wednesday will be hosts to the slugging Boston Red Sox. Following the Red Sox will be the Philadelphia Athletics, headed by Connie Mack, who has termed the White Sox the darkhorses of the American league pennant race. They will be in Comiskey park for three single games and are reported to be in a fighting mood over the way the White Sox have usurped last place.

Varsity Infield Is Back.

The third of the eastern visitors will be the Washington Senators, for three engagements, including a double header on Sunday, May 17, followed by a two game visit by the Yankees. The Tigers will be in town for the first night game of the local season on Friday, May 22 and for a double bill the following Sunday. After this, Jimmy Dykes' boys will set out on a trip which will carry them to every American league city.

In the series which starts here tomorrow Manager Dykes will go back to his so-called first string infield composed of Joe Kuhel, Don Kolloway, Luke Appling, and Bob Kennedy. In the one game in Boston Murrell Jones, Jim Webb, Leo Wells, and Dario Lodigiani were the infield. Each made a hit and Wells produced the only run with a homer. All played well defensively, perpetrating no errors, but Dykes, decided to go back to the higher priced "help."

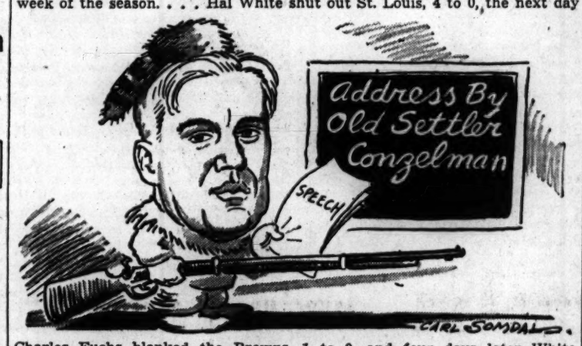
Richardson Optioned by A's to Williamsport

Philadelphia, Pa., May 8 (AP).—The Athletics today optioned Kenneth Richardson, infielder-outfielder, to Williamsport, Pa., of the Eastern league.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

JIMMY CONZELMAN, the picturesque old settler on the athletic frontier who coaches the Chicago Cardinals, will deliver the commencement address at the University of Dayton tomorrow. . . . Add sport oddities: Al Fish is the new swimming instructor at San Francisco's Central YMCA and the head of San Francisco's aquarium is Al Seal. . . . Three Detroit Tiger rookies contributed an extremely rare performance the second week of the season. . . . Hal White shut out St. Louis, 4 to 0, the next day



Charles Fuchs blanked the Browns, 1 to 0, and four days later White whipped Chicago, 9 to 0. . . . Clyde King, field judge whose adverse ruling resulted in a football defeat for St. Mary's, Cal., by Nevada in 1934, is now Commander King, executive officer in charge of athletics for the navy's aviation preflight school at St. Mary's. . . . The Green Bay Packers will begin training on Aug. 16 this year and may break a precedent of long standing by moving out of Green Bay for preseason preparation. . . . New York fans again are booing Joe DiMaggio every time he goes to the plate. . . . No one is sure of the reason, except maybe they think Joe shouldn't have held out for more money this spring. . . . Some of those who heard thousands in that crowd of 68,394 at the Sox-Yankee game last Sunday sized up the riding Joe got that afternoon as a pretty shoddy demonstration. . . . The national anthem, as played on phonographs in all the major league parks, isn't getting too good a break from some of the disks and loud speaker devices. . . .

Clark Shaughnessy of the University of Maryland rates Norm Standlee, his Stanford full back in 1940, the greatest player he saw in his two years on the Pacific coast. . . . However, Shaughnessy says he got more service out of Hugh Gallarneau, for Standlee was out of competition much of the time because of injuries. . . . It's a news item when you can get two fans to agree on the greatest football player of all time, but in one room the night before the Kentucky Derby there were five—Ted Husing, Henry McLemore, Don Ameche, Harold Hirsch, who is a former player at the University of Georgia, and the Wake, who refused to argue the point that George McAfee of the 1941 Chicago Bears was the cleverest ball carrier any of us ever had seen. . . . A younger brother of Leo Wells, White Sox infielder, lost the sight in one eye during the Pearl Harbor raid. . . . Big Bill James, who pitched for George Stallings' Boston Braves before the last World war, is a candidate for sheriff of Butte county, Cal.

Portrait of Mother.

I wish I were an artist
That I might paint of you
The finest kind of portrait
That any one could do.

Your loving eyes that sparkle
With youth's eternal light—
Your hair so soft and lovely
That's always my delight.

Your lips, I'd paint them smiling
As I remember best,
Your face reflecting beauty
With which you're truly blessed.

And if I were an artist
How happy I would be,
I'd paint the finest portrait
For all the world to see.

O, Mothers of America!

O, Mothers of America
Whose sons have heard the call
To serve their God and country
That truth may never fall;
Our hearts go out to all of you
Upon this Mother's day,
Our homage and our reverence,
All at your feet we lay.

For only a mother can know the pain
And sorrow deep at heart
Which every one of you has felt
When called upon to part
With those brave sons who give their all
That Liberty may live,
No human heart can offer up
More than you mothers give.

Some one long ago once wrote
In phrase sincere and fine,
"In war it is really the mothers
Who are on the firing line";
Each anguished day, each lonely night
While loved ones are away
Make up a rosary of sacrifice
Which only a mother can pray.

O, Mothers of America,
Who have been proud to yield
Your sons, some from the city's streets,
Others from country field;
We ask upon your valiant brows
Rich blessings from above,
As we offer you each the shining star
Of our gratitude and love!
—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

A Mother's Prayer—1942.

I bow to Thee, dear Lord, on bended knee
And ask that Thou bless graciously my son,
Protect him well and bring him back to me
When war is thru and peace at last is won.

Let him do only what Thou thinkest right,
Watch over him wherever he may go,
Give him the strength to wage the gallant fight
And be triumphant if Thou will it so.

But if Thy will be otherwise, dear Lord,
And he should not again come back to me
Let him, I pray Thee, know the sweet reward
Of dwelling evermore in heaven with Thee.
—Em Aitch Dee.

A Tribute to Mother.

There is no love like mother's love.
No friendship half as true,
Alone, she braved the darkest shades,
To bring the light to you,
And when she took you in her arms,
Her baby few weeks old,
She crooned to you her song of love,
The sweetest ever told.

Today, altho you are a man,
She still walks by your side,
Your guardian angel sent from Him,
Who knows you need a guide,
And step by step on life's rough way,
In sorrows and in joys,
There's many a Mary sharing still
The crosses of her boys.
—W. J. Griffith.

My Mother.

I knew not once what sacrifice
Of luxury and lace
She made to bring a toothless smile
Into my baby face . . .

I knew not then how many nights
I woke her with my screams;
I could not count the steps she took
To lull me back to dreams . . .

I know now, since my years are summed
In tens instead of twos,
I owe her ageing, faithful soul
A universe of dues . . . .

I know God chose from heaven's heart
The kindest angel from above,
And sent her here on earth to me;
A mother made of love!
—F. H. Keith.

DE KALB SEEKS FOURTH TITLE IN ELMHURST MEET

17 Colleges Compete in Today's Events.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Seventeen colleges and normal schools have entered 225 athletes in the 10th Elmhurst college invitational track meet which will be held this afternoon at 1 o'clock. Included are two schools, Valparaiso and Butler, which are entered for the first time.

De Kalb Teachers college is defending its team championship, an honor won for three consecutive years. De Kalb also was champion in 1937. North Central of Naperville has won the meet in all other years. The games consist of 14 individual events and the one mile relay, which is the standard track and field program for Western conference competition.

Others Are Strong.

Western Michigan college, which finished second in the team standings last year, is another contender and so is Loyola university, third in the 1941 meet. Loyola has entered 18 men including Capt. Max Lenover, who established meet records in 1939 in the half mile and mile races. Lenover's time for the record half mile was 1:56.4 and for the mile it was 4:16.9.

Art Lancaster, a teammate of Lenover, hopes to regain the meet record for the 220 yard low hurdles which he shared in 1939 with two others but which was surpassed last year by Garritt Stukkie of Western Michigan, who set a mark of :24 4-10.

Normal Tops Entries.

Illinois Normal has entered the largest number of athletes. Included is Charles Gerfen, sprinter and broad jumper, who is defending champion in the latter event. Gerfen will be competing against his brother, Earl, an Elmhurst student, for the third time in the broad jump. Lyn Schendel of North Central is the other defending champion. Schendel won the mile and half mile races last year when Lenover did not compete.

Western Michigan's strength is in the field events but the Michigan squad also has an exceptional two miler in Eddie Pedler and a relay team that may break the meet record of 3:24.2, set by Loyola in 1940. Western Michigan won the relay last year. The team is intact and was timed last year in 3:25.4.

Records Are in Danger.

Several of the all-time marks are threatened. Among them is 15.3 seconds for the 120 yard high hurdles. Three men, Stark of North Central; McMillion, De Kalb; and Lancaster of Loyola, are expected to run the course in this time.

Ray Alsbury of Butler repeatedly has proved his ability in the 220 yard low hurdles and it is likely he will set a meet record in this event.

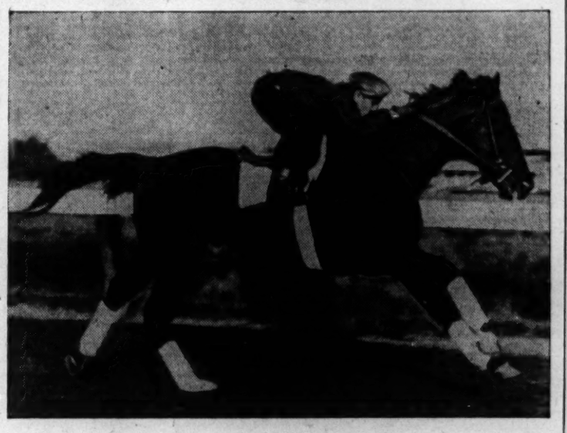
The broad jump record is the only mark that has not been bettered since the meet was originated in 1933. The record is 24 feet 1¾ inches and was made by Dreusicke of Elmhurst. Several other records, in addition to Lenover's, are excellent. The javelin throw mark is 199 feet 5 inches, the high jump all-time mark is 6 feet 3⅞ inches, and the records for the sprints are 9.8 seconds for 100 yards and 21.2 seconds for 220 yards.

Here Are the Contestants.

The complete list of entries is: Butler, Carroll, Chicago Teachers college, Concordia of River Forest, Ill., Elmhurst, Illinois Normal, Illinois Tech, Loyola, Milwaukee Teachers, Morton Junior college, North Central, De Kalb Teachers, Western Michigan, Valparaiso, Wheaton, Wilson, and Wright Junior colleges of Chicago.

Glen Holmes, athletic director of Oak Park, Ill., High school, who has served as starter and referee since the meet was inaugurated, again will serve in these capacities.

Bidders for Turf Fortune



Warren Wright's Sun Again, which was held out of the Kentucky Derby to prepare for the $50,000 added Preakness stakes at Pimlico today, still is rated only a 50-50 chance to start.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

TRAUTMAN, CHIEF OF AA, MARRIES GEORGIA WOMAN

Louisville, Ky., May 8 (AP).—George McNeal Trautman Sr., Columbus, O., president of the American Association Professional Baseball league, and Mrs. Jane Daley Asbury, Valdosta, Ga., a director of the National Foxhunters association, were married today in Christ church cathedral. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Russell Daley of Brattleboro, Vt., and has resided in Georgia for a number of years. At present she is head of a Nashville, Tenn., concern.

42,822 See Dodgers Win at Twilight

Brooklyn, N. Y. May 8 (AP).—The first twilight game in major league history was played today before a crowd that contributed to a record of 42,822 paid admissions and a gate of $59,859.25 for the Navy Relief society. The Brooklyn Dodgers defeated New York Giants, 7 to 6.

Many bought tickets who did not use them and, in addition, players, umpires, peanut vendors, policemen, ushers, and others who occupied no seats nevertheless paid their way into the park. No one, not even the sailors, Legionnaires, and musicians who paraded in elaborate pre-game ceremonies, entered without tickets.

Whitlow Wyatt lasted past the first inning for the first time in three games and went on to attain his first victory of the season, altho he couldn't finish. The Dodgers knocked Cliff Melton out and scored four runs in the third inning. Score:

7.	Valdina Orphan	C. Bierman	8-1
8.	Alsab	B. James	7-2
9.	Sun Again	W. Eads	9-1
10.	Colchis	G. Woolf	7-1

All will carry 126 pounds.
†Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable entry.

Baltimore, Md., May 8 (AP).—A battered silver mug full of gold—and the glory that goes with it—today drew 10 top 3 year olds into the list for tomorrow's 52d Preakness stakes at Pimlico.

It's the biggest field in six years and the widest open in twice that, with any one of eight of the horses in it able to pick up the winner's share of more than $58,000. As a result, some 40,000 customers are expected to jam their way into old Hill Top to sit in on the party at 3:55 p.m. [Central war time].

Remember Whirlaway in '41?

Topped off by the entry of Shut Out, which won the Kentucky Derby a week ago, and Devil Diver, which was supposed to, nine of those whose names were dropped into Racing Secretary Charley McLennan's entry box this morning are definite starters. The only one uncertain of getting to the post is Sun Again, the big-quartered chestnut which is the lone hope of Owner Warren Wright and Trainer Ben Jones for grabbing their second Preakness in a row.

They did it a year ago with Whirlaway, but Sun Again has been hampered in training, was scratched from the Derby last Saturday, and tonight had only a 50-50 chance of getting in the race.

With the race pouring new thousands in, Baltimore, already full of war workers, was a boom town tonight. Streets were jammed, hotel lobbies were packed with visitors, and every major hotel had the SRO sign out.

Arcaro Is Confident.

Shut Out and Devil Diver — Mrs. Payne Whitney's entry — still were conceded the horses to beat. But, despite his Derby victory, Shut Out was not as well liked as his stablemate, largely because Eddie Arcaro insists the husky son of St. German's did not run his true race last week, when he finished sixth, and would run differently tomorrow.

"I took him back off the early pace then, and he didn't respond later," explained Arcaro, who is trying for his second straight Preakness victory. "This time, if he wants to run, I'll let him."

But there are thousands rooting for—and betting on—Alsab, because the game little Chicago horse, which won 10 straight races last year, ran such a bang-up second in the Derby and had a snappy mile workout here two days ago.

Requested Isn't Forgotten.

And there was support for Texas Ben Whitaker's Requested, for most folks are inclined to think his 14th place finish in the Derby was caused largely by the rough trip he had, and for Apache, the handsome colt which would be the third Preakness winner for Owner William Woodward and Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons—if he wins. Apache will be wearing blinkers in a race for the first time tomorrow, because he had them on Wednesday when he whizzed a mile in 1.39 2-5, the best training effort of any candidate in the field.

Nor can you count out the other Texan in the field, Emerson Woodward's Valdina Orphan, one of the early pace-setters in the Derby. He'll have to step only a mile and three-sixteenths this time, compared to the mile and a quarter of last Saturday.

Outsiders Are Listed.

The outsiders are Mrs. Barclay Douglas' Fair Call, which wound up seventh in the Derby after a bit of bumping, and Louis L. Mayer's Domingo, an invader from England.

The Maryland flag wavers were sending it along on R. Sterling Clark's Colchis, first likely looking entry since Challedon jolted Johnstown three years ago. What's more, he'll have Georgie Woolf on his back again.

The race is worth $78,310. The winner will get $58,175—if it's Alsab, Apache, Devil Diver, Domingo, Shut Out, or Sun Again, which were original nominees—or $56,810 if it's Colchis, Requested, Valdina Orphan, or Fair Call, which were supplementary eligibles at $1,500 each. This sum is second only to the $60,000 Harry Payne Whitney's Victorian picked up in 1928.

Sportsman's Starter Sends Field Away Too Soon.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Roy Dickerson, one of the most capable and experienced starters in the country, yesterday committed one of the errors that happens once or twice in a lifetime to men in his business. He sent the field away in the main event at Sportsman's Park before one of the horses, Uncle Walter, had gone into the gate.

Art of War went on to win by five lengths in this mile and a sixteenth gallop while Earliana was running second and Evil Spirit third. Thereupon the fans who had backed Uncle Walter down to 5 to 1 odds broke into vociferous booing. They were promptly appeased, however, by an announcement that their wagers would be deducted from the mutuel pool. A total of $7,337 had been bet on Uncle Walter.

"It's just one of those things that happens to the best of starters," said one experienced official after the race. "The horse got into a position where Dickerson couldn't see him momentarily, and in that moment Roy pressed the button."

New Law Permits Refund.

The refund from the mutuel pool was made possible by an Illinois racing rule passed in 1940 which changed the old definition of when a horse is a starter. Under the old rule a horse was a starter when he left the paddock and entered the track on the way to the post, and all wagers stood whether he was sound or unsound, dead or alive, when the starting bell rang.

Under the new rule the stewards may excuse a horse at any time before the race is actually started and order a refund from the pool. Tho Uncle Walter was not formally excused before the start, all agreed that the stewards' action conformed with the spirit of the law. Trapped behind the gate, the horse was in no position to attempt to run. Jockey Ray Jones simply brought him around the gate and rode him up to be unsaddled.

Riders Shaken Up in Spill.

After Eric Guerin had fallen off his horse, Moot Question in the first race without being hurt, a more serious accident occurred in the fourth. Kilocycle and Katherine G. fell directly in front of the stands, pitching their riders violently. Both boys—Harry Schuling and Virgil Phillips—were knocked unconscious. Katherine G. was uninjured, but Kilocycle received a broken leg just above the ankle and had to be destroyed.

Schuling came out of it badly shaken up. Phillips also regained consciousness but he was taken to the Garfield Park hospital for observation.

Following the accident, Lake View went on to win this race by a neck over Merry Bid. Arched was third.

The second dead heat of the meeting occurred in the third race when the camera was unable to separate Dandy Maiden and Sally I. These two were only a head in advance of the third horse, Perhobo.

Sportsman's Park will hold its third Saturday program today with the expectation of another big afternoon. On the opening Saturday, the mutuel handle was $492,207, which was $98,403 over the $393,804 on opening day in 1941. Last Saturday the betting ran to $443,476, which was $90,623 higher than the $352,853 handled on the corresponding day last season.

Record Entry in Prospect for Dog Trial

BY BOB BECKER.

A dog obedience test which may set a new middle western record for number of entries is the prospect for the West Point Training club's annual event to be held May 24 in the Lake Shore club, 850 Lake Shore drive.

More than $250 worth of trophies will be presented to owners whose dogs perform best in this test of canine intelligence and training. Four trophies will be awarded in each of four classes, and six will go to the winners in the novice A class.

Record Set in Tribune Show.

The present record for an obedience test held in Chicagoland was set a year ago when THE TRIBUNE sponsored the obedience competition in the International Kennel club dog show. One hundred and twenty-two dogs took part. Ludwig Gessner, trainer for the West Point club, said recently that more than 120 dogs are expected to take part in the May 24 test. All proceeds will be donated to the Navy Relief fund.

Judges for the trial will be Willy Necker, Wheeling, open B and tracking classes; Oscar Franzen, Highland Park, novice A and open A classes, and Harry Lowenbach, Glenview, novice B and utility classes. The tracking test will be held on grounds near the Gessner kennels, 7418 Higgins road, the day before the regular classes.

Dogs from Other Cities.

Owners of trained dogs in Davenport, St. Louis, and Indianapolis, and others points in the middle west have indicated that they will be at the trial.

Among the local obedience training clubs, exclusive of the organization sponsoring the trial, which are expected to furnish entries are: North Shore Dog Training club, Lake Shore Dog Training club, and the four shepherd dog groups, Companion Shepherd Dog club, German Shepherd Dog Training club, the First Training Club for German Shepherds, and the Lincolnwood group. The south side obedience class, which meets at the International amphitheater every Wednesday evening at 7:30 under the direction of Ralph Bergstrom, also may have entries.

Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 2:17. Off at once. Start good from gate. Won driving, place same.

MONON LAD, in his first start, after getting all his own pace, withstood several challenges from the determined KIOSK in the first half mile, then drew out to win by a safe margin. BLACK HIGHBROW, well back in the early stages, closed a lot of ground while racing on the outside rounding the final bend, was closing on the winner at the end. KIOSK, a forward factor in the first half mile, made several attempts to take the lead going down the backstretch, held on gamely to the last furlong, then weakened.

Time, :23 3-5, :49 1-5, 1:03. Two dollar mutuels paid: Chief's Boy, $17.80 straight, $8.00 place, $5.20 show; My Grey Tet, $81.00 place, $19.60 show; Preco, $4.40 show. Winner trained by S. Lipiec. Went to post at 2:46. Off at once. Start good from gate. Won driving, place same.

CHIEF'S BOY, slow to settle into stride, closed steadily while saving ground, rounding the final bend, took command a sixteenth out, and under a drive came on to win going away. MY GREY TET, always within striking distance of the leaders, closed strongly between the homestretch and was gaining at the finish. PRECO, a forward factor in the early running, forced the pace to the last seventy yards, then dropped back when the rider lost his stirrups, but managed to save the show.

Went to post at 3:15. Off at 3:15½. Start good from gate. Won driving, place same.

DANDY MAIDEN, outrun in the early stages, closed swiftly after reaching the final furlong while racing on the outside, and, who carried out in the last seventy yards, got up to deadheat with SALLY I. Latter, in a contending position thruout, rushed up strongly while saving ground in the last furlong to finish on ever terms with DANDY MAIDEN for first money. PERHOBO rushed into a long lead in the first sixteenth mile, set the pace to midway of the homestretch, then bore out badly while tiring, interfered with DANDY MAIDEN near the end.

LAKE VIEW, well up from the beginning, forced the pace to the final sixteenth, then forged to the front and under a drive lasted to win narrowly. MERRY BID took command soon after the start, set the pace to midway of the homestretch, then gave way when the winner challenged, but managed to hold on to save the place. ARCHED, well back in the early stages, closed steadily while saving ground and was going strongly at the finish.

Start good for all but Uncle Walter. Won easily, place driving.

ART OF WAR, outrun for the first three-quarters mile, moved up strongly on the inside rounding the final bend and under urging came on to win by a wide margin. EARLIANA rushed into a long lead in the first sixteenth mile, held her advantage to the final quarter, then weakened but held on to save the place narrowly from the swiftly closing EVIL SPIRIT. The latter, too slow to settle into stride, closed strongly after reaching the final quarter mile.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Four year olds and up. Claiming. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25; to groom of winning horse, $10.

Winner trained by A. Hudkins. Went to post at 4:55½. Off at once. Start good from gate. Won ridden out, place driving.

VALDINA CHIEF took command at once, drew away to a good lead after going the first quarter mile, and under a good rated ride came on to win under mild urging. MERRY SAXON, always in closest pursuit of the winner, forced the pace thruout, held on gamely in the final drive, but was no match for the winner, and just lasted to stall off the fast closing LINKVILLE. The latter, well back in the early stages, closed a lot of ground in the final quarter mile.

Off at once. Start good from gate. Won easily, place driving.

WOODEN INDIAN, a forward factor from the beginning, stayed close to the pace to the backstretch the last time around, then took command, drew away as he pleased rounding the final bend, and altho bearing out came on to win by a wide margin. CATECHISM, far back in the first half mile, moved up strongly after being steered to the outside rounding the second turn, finished swiftly in the final furlong to get the place narrowly. MISS PITTYPAT, raced enely thruout, was never able to menace the leaders.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Four year olds and up. Claiming. Purse $900. Net value to winner, $700; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25, and to groom of winning horse, $10.

JEFFERSONTOWN, always within striking distance of the pace, moved up strongly on the inside rounding the final bend and under a drive all thru the final furlong got up to win narrowly. WAYRIEL, well back in the first mile, closed steadily while racing between horses, finished with a rush but was not good enough. HENOLION, always in a contending position, forced to the front rounding the far turn, held on gamely in the final drive altho tiring.

WISCONSIN BEATS IOWA NINE, 7 TO 4; KEEPS BIG 10 LEAD

Badgers Rally with Four Runs in Eighth.

Madison, Wis., May 8 [Special].—Wisconsin's baseball team retained its leadership in the Big Ten race this afternoon by defeating Iowa, 7 to 4, in the first of their two game series.

The victory was the third in three starts for Wisconsin and the defeat was the second for Iowa in nine games. The game was raggedly played, the Badgers being charged with four errors and the Hawkeyes with six. Wisconsin took the lead for the first time in the eighth when it scored four runs.

Walter Lautenbach, Wisconsin pitcher, drove in three runs, two on a double in the eighth. Ed Butcher hit a homer for the Badgers in the seventh. Score:

Wisconsin	000	100	24*	7	8	4

Batteries—Faber and Welp; Lautenbach and Willding.

MINNESOTA, 16; CHICAGO, 0.

Minnesota unleashed a 19 hit barrage that was good for a 16 to 0 victory over the helpless Chicago Maroons on Greenwood field yesterday. Bill Anderson held the Maroons to two hits, a double by Sy Hirschberg in the fourth and a single by Courtney Shanken in the seventh, and struck out eight while walking one. The Gophers put together eight hits and a walk for eight runs in the third inning. The teams will wind up their series today on Greenwood field at 3 p. m. Score:

Minnesota	028	310	200	16	19	0

Batteries—Anderson and Dowling; Meyer and Miller.

MICHIGAN BEATS N. U.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 8 [Special].—Michigan scored its fourth Big Ten victory today, defeating Northwestern, 6 to 2, behind Irving Boim's five hit pitching.

Boim gave up three hits in the first two innings, then limited the Wildcats to a pair of safeties in the final seven. He issued one walk.

Today's victory gives Michigan a record of four triumphs against one defeat in conference competition. Northwestern has won three of seven.

Northwestern	110	000	000	2	5	3
Michigan	101	010	12*	6	9	1

Batteries—Hoblick and Gargas; Boim and Harms.

OHIO, 2; ILLINOIS, 1.

Columbus, O., May 8 [Special].—Ohio State nosed out Illinois today, 2 to 1.

The Buckeyes made only two hits off Charlie Campbell, but one of these was a homer with a man on base. Illinois scored in the second when Tom Hull got on base on Dick Burgett's error which was followed by a triple by Catcher Bill Brewer.

In the third inning Ohio's Wayne Hafner walked and Jack McLain, center fielder, hit a home run to deep right center field. Only one other Ohio player reached first base.

Ohio	002	000	00*	2	2	2

Batteries—Campbell and Brewer; Lohrey and Mase.

PURDUE, 4; INDIANA, 1.

Bloomington, Ind., May 8 [Special].—Sophomore Paul Petrick held Indianan to four hits today as Purdue scored a 4 to 1 victory. This was the Boilermakers' first victory over Indiana on Jordan field in 14 years. Roy Kilby hit a three bagger in the fifth inning and scored the Indiana tally on Bob Pavis' long fly.

Paul Friend, Purdue third baseman, tied the score in the sixth, singling and scoring on two subsequent singles. The Boilermakers scored twice in the seventh. Walter Smith and Tony Berto, singled and after Bill Burghardt walked, Friend drove Smith and Berto home. The two teams will play again tomorrow.

Purdue	000	001	210	4	11	2

Petrick and Smith; Logan and Wellman.

ANNUAL ALBANY OUTBOARD RACE CANCELED BY WAR

New York, May 8 (AP).—The war took its toll of the Albany-New York outboard race toda yand threatened to curtail further motor boat and midget automobile racing in the 17 states affected by gasoline rationing.

Harry Birdsall Sr., commodore of the Middle Atlantic Outboard association, announced cancellation of the 136 mile dash down the Hudson river, scheduled for May 17, after a Washington ruling that no gasoline could be sold for use in a vehicle or boat operated in an exhibition or race for public entertainment or prizes. Before Birdsall's announcement, the American Inboard association had withdrawn from the race.

The intercollegiate outboard meet scheduled for Long Beach, N. Y., on Memorial day, also will be canceled.

THE GUMPS—NOT YOU, ULYSSES—THE CANES WERE!

PIRATES' SEWELL BEATS CUBS, 6-4; FOURTH VICTORY

cleaning up with the damage limited to one run was no simple chore. It began with a single by Elbie Fletcher, a pass to DiMaggio and a single by Elliott, the latter a line drive which sailed so close to Stringer that the runners had to wait. Pete Coscarart belted a fly to Gilbert and Fletcher scored, after which Sewell fanned and Frank Gustine lofted to Bill Nicholson.

The Cub second opened with a pass to Lou Novikoff, and Stringer's single to center. Phil Cavarretta's popup to Coscarart was of no help, but McCullough solved the situation by slipping his triple down the right field line to put the Cubs in front, 2 to 1. This Cub edge stood up until DiMaggio strolled up to open the fourth with his tying homer, which arched into the left field terrace. This was followed by Elliott's second single but Mooty kept the remainder of the inning under control.

Error Proves Costly.

Stringer fumbled Johnny Barrett's grounder behind a single by Gustine with none out in the fifth and, before the inning ended, Gustine had scored on Fletcher's fly for which Gilbert had to travel back to the center field wall. The Cubs remained in arrears only until their half, when they exploded their cluster of four hits. Gilbert led off with his triple to right and scored on Len Merullo's single. Stan Hack beat out a bunt and, on Nicholson's fly, Merullo went to third. Novikoff dumped a single into short center, sending in Merullo for a 4 to 3 Cub lead.

After Elliott had doubled and gone home with the tying run on Coscarart's single at the start of the fifth Mooty was excused. Rescuer Schmitz adjusted this by a double play pitch to Gustine, but things were different in the seventh. Barrett touched off grief for the southpaw by doubling between Gilbert and Nicholson. Jim Wasdell's single drove him home. Strikes took care of Babe Phelps, but Fletcher furnished a bunt on which Wasdell went to second. From there he went home with the last run on a single to center by DiMaggio.

Army Nine Is Beaten, 13 to 6, by Great Lakes

St. Louis, Mo., May 8 [Special].—The Great Lakes baseball team defeated Jefferson Barracks, 13 to 6, today. Three former St. Louis stars, now with Great Lakes, made the game a homecoming party.

Joe Grace, formerly with the St. Louis Browns, got on base five times in six trips to the plate—reaching there four times on walks. Don Padgett, former outfielder with the St. Louis Cardinals, pounded out four hits in six times at bat, including a double and a triple, as he drove in six runs. Johnny Lucadello, who also was with the St. Louis Browns before joining the navy, got three for five, and Benny McCoy made two hits that scored four runs.

Lieut. Paul Hinkle managed Great Lakes in the absence of Lieut. Mickey Cochrane. Score:

Great Lakes	000	251	302	13	15	0
Jefferson Barracks	301	200	000	6	11	5

Batteries—Reninger and Harshaney; Fisher, Holtmeyer, Lawson Hunhausen and Tichacek.

Champion Cochrane Loses Split Decision to Marine

Boston, Mass., May 8 (AP).—Pvt. Garvey Young, USMC, took a split decision from Boatswain's Mate Freddie [Red] Cochrane world welterweight champion, tonight in a 10 round non-title bout in Boston garden before 5,893 fans who paid $9,805.50 into the navy relief fund. Cochrane, making his first ring appearance since winning the title from Fritzie Zivic last October, started too slow and was not strong enough in the later rounds.

No Feller, Perhaps, but He Hurls NoHit, NoRun Game

Farmville, Va., May 8 (AP).—Fans came out to see Bob Feller, the former Cleveland star, pitch for the Norfolk Naval Training station against Hampden-Sydney college today. Feller didn't pitch, but the fans weren't disappointed. Maxie Wilson, former hurler for Portsmouth in the Piedmont league, gave the customers a no hit, no run treat as the training station hammered out a 13 to 0 victory over the collegians.

War Claims New Victim: Pan-American Games

Avery Brundage, chairman of the Pan-American Games' central committee, announced in Chicago yesterday that his group probably would approve postponement of the games, scheduled to open in Buenos Aires next Nov. 21, until 1943, because of the war. Brundage said he would poll the committee after being informed that the Argentine Olympic committee had approved postponement.

Pirates Are Doing All Right for Frisch; Elliott Big Reason

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

An idea popped into the head of Frankie Frisch while he was drawing on his corncob one evening last winter, and while he has various ideas at different times, this one, so he figured, was too good to drop. He jotted it down for future use and that explains why Uncle Frankie's Pirates now have a Robert Irving Elliott playing at third base instead of in the outfield. Altho a modest fellow much of the time, Frisch, after observing his experiment for almost two months, admits it is the idea of a lifetime.

"Of course," conceded Uncle Frankie in between grounders he was slapping to his Pirates in pregame practice yesterday, "the boy has some things to learn, but I am patient. Those managers who say you can't win with an outfielder on third base are just sore because the skipper thought up something. We're doing all right, aren't we?"

Made for the Spot.

Frisch's big idea, quite naturally, wasn't pulled in out of thin air. For a couple of seasons Frisch had been intrigued by the power and accuracy of Elliott's throwing arm. The speed in the Elliott legs also was a matter of interest to the pirate boss. Besides Elliott is of the ideal type— 6 feet up and 190 on the scales. "Well," concluded Frankie, "why go looking for a third baseman when there was an ideal candidate available?"

Everybody figured Frisch had short changed himself last December when he traded his shortstop and slugger, Arky Vaughan to Brooklyn for Pete Coscarart, Luke Hamlin, Babe Phelps, and Jimmy Wasdell.

Frisch's prospective shortstop, Rookie Bill Cox, was getting ready to report to his draft board. Third Baseman Lee Handley had been seriously damaged in an auto accident. The Pirate well-wishers moaned that Uncle Frankie had left himself without an infield.

It's His Own Idea.

"The Elliott-on-third-base idea had hit me before I made the deal," says Frisch with pride. "Why, I even had given up on Handley. I tried to trade him, not knowing, of course, that he wasn't going to be able to play big league ball this season. I thought Coscarart could play short, altho he hadn't played it in the majors. He had a year of it in the minors. He likes short. We're doing all right."

In the second of the series today in Wrigley field, Bill Lee will pitch for the Cubs and the Pirates will rely on Max Butcher.

The Pirates last night released Pitcher Nick Strincevich to Toronto of the International league on option. Toronto now has 10 former Pittsburgh players, nine of them on option.

The Cook County council of the American Legion will take a hand in the Army-Navy Relief fund game to be played between the Cubs and Reds in Wrigley field May 27. Arthur E. Canty, commander, has named the council's executive committee to promote the sale of tickets by Legionnaires. Tickets also will be on sale at the park and thru all local Western Union offices. The big league game will be preceded by a battle between the service nines from Great Lakes and Camp Grant.

He's O.K. at Third

Spring Stag to Open Golf Today at Butterfield

Butterfield Country club, long one of the most progressive clubs in the district, will open the 1942 season today with its annual spring stag tournament. Prizes in the form of defense bonds and stamps will be awarded for both 18 and 36 hole events. Peter Callan, who is in charge of the day's doings, anticipates a crowd of nearly 300 players.

The Chicago Women's District Golf association will hold its annual spring luncheon Monday in the Palmer House. Chairmen will gather at 10 a. m. in the Crystal room, where Mrs. Glen E. Dewey of Calumet and Mabel Gustafson of Glen Oak will discuss their fields, rules, and handicaps. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m. in the Red Lacquer room. Mrs. Gilmore M. Mellor of Elmhurst, president of the CWDGA, said yesterday that details of the association's Victory tourney, to be played June 10 and 11 at the Big Foot club in Lake Geneva, will be discussed, in addition to the CWDGA's part in collecting golf equipment for the armed forces.

The Chicago District Golf association has scheduled three important meetings for next week. At 6:30 p. m. Monday, all caddy chairmen and caddy masters in the district will meet in the La Salle hotel to discuss the caddy problem, one of the most vital created by the war situation.

At 4 p. m. Tuesday the executive board of the CDGA will gather for a special meeting in the La Salle. This will serve as a preliminary to the second meeting of all CDGA club presidents, to be held at 6 p. m. on the 18th floor of the La Salle. President Thomas G. McMahon has called the latter session for another get-together exchange of opinions in relation to war economy.

The Women's Western Golf association already is assured of a brilliant field for its open tournament, to be held the week of June 22 at Elmhurst. Mrs. Arthur Purnell reveals that the advance entry list already includes the names of such stars as Patty Berg, Mrs. Russell Mann, Helen Dettweiller, Betty Jameson, Dorothy Kirby, Louise Suggs, Jeanne Cline, Georgia Tainter, and Virginia Ingram.

Members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' Association of America and the Chicago District Club Managers' association will join Monday at Medinah for the annual pro-managers' tournament.

4 Homers Hit as Cards Beat Reds, 5 to 2

Cincinnati, O., May 8 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals said it with home runs today, sixth inning drives by Enos Slaughter and Ray Sanders helping them to a 5 to 2 victory over Cincinnati.

Homers by Ray Lamanno and Frank McCormick, in the second and sixth innings, accounted for both Red runs in a game which saw left handed Clyde Shoun—just obtained from the Cards—face his old teammates during the last two innings, after Elmer Riddle gave way to a pinch hitter. Lon Warneke who, on his last appearance here, Aug. 30, hurled a no-hit shutout, yielded eight hits. Score:

A'S BEAT RED SOX, 2 TO 1

Philadelphia, Pa., May 8 (AP).—Phil Marchildon threw a five hitter at the Boston Red Sox today and the Athletics beat the Sox, 2 to 1, for the first time this year. The defeat dropped the Sox to third place, a game behind the Yanks and one-half game behind Cleveland.

Marchildon, by retiring the first 10 batsmen to face him, completed a "perfect" game as not one of the last 19 batters to face him reached first Sunday when he shut out Detroit, 1 to 0, on two hits. A perfect game is one in which no batter reaches first. Charley Robertson of the Chicago White Sox pitched the last such game in the majors against Detroit, April 30, 1922. Score:

ABC TITLE NEAR FOR BUDWEISERS; SCHLITZ HIT 2,794

Columbus, O., May 8 [Special].—Chicago Budweisers, who hit 3,131 on March 18, were being conceded the five man championship in the 1942 American Bowling congress tourney tonight following mediocre performances by outstanding teams given a chance to upset the leaders.

Schlitz Beers of the Chicago Classic league totaled only 2,794. Paul Krumske paced the Chicagoans with a 598 series. National Bowling Equipment scored 2,787, and Steinbrecker Recreation 2,715.

Johnny Crimmins, winner of the All-Star tournament, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, had two errors in the opening game but managed to score 576 as his Paris Cleaners of Detroit shot 2,735. Crimmins had 167 in the first game, then came back with 203 and 206.

LANE NINE BEATS SCHURZ TO TAKE LEAD IN SECTION

Amundsen Whips Roosevelt; Taft Defeats Senn.

Lane Tech took first place in the north section of the Public School Baseball league with an 8 to 3 triumph over Schurz in Paul Revere park yesterday. It was Lane's seventh victory in a row and the first defeat in eight games for Schurz. George Kwasniewski held Schurz to three hits, all of which came in the first inning and coupled with two errors to produce three runs.

Amundsen's 8 to 3 victory over Roosevelt in Winnemac park came after a pitching duel between Bob Meyers of Roosevelt and Jim Phillips of Amundsen. Each pitcher yielded four hits, but Roosevelt made seven errors and led to Meyers' defeat. Meyers struck out 13 and Phillips 17.

In the other 2 north section games, Taft whipped Senn, 7 to 6, in Norwood park, when Mickey Mikulka sparked a second inning six run rally with a home run. Waller scored three runs in the eighth inning for a

SOME INDUSTRIAL STOCKS RISE AS OTHERS WEAKEN

Early Gains of Leaders Reduced at Close.

New York, May 8 (AP).—Further modest recoveries were made in selected industrials in today's stock market, but the swing flattened out appreciably in the final hour. Gains running to a point or so for favorites were reduced or canceled at the close and rails and utilities generally were lower.

Sentiment was buoyed to a certain extent in the forenoon by first reports of the air-naval battle in the southwest Pacific. Commitments eventually were lightened in many cases, however, on the thought it might be better to await outcome of the sea clash before getting too bullish. Transfers totaled 313,209 shares against 343,250 yesterday.

Low Priced Stocks Active.

Much of the volume was accounted for by sizable blocks of low-priced stocks, most of which finished with slight variations in either direction. Among new 1942 highs were those of Chrysler, Goodrich common and preferred, and Goodyear. New York Shipbuilding and Continental Motors edged into new low territory for the year.

International Telephone was the liveliest performer in the wake of announcement that the Export-Import bank had granted the company credit of 25 million dollars to acquire its debentures and develop Latin-American properties. The issue ended off ¼ of a point at 2½.

CHICAGO LIST STRONG.

The prevailing price trend was upward on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, altho the two volume leaders, Commonwealth Edison and Chicago corporation, closed with fractional losses. Gains outnumbered declines more than 2 to 1.

CROWN CORK, INC., OMITS COMMON STOCK DIVIDEND

Directors of Crown & Seal, Inc., Baltimore, yesterday announced a regular quarterly dividend of 56¼ cents on the $2.25 preferred stock, but took no action on a common dividend. In 1941 the company paid two dividends of 25 cents each and one of 50 cents on common shares. A 25 cent payment was made March 25 of this year. The company manufactures about half the nation's supply of bottle caps and seals.

WPB HINTS SOFT LUMBER STOCKS WILL BE FROZEN

Air Conditioning to Come Under Ban.

Washington, D. C., May 8 (AP).—The War Production board was reported today to be planning to freeze all manufacturers' sales of soft wood construction lumber, except to government buyers, to conserve supplies for the army, navy, and shipbuilding program.

Official confirmation was lacking, but reliable sources said the action may be expected "very soon." The freeze would apply to future production and to distributors' stocks, as well as manufacturers' stocks, but not to retail sales, it was said.

The freeze will be temporary, these sources reported, preliminary to creation of a lumber allocation system to apportion available supplies between the army, navy, and maritime commission, on one hand, and other permitted construction.

"Full Production" Asked.

WPB officials were said to feel that lumber stocks in the hands of retail dealers are sufficient to care for the needs of defense housing and other authorized construction until the allocation quotas can be worked out.

The freeze order was foreshadowed, observers believed, in Tuesday's appeal by Donald M. Nelson, WPB director, to logging and sawmill operators and their employés to launch a "full program of maximum production of all species of soft wood lumber in common board, dimension, and structural timber sizes and grades."

Orders sharply limiting production of air conditioning and commercial refrigerating equipment also will be issued, WPB sources indicated. It was understood the restrictions will limit installations of new equipment to hospitals and essential industries, altho production of repair parts for existing equipment will be permitted.

Some "Thawing" in Prospect.

On another "front" of the production program, WPB officials said that the "thawing" of some types of coal stokers and other plumbing and heating equipment, the sale of which was frozen on April 16, is contemplated.

An amendment to the freeze order is in preparation and should be issued shortly.

The order also will release for sale some types of grates and other equipment necessary for the conversion of furnaces from fuel oil to more plentiful fuels in particular areas.

The original order prohibited sales of virtually all plumbing and heating equipment in order to prevent the dissipation of stocks in nonessential construction or residential modernization. At the time WPB said certain items would be released if studies showed they could not be used in the war program.

Furniture Plants on War Basis.

The industry that made 1 billion dollars worth of wooden and metal furniture last year will be making war goods at the same rate next year, the WPB reported.

Furniture makers already hold 500 million dollars worth of orders for airplane parts and gliders, ammunition boxes, airplane fuel tines, and other items for the armed forces.

"War equipment soon to be produced in quantity by metal furniture companies includes ammunition boxes, tail and wing assemblies for airplanes, rear fin struts, and seating equipment for planes, tanks, and ships," the report said.

"The woodworking plants of the industry are to be assigned the task of building large numbers of 'wooden' aircraft, which tests have shown to be ideal for training purposes."

Boost Plane and Tool Output.

At least three woodworking furniture plants already are producing plane parts of plywood, and ultimately 12 or more are expected to be turning out wooden airplanes and subassemblies. Other plants will be making gliders for the air force, bulkheads for ships, and wooden lockers and shelving to replace the usual metal types.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard today said it is doubtful that an adequate supply of canned vegetables will be produced in view of the general price ceiling order fixing top prices unless the government subsidizes such production.

In order to get ample production, Wickard said, it may become necessary for his department to buy the canned products at levels above the price ceiling and then resell at prices which would permit their distribution under the ceiling levels.

Speaking before a meeting of the National Canners' association, Wickard said he supported the ceiling.

WARNS PLUMBER GOODS MUST BE USED PROPERLY

Materials for the maintenance of plumbing and heating equipment will be made available, but every pound must be used properly, W. Walter Timmis, chief of the WPB's plumbing and heating branch, warned more than 300 members of the Central Supply association at the Palmer House yesterday.

"Defense housing construction will be completed in 6 to 10 months," he said. "Construction of cantonments and war production plants soon will be ended. After that, the plumbing and heating industries will have to depend entirely on maintenance and repair for their income."

Timmis said materials would be made available because plumbing and heating are essential.

Chicago Area Silver Demand Rises Rapidly

Industrial demand for silver in the Chicago area has trebled within the last two years and is increasing under the stimulus of expanding war production, reliable trade and industrial sources reported yesterday.

These increases in demand, prevalent thruout the nation, are creating a shortage of the metal that is causing increasing concern in industry, especially civilian silver consuming industries such as jewelry manufacturers. This shortage exists despite a huge government hoard of silver, unavailable for industrial consumption because present laws prevent the treasury from selling the metal.

Big Silver Using Area.

Chicago and nearby industrial communities, which form one of the largest industrial silver consuming sections of the nation, are using thousands of ounces each month. The principal use here, as well as in other areas, is in silver brazing, a process similar to soldering, but done at much higher temperatures.

This brazing alloy, known as grade No. 4, consists of 50 per cent silver, with the remainder about equal parts of zinc, cadmium, and copper. Silver sources said particular qualities of the silver brazed joints are resistance to extreme heat and the fact they are gasproof.

Hundreds of Chicago area companies, not identified because of censorship regulations, are using silver brazing in manufacture of aircraft parts, a field in which demand has made tremendous increases in recent months.

Needed in Many Lines.

One large Chicago plant, for example, uses substantial amounts in aircraft engine oil lines. Another applies the process in production of gasoline heaters for planes. Silver is used in aircraft control instruments, magnetos, radio parts, aviation spark plugs, and oxygen control systems for high altitude flying.

Several Chicago area companies use the process in production of chemical shells and incendiary bombs. At least two other large companies will be added soon to the Chicago area list of chemical shell producers, and thus will further increase demands for the alloy.

In the shipbuilding field, where many joints formerly threaded now are silver brazed, demand for the alloy has shot upward. A number of Chicago area plants, including one large plumbing manufacturer, use sizable amounts of silver in making parts for naval boats.

Estimate on Consumption.

Handy & Harman, leading silver bullion dealers, have estimated 1941 consumption at about 80 million ounces, compared with a previous all-time high of 41 million ounces in 1940. Trade sources predict the total industrial supply this year will be about 100 million ounces, much less than the amount American factories could use profitably at current prices.

The government is said to hold more than 3 billion ounces of silver, purchased largely at 64.64 to 77.57 cents an ounce, in comparison with the prevailing open market price of about 35 cents.

Altho prevented by law from selling this for industrial use, Secretary Henry Morgenthau has devised a plan for "lending" the metal to certain industries. Trade sources say this plan provides no means by which this silver can be used for general industrial purposes. The silver could replace other metals, however, in such places as large electrical plants, where it would not be destroyed and later could be returned to the treasury.

RAIL ARBITRATOR STYMIED IN PAY DISPUTE CASE

An impasse was reached yesterday at a hearing conducted at the Stevens hotel by Justice Benjamin C. Hilliard to adjust differences between the railroad brotherhoods and the Toledo, Peoria, and Western Railroad when representatives of the management failed to appear. Judge Hilliard, who was appointed by the War Labor board to arbitrate the differences, said he may announce today what action will be taken.

Judge Hilliard, who is chief justice of the Colorado Supreme court, said that failure of the railroad management to appear prevented him from fulfilling his rôle as arbitrator and it now appears that all he can do is to make a recommendation to the WLB.

The brotherhoods have completed testimony to support their demand for retention of working rules and wage increases conforming to those granted other railroad workers last December.

EXPECT SHIP WAGE PARLEY MAY FINISH JOB THIS WEEK-END

A War Production board spokesman expressed hope last night that the WPB's shipbuilding stabilization conference in the Hotel Sherman can be completed today or tomorrow. The parley, originally to have ended more than a week ago, enters its 13th day this morning.

The spokesman reiterated statements that conferees are "making substantial progress" and the final wage settlement shall conform to views expressed by President Roosevelt in a message to the conference a week ago.

The President said wage increases due shipyard workers under existing union contracts, which provide periodic adjustments on the basis of living costs, are "irreconcilable with the national policy to control the cost of living."

Involved are all the nation's important shipbuilding yards and an estimated 600,000 workers.

EXPORTS BOOM AS IMPORTS LAG

Shipments Abroad Placed at 7 Billions for '42.

Washington, D. C., May 8 [Special].—United States exports this year are expected to total 7 billion dollars in value, compared with 5 billion 146 millions in 1941, the department of commerce said today in giving a general outline of foreign trade trends. Because of the loss of business from areas dominated by the Japanese, imports are expected to fall to 3 billion dollars—345 millions less than in 1941.

Specific details on foreign trade have been withheld since before this country's entry into the war.

The general pattern of foreign trade at the outbreak of the war may be regarded as fixed for the duration, the department said.

Finished Goods Increase.

The trend was marked by rising exports made up in increasing degree of finished war materials and relatively stable imports of raw materials from western hemisphere sources.

"The volume of foreign trade conducted on a private, commerical basis is being steadily restricted by the encroachment of lend-lease shipments on the export side and of imports on government account," the department said.

Areas now under Japanese domination comprised 22 per cent of total imports by value in the first nine months of 1941.

Offset Only in Part.

"The sharp drop in imports from the area after February will be offset only in part by the increase in purchases of strategic materials, largely on government account, from the other American republics, from Canada, and from Africa," the statement continued.

"This year's imports will almost certainly fall short of the 1941 total. The monthly level of 250 million dollars in the first two months of the year may be maintained, but as in the case of the projected export total, imports of this magnitude would represent an outstanding work of procurement and shipping."

BIG INVESTMENT FIRMS MOVE TO GIVE SPACE TO U.S.

Offices of three large Chicago investment firms are being shifted in the Field building to make room for the alien property custodians' office moving here from Washington, George Carpenter, manager of the building, said yesterday. The bureau will take over 20,000 square feet of floor space on the first four floors occupied by Glore, Forgan & Co.

Glore, Forgan will occupy the entire 40th floor in the tower section now used by H. M. Byllesby & Co., who will move today to the second floor. Harriman, Ripley & Co. is moving to the eighth floor to make room for Byllesby.

The Federal Deposit Insurance corporation will move to the Field building from Washington June 15, Carpenter said. It will occupy the entire fifth floor containing 35,000 square feet.

SEC HEADS MUM ON RUMOR OF A SHIFT TO CHICAGO

Philadelphia, Pa., May 8 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission gave some informal attention today to a rumor that it was going to be moved again, this time to Chicago to make way for the maritime commission.

If any one in the commission knew the facts, however, he wouldn't say.

This much is known. The rumor, if true, will be a "death sentence clause" for many of the SEC personnel. Just settled in Philadelphia after moving from Washington, many have announced that any further trip to Chicago would be made without them.

Alexandria Hotel Fittings Will Be Sold on May 15

Furniture and fittings of the Alexandria hotel, 542 Rush street, will be sold by James McNichols, federal trustee for the United States District court, on May 15. The sale will be held, it was understood, with the hope that the purchaser of the equipment will operate the hotel. Clark & Reinhardt operated the hotel under a 10 year lease until last June. The lease has two years to run. The seven story building, containing 237 rooms, is owned by the Lehmann estate.

Steeper Taxes Would Slash Company's Net Profit in Half

Severe effects of proposed increases in corporation income and excess profit taxes were illustrated yesterday in the March quarter report of the National Cylinder Gas company, Chicago. Other corporations announced varied profit results for the period.

National Cylinder's first quarter income, after providing for taxes on the basis of present rates, was $358,544, equal to 27 cents a share, compared with $413,515, or 31 cents a share, in the corresponding period last year. The reduction in earnings on this basis, the company said, was attributable to a decline of about $100,000 in income from investments.

But when tax rates recommended by the house ways and means committee are used, the company continued, its net income for the three months ended March 31 would drop to $175,544, or 13 cents a share, less than half the net profit under existing rates.

Phone Profits Decline.

Illinois Bell Telephone company reported a small decline in earnings, from $2,990,717 in the March quarter of 1941 to $2,889,570 this year. The company's gross income was $26,908,282, against $25,084,408 a year earlier.

United Biscuit Company of America, which operates 16 bakeries and a number of warehouses from headquarters in Chicago, announced March quarter net profits of $276,892, equal to 52 cents a common share, compared with $250,442, or 47 cents a share, a year earlier.

Archer-Daniels-Midland company, Minneapolis producer and processor of vegetable oils, reported its earnings for the nine months ended March 31, after setting aside $4,260,000 for federal taxes, were $2,606,801, equal to $4.78 a common share. In the corresponding nine months a year earlier the company earned $1,571,257, or $2.88 a share.

of Mandel Brothers was announced yesterday by Leon Mandel after a meeting of the board of directors. Mandel recently resigned as general manager to join the army air force.

Sidney J. Natkin, sales promotion manager, has been appointed assistant general manager. He will continue to supervise sales and promotion activities.

NEW AIR CARGO SERVICE TO AID WAR SHIPMENTS

Special air cargo service between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, established in an effort to break bottlenecks in shipments that are important to the war effort, was announced yesterday by Northwest Airlines.

Croil Hunter, president, said one of the company's Lockheed 10-A Electra planes would be used exclusively for hauling cargo and will make one round trip daily.

The service will supplement existing mail, express, and cargo service on flights now operated by the airline between Chicago, the Twin Cities, and the west coast. The cargo plane will stop at Milwaukee.

J. C. Penney Sales in April 32% Higher than Last Year

J. C. Penney company yesterday reported that its sales in April were 36½ million dollars, compared with 27½ millions in the 1941 month, an increase of 32.6 per cent.

BIG BALTIMORE PLANTS BUCKLE TO JOBS IN WAR

Ship, Plane Building Problems Told.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., May 8.—A streak of yellow paint across the concrete shipway foundation bore heavy black letters: "Work the 57 hour week. Overtime here offsets overtime worked there." The words were an injunction to the 23,000 employés of Bethlehem-Fairfield Shipyard, Inc., to win the battle of war production in which the company is engaged. It is fabricating Liberty ships—war freighters—for the United States Maritime commission.

The sign is part of the company's morale building program, J. M. Willis, vice president and general manager, explained. "We're breaking production records, but we're set up to do better," he said.

Willis, who has been building ships for 30 years, spoke as he directed a group of newspaper men and government officials on the National Association of Manufacturers' tour of American industries in war work.

Yards Created on Marsh.

The yards proper are brand new, having been created on a salt marsh since April, 1941. Twelve ways were built around four older shipways that were modernized. To date, 17 ships have been delivered, 25 launched and 40 keels put down. The last boat delivered required only 100 days from keel to sea duty, and the yard now is trying to do the job in 90.

Willis, in recounting the problems of keeping the yards at high speed, said the draft was constantly sweeping into military service men who were "more valuable to the country in the shipyards." He attributed this to local draft boards' failure to realize the vital importance of getting out merchant ships.

He said that if a central draft board were created and would notify him that a specified number of men would be inducted into the army during the next year, he could pick out those least valuable to shipbuilding and pass them along for military service.

Operates Welders' School.

Because of inroads made by the draft the company maintains a school for welders, paying them 62½ cents an hour while learning the trade.

Wages for yard workers average $85 a week, Willis said. The men make $1.50 an hour, with time and a half for overtime and double time for Sundays. The yards are operating on a seven day week and a 20 hour day with the second two shifts at considerably less strength than the main day shift.

Willis said that "loafing employés" created a difficult problem for the company. "It looked like rain today," he said, "and a number of welders—too many—stayed at home. They wouldn't stay at home if they were in the army. This work is just as vital to the country."

Many Boats Refitted.

Willis also led the party on a tour of the Baltimore shipyards of the Bethlehem Steel company, parent company of Bethlehem-Fairfield.

There, three large boats, one with the English jack at its mast, were being reconditioned after torpedoing. One had been hit by two torpedoes, Willis said, but repairs being carried out would make it ready for sea duty in a few weeks. Others were being refitted and overhauled.

MARTIN PLANT CURBED

Another stop on the manufacturing association's tour was the vast plant of the Glenn L. Martin company, near Baltimore. Glenn L. Martin, president of the company, said the plant is behind schedule in the production of warplanes because deliveries of strategic materials—aluminum and

Freight Leads Revenue Gain on C.&E.I. Line

Passenger revenues of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad have climbed this year, but the expansion in freight volume has been of smaller proportions, C. T. O'Neal, president, told stockholders yesterday at their annual meeting. O'Neal said curbs on the manufacture of nonessentials had affected some industries served by the road, but predicted an upturn in hauling during the rest of the year as more of the plants convert to war work.

C. T. O'Neal.

Figures covering operations for the first four months of 1942, submitted to the stockholders, showed profit after fixed charges was $505,561, a shade higher than the $504,522 earned in the four months ended with April last year.

Increase 36.8 Per Cent.

Revenues from passenger, mail, and express business rose $342,288, or 36.8 per cent. Passengers paid $923,760, against $588,209 a year earlier; mail yielded $242,303, compared with $250,134, and express, $107,056, against $92,487 a year ago.

The road handled 99,520 car loads of freight in the four months, compared with 99,078 a year earlier. The movement of coal increased substantially, but hauling of automobiles was cut nearly in half.

The gain in freight revenues was 6.9 per cent, the total being $4,960,231, against $4,640,011 a year ago.

"Freight volume in terms of car loads handled during the four months did not keep pace with the increase in traffic for the country at large, because of restrictions in the manufacture of so-called nonessentials," O'Neal said.

Forecasts Improvement.

"Some of the industries along our lines are getting under way in the production of war materials, however, and others are in the process of converting their plants to war production.

"Also, several government war plants are under construction along our lines. Our freight traffic should improve during the rest of this year, as more of these plants come into this new type of production."

The stockholders elected five new directors, who are: V. V. Boatner, director of the railway transport division of the Office of Defense Transportation, Washington, D. C.; Robert F. Carr, president of the Dearborn Chemical company, Chicago; J. T. Fleishel, president of Fleishel Lumber company, St. Louis; H. E. Perry, vice president of Commercial Solvents corporation, New York, and Bryan S. Reid, general manager of Socony-Vacuum Oil company, Chicago.

They replaced J. B. Graham, R. C. Graham, J. W. Barriger III., Barrett Wendell, and Carrol Shanks. The new board members were reported to represent the interests of a large group of New York stockholders.

Directors reelected all the officers.

U. S. STEEL BOWS TO UNION RULE IN SHIPYARDS

Company Influenced by War Emergency.

New York, May 8 (AP).—The United States Steel corporation today agreed to enter a maintenance of membership contract with the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers [CIO] employed by its subsidiary, Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company. This action ends a long dispute which at one time caused the yard to be taken over by the navy.

In notifying the War Labor board and the union of its compliance with a directive issued April 24 by the board, the company said of acceptance of the controversial membership provision, which has been described as a modified closed shop:

"This action has been taken solely because of the war emergency, and this country's great need of ships in order successfully to prosecute the war."

Navy Operated Yard.

The navy department operated the yard, which had several hundred million dollars of war orders, for 19 weeks last summer and fall, after a strike in which the principal demand of the union was inclusion of a maintenance of membership clause in its contract with the company. When the yard was returned to private operation on Jan. 6 the issue still was unsettled.

L. H. Korndorff, president of Federal, said: "While this company has thus accepted the directive order of the WLB, we are bound to say that we have done so solely under the compulsion of war. We regard the so-called maintenance of membership directive as unwise and unsound, and as tending, without the sanction of congress, to set up a national war labor policy, which will not be conducive to obtaining maximum production at the Kearny shipyard.

"But We Are at War."

"But we are at war. There is imperative need for ships and more ships. The prolongation of this controversy might result in serious loss of production."

The announcement was regarded as significant as the first agreement on a membership maintenance shop by any subsidiary of the steel corporation, which maintains open shop contracts in its steel plants. It may have bearing on a controversy between the Steel Workers' Organizing committee and the principal independent steel producers.

NEW COPPER BAN VIEWED AS PLUG FOR 'LOOPHOLES'

Hits Minor Consumers, Say Trade Interests.

The War Production board's Thursday orders banning use of copper and its alloys in a number of additional items generally affected minor consumers because previous WPB rulings had largely eliminated use of the metal in civilian production.

This was the first reaction of Chicago trade sources on the basis of dispatches and without study of the wording of the orders.

Available information indicated, they said, that the orders were designed primarily to eliminate "loopholes" in earlier copper orders, and to clarify them.

They declared that for most of the items on the new list it would have been impossible to obtain copper thru any priority ratings which might have been available on the specific item. It is possible, they said, that one purpose of the order is to prevent copper in the hands of manufacturers for some time from being used in these products.

Another opinion linked the new copper orders with rulings issued earlier in the week which banned use of iron and steel in numerous civilian items. The WPB may have believed, it was said, that in some instances companies could switch to copper in the manufacture of some products normally made of iron and steel.

BIG BALTIMORE PLANTS BUCKLE TO JOBS IN WAR

electrical equipment particularly—have not been made.

Martin told the newspaper men that priority barriers and a failure of the Washington administration to understand the magnitude of war materials supply problems are hampering his plant.

"What irritates us," he said, "is that since last July the government has known our schedules and has had an exact account of the materials we required each month. We are not getting them.

"And as the war strategy board makes the rulings that keep us from getting our materials another branch of the government is hammering at us to keep deliveries up to schedule."

Plant Output Multiplied.

Lest you get the idea that the Martin company is idle, however, it should be explained that despite the effect of priorities and materials shortages the plant will deliver four times as many airplanes in 1942 as in 1941.

The plant nevertheless could produce five times as many, if materials requirements were met, Martin declared.

The factory is operating on a seven day week, with employés working six days on a staggered schedule. The plant operates 24 hours a day but due to the materials scarcity, Martin said, most workers are on the No. 1 shift. Only 25 per cent are on the second shift and 10 per cent on the third, he said.

Martin attributed materials shortages "to the fact that at the time the war emergency came along the government's sights weren't high enough for sources of materials."

Aluminum Quotas Cut.

"I can't tell you how many thousands of pounds of aluminum is counted out of our budget each month," he said. "We set up our requirements well in advance and the priorities board then decides how much we will get."

"Is this really acute?" Martin was asked. "That is a matter of definition," was the answer. "If you cut 25 per cent out of production some would regard it serious. There is a substantial advance over last year, but we are far from satisfied and away behind our anticipated production rate."

The Martin B-26 medium bombers his company is building in large numbers for the army air force, Martin said, are ranked by the priorities controlers behind battleships, guns, and tanks, behind the P-47, the army's new high altitude pursuit plane, and behind the B-25 medium bomber.

Air Superiority Vital.

Martin said that in his opinion the war would be won by a series of surprise attacks in which aircraft would play the leading rôle. We forward movement by land or sea, he declared, can be made without air control by the attackers. As to the relative importance in naval affairs of the airplane and battleship, he said:

"There always must be naval vessels, but I believe the capital ship has been doomed. We need light, fast ships, supported by planes as big as our new Mars. If we had Mars bombers and transports in sufficient numbers we need never have a two ocean navy with its vast investments in battleships."

He said that the Mars, newest navy air cruiser, is scheduled to make its first flights in June. The Mars is a 140,000 pound four engined flying boat.

RETAIL SALES HOLD SMALL MARGIN OVER LAST YEAR'S VOLUME

New York, May 8 (AP).—Retail sales during the last week barely maintained a margin over a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. The mercantile agency found "some difference of opinion among retailers over the effect of the impending price ceiling on consumer demand," and said "some merchants ascribed a slackening of interest in a number of staples to a decline in buying as a hedge against price increases."

"Some stores advertised that prices had already been adjusted to the ceilings established by the general regulation, altho the effective date of the order was set at May 18," the agency said.

Sales figures showed retail dollar volume for the country as a whole ran less than 5 per cent ahead of a year ago, according to the survey.

PACKERS BOOST OUTPUT TOWARD VICTORY GOALS

Month's Meat Production Breaks All Records.

Farmers and packers during the first four months of 1942 made a long stride toward the high production goals set by the government, a department of agriculture report showed yesterday. Packers butchered 12 per cent more meat animals than during the 1941 period.

Livestock raisers and feeders marketed 29,967,471 cattle, calves, hogs, sheep, and lambs during the four months, an increase of 3,240,467 over the 26,727,004 sold a year earlier. All types showed substantial increases, and market experts forecast the margin of gain will expand as the year progresses.

Reaches Record Level.

April slaughter set new peaks in all classifications. The totals for plants under federal inspection:

TRADERS' PROFIT TAKING SHAVES PRICES OF GRAIN

Vast Industrial Demand Cushions Decline.

Profit taking and hedging pressure brought lower prices in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, but grain men said the vast feeding and industrial demand for cereals prevented any more than fractional losses. The markets opened higher as Washington reports on farm price legislation and war action were considered favorable for the moment.

Wheat closed ¼ to ¾ cent lower, with July futures contracts at $1.25⅛ a bushel. Corn was off ⅛ to ½ cent; oats, ½ to ⅞ cent; rye, ½ to ⅝ cent, and old crop soy bean contracts ½ to ⅞ cent. New crop bean contracts closed ¾ cent higher on Washington reports that price ceilings would be revised soon.

Brokers said the day's price decline was the natural market reaction to the almost steady advance over the last several days. Wheat had recorded small gains for nine consecutive sessions.

Reports that the senate planned soon to take up a bill that would prohibit the sale of government owned wheat and corn at less than parity prices gave early strength to the grain markets. Belief that the anti-inflation proposal of President Roosevelt that farm price ceilings be lowered faced defeat in congress was also a bullish factor.

Utilization of corn by refiners producing starches, sirups, and oils, in April continued at virtually the same rate as in March when consumption was at a record. Refiners ground 10,969,160 bushels of corn last month, compared with 11,011,961 in March and 8,904,531 in Aprfl, last year, the Corn Industry Research Foundation reported. They used 41,831,559 bushels in the first four months of 1942.

Beautiful Children
IN COLOR

Mothers and fathers—mail photographs or snapshots of your children to the Children's Picture Editor of The Chicago Daily Tribune. From pictures submitted The Tribune will select four children each week to be photographed free of charge with the famous Tribune color camera. These pictures will be reproduced in full color in The Daily Tribune, and after reproduction an original color photograph worth $100 will be presented to each child whose picture appears. Mail your entries now. A full page of Beautiful Children in color will appear each week in The Daily Tribune.
